RUM PLANE FALLS; PILOT DIES

CHURCHES TELL AGAIN THE STORY OF JUDEAN BABE

Yule Services Today and Tomorrow.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Christian churches face the task—their happiest one—of retelling tonight and tomorrow the most famous and most significant news story the world has ever heard. The story is both easy and difficult to tell. It is easy because it is the story of the birth of a new baby and that is about the most interesting morsel of news to be found.

But the churches' story is that of the Babe. It is difficult enough to tell the meaning of the birth of any baby in terms of the new potential influence among the 2,000,000,000 people in the world. Now add to this that for more than 1,930 years Christians have regarded the birth of that Babe of Bethlehem as the greatest event in history. Many Christians, tomorrow, will use Lloyd Morgan's famous word "emergent" to describe in a scientific day the new life born in the world in that Judean manger.

Is Science Joining in Chorus?

In fact, science is now held by many religious leaders to be adding its voice to the chorus that tells the Christmas story. It was first a simple news story. Then music added its voice. Handel's "Messiah" echoes the angels' song. Then art revealed its interest and spoke with new inspiration. Art was followed by architecture, poetry, oratory, and drama. But now, can it be true, as some assert, that science is hinting, through Eddington, Jeans, Lloyd Morgan, Michaelson, Compton and others that its voice may be added to the story?

Other institutions beside the churches tell of the new life born at Bethlehem. There were hospitals to be found before the Good Samaritan converted an inn into a hospital for the man who had fallen among thieves on the road to Jericho? Churches assert that a new spirit was born 1,930 years ago in Bethlehem.

Observance in Churches.

Tonight and tomorrow the churches assume responsibility to tell the story. Incense, mystery, music and liturgy, sermons, songs, cantatas and Christmas plays—every means known will be used to turn the thoughts of people toward Bethlehem.

In Roman Catholic, Greek Orthodox and Episcopal churches the churchmen will bow before hundreds of altars. First masses will be said in Catholic churches at 4 o'clock tomorrow morning. Orthodox mysteries of the day will begin at midnight and last until noon tomorrow in the churches of oriental Christian groups, while midnight choral eucharists will be sung in Episcopal churches.

Lutherans will arise early tomorrow for early Christmas services of songs and sermons. In Scandinavian churches "Julatta" or morning song will be sung at 5 o'clock, or, in some cases, at 5:30. Many of the American Lutheran churches closed their Christmas festivities last Sunday. For that reason services of the season will be held in only a few Baptist, Congregational, Disciples or Presbyterian churches tonight or tomorrow.

Cardinal to Celebrate Mass.

At Holy Name cathedral Cardinal Mundelein will celebrate solemn high pontifical mass tomorrow morning at 11. He will be assisted by a number of dignitaries of the archdiocese of Chicago. The proper of the mass will be sung by Quigley Seminary plain chant choir. The Holy Name cathedral men's choir and boy choristers, led by Prof. Philip Mahoney and accompanied by an orchestra of 16 pieces, will sing Gruber's Jubilee mass.

The first mass at the cathedral, as well as in virtually all Catholic churches of the city will be offered at 4 o'clock tomorrow morning. Low masses at the cathedral and other churches will be said hourly until 11 o'clock. At the first mass at the cathedral the Rev. Joseph P. Morrison will be the celebrant. The cathedral men's choir and boy choristers will sing Pietro Yon's Pacis mass. Children of the cathedral parish school will sing masses before the 9 o'clock mass.

724 MILLION TO BE EXPENDED IN FEDERAL WORKS

Hoover Reports on Cost of Projects.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 23.—[Special.]—Governmental expenditures for various sorts of construction during the calendar year 1931 will aggregate $724,058,000, according to estimates made public today by President Hoover. This huge total, which the President believes should go far toward taking up the slack in employment in other activities, compares with an average of about $275,000,000 in the years just prior to the business depression.

Of the total of nearly three-quarters of a billion dollars, 146 million dollars represents accelerated programs approved by the President as a means of aiding unemployment.

Governmental expenditures for the relief of agriculture during the calendar year 1931 will amount to a total of 160 million dollars, according to the President's figures. This includes both loans by the farm board for marketing crops and loans by the secretary of agriculture for seed, feed, and fertilizer in drought stricken areas.

Grand Total Near 900 Millions.

The grand total of estimated construction and agricultural relief expenditures of the government during 1931 is $884,058,000.

In compiling the figures for the President, budget bureau officials added one-half of estimated expenditures under regular appropriations for the fiscal year 1931 and one-half of estimated expenditures for the fiscal year 1932, and supplemented this total with amounts to be expended under the accelerated programs for highway, public buildings, and river and harbor public works construction.

The items in the accelerated programs include $90,500,000 for highway construction and $25,500,000 for river and harbors public works, which are provided under the 116 million dollar emergency construction bill, signed by President Hoover last Saturday, and $30,000,000 for public buildings. Allotments under the highway construction appropriations were announced officially today by the department of agriculture and those under the river and harbors improvements and flood control appropriations were announced by the war department. The latter included $1,200,000 for the Illinois waterway.

Classification of Expenditures.

The $724,058,000 for construction in the calendar year 1931 is classified as follows:

FEDERAL AID TO HIGHWAYS—A total of $219,922,500, including $57,930,000 for the last half of the fiscal year, 1931; $71,492,500 for the first half of the fiscal year, 1932, and $90,500,000 in accelerated programs.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS—A total of $173,869,000, including $70,018,500 for the last half of the fiscal year, 1931; $73,853,000 for the first half of the fiscal year, 1932, and $30,000,000 in accelerated programs.

RIVER AND HARBOR PUBLIC WORKS—A total of $159,857,000, including $69,050,000 for the first half of the fiscal year, 1931; $65,307,000 for the first half of the fiscal year, 1932, and $25,500,000 in accelerated programs.

SHIP CONSTRUCTION—A total of $129,920,000, including $50,395,500 for the last half of the fiscal year, 1931, and $79,524,500 for the first half of the fiscal year, 1932.

Aviation Expenditures.

AIRCRAFT AND AIR NAVIGATION—A total of $30,882,000, including $14,835,500 for the last half of the fiscal year, 1931, and $15,996,500 for the first half of the fiscal year, 1932.

MISCELLANEOUS — A total of $9,607,000, including $2,950,000 for the last half of the fiscal year, 1931, and $6,657,000 for the first half of the fiscal year, 1932.

The estimate of expenditures for the relief of agriculture was adding $125,000,000, representing one-half of the total of the loans of the farm board for the fiscal years 1931 and 1932, to $45,000,000, the amount of the loans for drought relief.

President Hoover let it be known that it will be the policy of the government to insist upon payment by contractors of the prevailing wage scales. The agreement of industrial leaders reached at the conferences arranged by him a year ago to maintain wage scales is regarded by the President as the administration's most constructive contribution during the period of depression.

INSISTS DRY LAW CAUSES CRIME WAVE IN AMERICA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 23.—America's crime problem originates in the gang and it is the product of prohibition, Sir Hugh Turnbull, commissioner of the London police department, declared today when he reassumed his duties in what is reputedly the best policed city in the world at the conclusion of a tour of the United States and Canada.

Sir Hugh said he was particularly interested in police work of Chicago. He declared he found many innovations there suitable for study with a view of adoption in London, but these were principally concerned with such tasks as traffic management. The quelling of gang warfare is a thing not anticipated in London because the London police are not charged with the enforcing of prohibition, the commissioner said, adding:

"Undoubtedly the one great trouble in the United States in giving rise to the many crimes of violence is through a situation caused by prohibition. Much of the police's time is taken up in dealing with violations of this law and the crimes arising from it. It is surprising how little the police think of shooting affairs when they know how many of their comrades get wounded. Chicago is an amazing city. Before I left England I went to see a celebrated gangster drama. With all its shooting and thrills, I was told that in Chicago the play was no exaggeration."

Orris Wattles Keeps the Old Town Talking

BY FRED PASLEY.

Folks down in Clay City, population 648, which nestles in a crook of the Little Wabash river, 200 miles south of Chicago, haven't had much to talk about since ten years ago, when Orris Wattles, 19 years old, left town. He was leaving to seek his fortune in the great outside world. Whether he found it, nobody ever knew, for nothing was heard from Orris.

But the neighbors always renewed discussion of him at this time of year because of the extra Yuletide candle the old folks lighted in the center of the front window. They lighted it—Mr. and Mrs. John W. Wattles, his parents—the neighbors said, in the hope that Orris would return and know they were waiting for him. Old folks are funny that way.

A Body Is Identified.

Last Sunday a man was killed by a railroad train at Naperville. He lay unidentified for 48 hours. Then Bernard Cassell, Naperville hotel proprietor, viewed the body and said, "Why, that's Orris Wattles, the bricklayer. He worked here for a time, and moved to Chicago. He used to live in Clay City."

The authorities notified Wattles' parents in Clay City but both Mr. and Mrs. Wattles were too old to make the trip. However, other members of the family went to Naperville. There were Mrs. Mary Koehler, a sister from Lincoln; Ralph Wattles, a brother, of Clinton, Ill., and Charles Jones and Raymond Friman, brothers-in-law, also of Clinton.

They confirmed Mr. Cassell's identification. The body was that of Orris. The authorities by then had traced his home address in Chicago, 1839 South Sawyer avenue. They telephoned to that address.

Orris Comes to Life.

"Yes," said a voice, "this is where Orris Wattles lives. This is Orris Wattles talking."

The sister, the brother and even the two brothers-in-law wouldn't believe him, so he drove to Naperville and convinced them.

On Christmas day the fatted calf is going to be served up at a reunion and dinner at the Wattles home in Clay City in a way that will give the neighbors a mouthful to talk about for another ten years.

Out in Naperville they are trying to find out who it was that got hit by the train.

Sues Catherine Willard, Actress, for Separation

New York, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Catherine Willard, actress, whose married name is Barry, is being sued for separation by William Edward Barry. Barry said his wife deserted him Aug. 15 and that three months ago she wrote him from Chicago saying she would not return.

MYSTERY BOMB EXPLOSION ROCKS EVANSTON HOMES

Close to 1,000 residential and business windows in a four-block area of Evanston were shattered shortly before midnight by a mystery bombing in the rear of the United Warehouse company, 713 Chicago avenue. Hundreds of Evanstonians living along Hinman and Chicago avenues and other thoroughfares were jarred. No one was injured.

Little damage was done to the property of the warehouse. The bomb was planted in a wood shed.

Windows in Hinman and Chicago avenues from Keeney street to Main street were broken or cracked. Panes in surrounding homes and apartments were likewise shattered, as were all those of the South Evanston garage at 651 Chicago avenue.

Capt. Charles Paasch said the bombing was probably the work of boys or a bombing fanatic. An experienced bomber, he said, would have planted the missile in such a way as to cause damage where intended.

WEATHER FINE, ALSO ROADS, FOR CHRISTMASTIDE

Chicago and suburbs, already assured of a white Christmas by the snowfall of the last few days, will enjoy mild weather today with possibly more snow, or maybe a little rain, according to last night's forecast. The wind will be from the south. A rising temperature is predicted for tonight.

Those planning to drive out of the city for the holidays will find the highways clear and in good condition up to points 300 miles north and 500 miles west, according to a report of the Chicago Motor club.

Roads to the gulf coast, New York and Boston are also open. Country highways, the report says, are in better condition than many Chicago streets.

Court Sentences 7 Boys to a Family Whipping

Pontiac, Mich., Dec. 23.—[Special.]—Seven youths who had confessed a series of thefts extending over a period of four years today received unexpected punishment following their appearance in the court of Judge Henry H. Smith at Lapeer. One by one they were taken by the paternal heads of their households to a garage behind the courthouse and given a sound horsewhipping. The lash in each instance was wielded by either a father or elder brother and the whippings were witnessed by their mothers.

Flyer Burned to Death When Ship Explodes

BY ROBERT WOOD.

A rum running airplane fell out of a swirling snow storm and crashed into a hillside near New Carlisle, Ind., yesterday noon. Last night, after 12 hours of searching, investigators said they believed the craft was the property of Bert J. Roesch, alias Kennedy, flying rum runner and pal of Willie Doody, condemned killer. They were almost positive that the body pulled from the burning wreckage was that of Roesch, who was better known among pilots as Kennedy.

Kennedy was Doody's boyhood playmate and when police, a year ago, traced the killer to the apartment of Lillian Kahler, Kennedy's divorced sister, they found Kennedy there, too.

Reported Flying Rum Plane.

Last October Kennedy bought a green Waco straight wing biplane, powered with a Wright Whirlwind motor, from the Chicago Aero Sales company at La Grange. An acquaintance said last night that he had been running booze in from Canada by automobile. At the time he bought the plane he wasn't a flyer, so he hired a pilot to fly his ship. Later, it was said, he learned to fly and operated it on his regular trips here from Canada. He kept his ship at Ashburn flying field, a mile south of the Municipal airport, and it was presumed that he had been in the habit of landing his booze there.

Apparently the flyer was on his way between Detroit to Chicago when the Indiana snowstorm blinded him. He was on the route of the Detroit-Chicago mail line. Farmers saw the green ship racing over the tree tops and then drop to the ground. The engine rammed into the earth and the craft nosed over and exploded. It was destroyed, and the pilot was dead from burns and injuries when witnesses reached the wreckage.

Find Whisky in Wreck.

Police and inspectors from the department of commerce, who searched in the wreckage for clews to the identity of the dead airman, found four whisky bottles, one of them full. They also found a pair of baby shoes, but these could not be explained, for Kennedy—if the identification is correct—was believed to have been unmarried.

Other articles which supported the belief that the flyer was Kennedy were found. The ship answered precisely the description of the ship sold to Kennedy. There was also a pilot's license, partly burned, which bore the name Bert J. R.——. The last part of the name was burned away. A belt buckle and a ring also had the initials B. R. The number stamped on the fuselage structure was AS 3001 and the carburetor bore the number C-951.

Coroner Foster of Michigan City said last night that the photograph on the license of the dead airman showed a blonde youth of about 25. Positive identification was expected from friends of Kennedy who were to view the photograph.

Pilots of three states, police and department of commerce agents were scanning pilot lists and investigating concerning overdue planes in an effort to find the pilot's name. All planes except Kennedy's Waco appeared to be accounted for last night.

It was learned last night that relatives of Kennedy live at 1006 North Waller avenue. At this address it was stated that Bert J. Roesch left for the Ashburn airport yesterday morning and that the plane which crashed was probably his.

NEW 'POISON FOG' CAUSES PANIC IN BELGIUM; 1 DEAD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIEGE, Belgium, Dec. 23.—Death from "poison fog" once more stalks Belgium. The panic stricken residents of the Meuse valley, where 67 died mysteriously following a heavy mist which overhung the countryside three weeks ago, were seized with a new fear today when a man died with "death fog symptoms" at Tilleur.

Although official investigators said the man died of illuminating gas poisoning, dozens of other persons at Hermaille are reported to be ill with burning throats and lungs—symptoms felt by the last fog victims. The streets in many towns were deserted today, the terror stricken people afraid of being stricken by the thick fog which covers the district.

The government has dispatched Dr. Jean Firquet to take part in the inquest over the dead man at Tilleur, and samples of the fog are being bottled at Tilleur and Hermaille for tests which may bring about a solution of the mystery.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Five Boston men died of the effects of poison liquor late today and tonight.

CAPTURE BANK ROBBERY GANG, $85,000 IN LOOT

Two Confess Three Illinois Holdups.

A police lieutenant kicked a loose board in a north side apartment yesterday and revealed $85,000 worth of securities stolen last Thursday from the First State bank of Wenona, Ill. With this evidence three men and a woman were arrested and at least three Illinois bank robberies were solved. The police believe the same gang may have been involved in four others.

Liberty bonds and negotiable securities made up the recovered loot. According to bankers' association officials the total taken from the three banks was $95,500, as follows:

Bank—	Date.	Amt.
Allerton State, Allerton	Nov. 11	$ 4,000
Farmers' State, New Windsor	Nov. 20	1,500
First State, Wenona	Dec. 18	90,000

These robberies were confessed by two of the prisoners, Austin J. Corray, 32 years old, and Harmon Corray, 27 years old, brothers, whose home is Champaign. Their confession implicated Glen Nichols, 32 years old, also of Champaign, as the actual robber, and his sweetheart, Gladys Robinson, alias La Rue, 27 years old, of Peoria.

Second Woman Is Held.

Another woman, Genevieve Hoy, 30 years old, of Champaign, was also in custody, but she convinced the police that she only came to Chicago on Monday night at Harmon Corray's request and knew nothing of the robberies. Nichols is wanted in Champaign for complicity in a hotel robbery last year. He escaped from the Champaign county jail shortly after the robbery and has been sought since then.

It was Nichols, the Corray brothers said, who held a gun before the bank cashiers' cages and demanded the money. He was defiant last night, even when confronted with the confessions, and admitted nothing.

Certain methods of operation used by the gang conformed with the actions of bandits who robbed the State Bank of Clearing, 5601 West 63d street, on Dec. 6, obtaining $59,616, and witnesses to that holdup will be taken to the detective bureau this morning to view the prisoners. The Clearing bandits had a blue sedan and wore dark glasses. This equipment corresponds with that used by the Corray brothers.

Traced in Other Robberies.

Burns agency operatives also believe that the captured gang engineered the robberies of these banks:

Bank—	Date.	Amt.
Citizens' State, Tolono	April 29	$4,684
State Bank of Watago	May 16	1,506
Farmers' State, Alpha	June 13	5,000
First National, Homer	Sept. 3	4,950

If investigation proves these suspicions, the gang obtained about $172,000 in cash and bonds from the eight robberies. The greater part of this consisted of the $90,000 of securities taken from the Wenona bank. With $85,000 of these recovered by the capture, the gang apparently had been able to dispose of only about $5,000 of the securities.

Story of the Capture.

The bonds were found by Lieut. Andy Barry in the apartment occupied by Nichols and the Robinson woman at 4240 Kenmore avenue. Barry trailed a sedan from La Salle street and North avenue because the license number it bore "clicked" in his mind as that of a car wanted for some crime.

He lost the car in the traffic several times as it sped north with two men and a woman in it, but finally found it parked in front of the Kenmore avenue address. From the building manager he learned that the latest arrivals occupied apartment 401. He obtained the key and with his squad opened the door.

Nichols was reclining in an easy chair reading a book, "Memoirs of a Murder Man." Miss Robinson was in equal relaxation. Nothing of an incriminating nature was in sight.

Barry Finds the Bonds.

Barry looked about him. He saw a nick in the floor moulding. Idly he kicked the wood. Finding the moulding loose, he inserted his pistol barrel in the crack and pried. The board fell away, revealing the green and white paper of the bond forms.

The rest of the moulding was soon stripped away and other packets of securities were found behind it. Nichols stood cursing, his hands in the air, but he gestured toward a shotgun hidden in a corner with the remark, "If I'd gotten that first, you wouldn't have found them."

Believing that others were in the gang, Barry waited and soon was rewarded when the Corray brothers and Miss Hoy appeared. All were taken to the detective bureau.

Searching in Nichols' apartment, the police found ten revolvers, two shotguns, one of the sawed-off variety, and a rifle. Two cans of narcotics were also found and in a suitcase were several bundles of currency—five dollar bills and one dollar bills—each with a bank wrapper still securing it.

Chief of Detectives Norton said that he would have bullets fired from the guns and compared with one taken from the body of Robert Wallace, architect living at 2404 Ashland avenue, Evanston, who was slain Friday night by bandits. Ballistics tests will be used to determine if the captured gang participated in the murder. Wallace was killed when he drove his automobile between a fleeing bandit car and a police squad car at Ardmore and Western avenues.

Corray Brothers Confess.

Taken to the detective bureau the Corray brothers confessed and said that they had participated in the three robberies first listed.

They said that the Robinson woman usually went into the town chosen for a bank robbery and made a deposit in the bank, noting the layout of the institution. She would draw plans of the place.

On the day of the robbery she would drive to a town nearby, where the three men would either steal or rent a car. This they would use to take them to the bank's doors, the woman going on to a third town where she would wait.

Robbery Method Described.

At the bank, Austin Corray stayed in the car, keeping the motor running. Harmon Corray went to the door of the bank, which he guarded with a shotgun while Nichols went inside to obtain the loot. The robbery completed, the three would speed to the town where the girl waited. There they would leave their rented or stolen car and join her.

This would for the moment confuse their pursuers, but Harmon Corray said that once policemen found the car and fought a running gun battle with them, during which he was struck in the body by shotgun slugs. He exhibited the scars, but did not name the town where they were received.

Both brothers were incensed when they learned that Nichols had secreted the securities in his apartment.

"He held out on us," said Austin Corray. "We didn't know he had them. He cheated all along, because he got the cash and bonds and didn't always turn over all he took."

WRIT PLEA BARES FIFTH ARREST IN 2 ARSON DEATHS

The arrest of a fifth man in connection with the fire at 3655 North Kedzie avenue last Saturday in which two children lost their lives was revealed yesterday when Judge Harry M. Fisher continued a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus seeking release of two of the men.

Harry Goldvarg, owner of a butcher shop in which the fire started, and Jacob Rosow, Jack Tatelman, and Martin Borad earlier had confessed participating in a conspiracy to burn the place to collect $3,800 in insurance. The fifth man is Louis Footlik, part owner of a fixture store at 172 North Halsted street, who, Goldvarg says, is one of two men who suggested the fire to him. Hymie (Slob) Lieberman, reputed west side hoodlum, who is under $50,000 bond on a burglary charge, is being sought in connection with the case.

TRACE CLEWS TO GUN NEST IN ROGERS PARK

Hunt Trio of 22 Day Vigil to Commit Murder.

Several articles left behind in a machine gun nest at 1710 Greenleaf avenue were being used by the Rogers Park police yesterday in an effort to trace the vanished occupants of the apartment and learn the motive for the ambush.

These occupants, who had said they were Mr. and Mrs. John J. Collins and Joseph O'Donnell, had waited for 22 days with a mounted machine gun placed at a window for an opportunity to kill one or more persons. Their plot was discovered Monday night when Mrs. Henrietta Guthris, 1654 Greenleaf avenue, and E. W. Stone, 4246 Sheridan road, were mistakenly wounded by shotgun slugs fired from the apartment.

Called Ambush for Gangsters.

"Unquestionably the Collinses and O'Donnell were there to kill a gangster or several of them," said Capt. Patrick Harding. "Terry Druggan lived five blocks away from that address until a month ago. There have been rumors that Alphonse Capone has been living in the Rogers Park district but it is not true as far as we know.

"The shooting was done with a repeating shotgun and five shells were used. It is a puzzle why, if the gunners sighted their intended victims, they didn't use the machine gun instead of the shotgun.

"At least one of the shots went wild, chipping a piece from the stone in front of the window. Slugs from those shells were probably the ones which wounded Stone in the ankle and Mrs. Guthrie in the thigh. The firing was at the occupants of one of two automobiles that were passing and perhaps persons in the cars were wounded."

Machine Gun Gives Clew.

Numbers on the machine gun which was found in the flat showed it had been sold by the manufacturer to a New York dealer. Last night it had not been traced further.

The occupants of the flat left behind them articles of clothing and furniture through which they may be traced, the police said. They were also known to have dined occasionally in a nearby restaurant, the employes of which say they will be able to identify them or their pictures. Marks on the furniture indicate that it had been recently taken from a storage warehouse.

Through those means the police hope to establish the identity of "Mr. and Mrs. Collins and Joseph O'Donnell." When and if they do, Capt. Harding said, they may uncover a new gang feud.

KIDNAPED BY PAIR IN AUTO.

Two men in an automobile last night kidnaped Oscar Burkhart of 4053 West 21st street, near him home, and threw him out of their car at 49th avenue and Roosevelt road, Cicero, after robbing him of a ring valued at $250, a watch, and $12.

ROBBERY VICTIM

MRS. LOUISE SHAPIRO.

Posing as a Western Union messenger, in uniform, a youth last night gained entrance to the apartment of Mrs. Louise Shapiro, 7735 Essex avenue, and aided by a confederate who rushed in behind him, robbed her of $7,400 in jewelry and diamonds and $40 in cash. She is the wife of Benjamin Shapiro, sales manager for R. Stern & Co., 209 South State street, importers of shoes.

BONDSMAN GETS JURY TRIAL IN VAGRANCY CASE

Louis Ascher, professional bondsman indicted for perjury in the recent bail bond investigation, was granted a jury trial yesterday when he was arraigned in Judge John H. Lyle's Felony court on a charge of vagrancy. He was arrested while loitering in the vestibule of the Bridewell. He explained that he was trying to keep out of the cold.

Assistant State's Attorney A. C. De Witt, who has charge of the bond inquiry, said that Judge Harry Fisher reduced Ascher's bond from $15,000 to $5,000 on the perjury indictment.

Prosecutor De Witt said that he did not expect the jury to take up the bond investigation until Monday. At that time the jurors will resume discussion of the possibility of asking the legislature to institute impeachment proceedings against two Municipal court judges.

Giant German DO-X Ready to Fly Atlantic Jan. 16

BASEL, Switzerland, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Germany's big seaplane, Do-X, will be ready to start for America on Jan. 16, the Dornier works announced today. She is still at Lisbon where repairs are proceeding to a wing damaged in a fire several weeks ago. The route of the projected trans-Atlantic flight will take her to the Canary islands from Lisbon, thence to Brazil by way of Havana.

GIRL STRANGLED TO DEATH; POLICE QUESTION LOVER

He Blames the Killing on Robbers.

Miss Mary Judkins, 20 years old, was found strangled to death last night in the apartment at 624½ York place in which she lived with Jack Antrim, 29 years old, a barber at 2 North Clark street.

Antrim was taken to Sheffield avenue police station for questioning after he had summoned other tenants in the building and told them his wife had just strangled herself with a silk scarf. Police found the scarf lying loosely about the girl's neck and immediately began an investigation.

At the same time another investigation was being made under the personal direction of Coroner Herman N. Bundensen, assisted by Dr. Clarence W. Muehlberger of the Northwestern university crime detection school.

Lieut. Axel Jensen of the Sheffield avenue police said shortly before midnight that sufficient circumstantial evidence had been uncovered to warrant holding Antrim on a charge of murder, although he had not been formally booked.

Blames Killing Thieves.

Suspicion was directed toward Antrim because of scratches and bruises on his wrists and the finding of a key of his beneath the girl's body. He admitted quarreling with Miss Judkins on Monday night because she went out with another man, but insisted that their differences had been patched up before he left for work yesterday morning. He attributed the strangling to thieves and pointed out that a radio which had been in the apartment in the morning was missing.

Antrim told police he returned from work at 6 o'clock and found the body of Miss Judkins on the floor. He felt her pulse, he said, and found that she was dead.

Miss Betty Boone, a nurse who lives on the floor below, told of hearing Antrim's calls for help and starting to the apartment. When he met her outside the door and told her his wife was dead, however, she returned to her own rooms and called the police.

Admits Using an Alias.

Antrim admitted that he sometimes used the alias of Tom Lynn but explained that he did so in an effort to avoid payment of a note which he had signed.

Miss Judkins came from Alluwe, Okla., a year ago, according to Antrim. He added that he had married a Miss Elsie Parker in Iowa, but that she had left him shortly after they came to Chicago to live a year ago and that two weeks later he and Miss Judkins began living together.

Hoover Grants Full Pardon to W. T. McCray, Ex-Governor

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 23.—[Special.]—Warren T. McCray, former governor of Indiana, was granted a Christmas pardon today by President Hoover.

The one time Indiana executive was paroled from Atlanta penitentiary on Aug. 31, 1927, by President Coolidge, after serving three years and four months of a ten year sentence imposed for use of the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of worthless cattle paper.

Confers with President.

The pardon restores Mr. McCray to full civil rights. Confirmation of the pardoning of the Indiana cattle man was made tonight after Representative Will R. Wood [Rep., Ind.], chairman of the appropriations committee, had informed friends that he had conferred with the President. It is understood the pardon becomes effective Jan. 16, 1931.

The granting of the pardon culminates five years of unremitting efforts on the part of McCray, first to get out on parole and later to obtain restoration of his civil rights.

No protests were registered at the White House, so far as has been made known, when Calvin Coolidge ordered McCray's release from the penitentiary in 1927.

Entered Prison in 1924.

McCray was the first governor of a state to have his term broken by a sentence to jail. He entered the penitentiary at Atlanta on May 1, 1924, after being convicted in the federal courts at Indianapolis. He is 65 years old.

Mr. McCray was adjudged a bankrupt after extended hearings during which he admitted forging signatures to worthless cattle paper which he had floated on the theory that his indorsement made it "as good as gold." He denied any intent to defraud, asserting that his holdings were sufficient to pay all his obligations and leave him with money to spare.

In sentencing McCray, Judge Anderson said the defendant had written 2,500 letters in furtherance of a scheme to defraud and thus had committed 2,500 felonies.

Worth $3,000,000 in 1923.

Beginning business life as a bookkeeper in a bank, McCray rose rapidly until he was a successful executive, banker, and cattle man. By the time he became governor, he had built up a nation-wide reputation as a breeder of fine stock.

In 1923 he had lands and stock worth $3,000,000. When reports of financial difficulties were heard friends formed a $350,000 pool to aid McCray by replacing worthless paper and repaying $155,000 which had been taken from the state board of agriculture. But charges were filed and he was indicted for embezzlement. A state grand jury disagreed and a federal indictment for using the mails followed.

Sees Great Christmas.

Kentland, Ind., Dec. 23.—(AP)—"It's going to be a great Christmas for us," was Warren T. McCray's comment tonight on the granting by President Hoover of a full pardon, restoring to him his civil rights.

First word of his pardon reached him late today when he returned from his stock farm at Orchard Lake, near here, to find telegrams from United States Senator James E. Watson, and from Representative Will R. Wood.

McCray has been operating the farm in an effort to restore it to the position it held before his financial collapse, which followed the charges brought against him while he was governor.

"President Hoover's action has made me very happy indeed," McCray said. He also expressed gratification over the success of his farming efforts since his return. He said he shipped ten carloads of cattle last week and obtained "satisfactory prices."

The McCray Christmas, gladdened by the presidential pardon, will be spent at Indianapolis with his family.

GIRL IN THE CASE LEAVES SHEPARD TO HIS TROUBLES

She'll Keep His Gifts, Though.

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Grace Brandon, upon whom Maj. Charles A. Shepard, found guilty of the murder of his wife, showered gifts and endearing letters, said today that she had learned three things from the trial.

"One is," she said, "I will never marry."

"I have learned," the stenographer continued, "never to remember anything and never to write letters. But I have decided the most important is never to marry. Look at Maj. Shepard! If he hadn't been so anxious to get married he wouldn't be in all this trouble.

"I have several good friends, but I will never marry any of them."

As for the presents the major lavished on her, including a $1,500 automobile, Miss Brandon made this explanation:

Considers Gifts Paid For.

"I have paid for everything Maj. Shepard has given me by going through the ordeal of the trial and everything which went before it.

"I understand he is hard pressed financially on account of the trial and needs money to make an appeal, but that isn't my fault. I realize he might be able to sell them and that this might help him financially, but the car is registered in my name and I am going to keep it as well as the other gifts. If he needs money I suggest that he marry that widow in Denver who furnished bond for him when he was first arrested and who, I understand, is very wealthy."

Miss Brandon said she expected to keep on being a stenographer at Brooks field.

Still Has Her Job.

Lieut. Col. Henry B. Clagett, commandant of the field, said today concerning her employment, "Miss Brandon is a civil service employé and is subject to all the rules of that service. No orders have been received at the field to cut down our force. No changes will be made unless specific charges are made in regular manner."

FRED BRITTEN'S NAME RISES IN MAYORALTY TALK

Strong Sentiment for Congressman Seen.

BY PARKE BROWN.

With no indication as to its source or sources there became manifest yesterday what the politicians recognized as a strong public sentiment for Congressman Fred A. Britten for mayor of Chicago.

It developed apparently without direct connection with the Republican alliance which hopes to nominate a World's Fair mayor; but it may have arisen from discussion among leaders of the nonpolitical organizations that the alliance has said it will consult in making its choice.

The name of the north side congressman was published as one of those under consideration and in talk that resulted among the lesser politicians, among business men and among men active in civic affairs he was picked as first choice by a large majority.

Allied Committee Meets.

Chairman B. W. Snow of the Republican county committee, Senator Deneen, Edward J. Brundage and Dr. John Dill Robertson—a committee of the Republican alliance—spent three hours in close and friendly communion discussing chiefly the alliance's plan of operations. The meeting was secret and it could not be learned whether Britten's qualifications and advantages as a candidate were discussed at length, but the opinion was expressed that he would be acceptable to at least three and possibly all four of the local groups.

The leaders of these groups said it would not do for them to commit themselves to any candidate at this stage of their deliberations, but almost the only question they raised in private conversations with the writer was whether Britten would run.

Draft Movement Hinted.

The congressman, after eighteen years' service in Washington, has won the high office of chairman of the committee on naval affairs and a place in Washington life which he would be loath to relinquish. He said so several weeks ago when he was informally asked by a Republican leader whether he would run.

That disclaimer of mayoralty ambitions and desires is considered the reason that the alliance has not already concentrated on Britten as a probable best choice. It is possible that a movement to draft him may arise from the upward trend of sentiment for him and the opinion has been expressed that he could not refuse if the movement in his favor becomes a large one.

"Fred owes something to Chicago," said one leader, "and if it calls upon him in this crisis he could not refuse to help."

Qualifications of Britten.

Another leader, who by many is considered one of the most astute politicians in Chicago, analyzed Britten's qualifications in this way:

"He has a long and creditable record of public service, having served four years in the city council and eighteen years in congress.

"He is not a factionalist. He knows politics and politicians, but he has no factional alliances and could give everybody a square deal.

"The heavy German vote which ordinarily would go to Thompson would go to Britten in a block. That vote is essential to a third candidate in the situation we now have.

Leader Against Prohibition.

"Britten has been a wet all his life, a leader in the fight against prohibition. In that respect he is the only Republican whose record will stand up against that of Cermak, who apparently is all set for the Democratic nomination.

"Britten is a world traveler and is well known in the capitals of Europe. His election would restore to Chicago the respect of Europe that it must have for its World's Fair.

"He is an effective speaker and has the presence and social graces that would be expected of a World's Fair mayor.

"He has sufficient wealth to enable him to take the office.

Knows Business and Politics.

"He is a successful business man, having made his money in the construction business, and yet, unlike many of the business men whose names have been proposed, he is not handicapped by ignorance of politics. He knows it down to the ward and precinct.

"He never has been identified with Thompsonism, and always has fought against lawlessness in any form.

"He has the confidence of more nonpolitical organizations than any other man suggested for the office. He has stood the test of years in the eyes of business organizations and others interested in affairs at Washington.

"Last fall the Democratic county organization withdrew its candidate against him when he was a candidate for reelection. It was a fine compliment to Britten's standing in the community."

Other Names Proposed.

Following the three hour conference of the alliance subcommittee, Chairman Snow said that several new names had been brought up. Among them were those of Jacob Preuss, former governor of Minnesota, who has returned to Chicago, his birthplace; Thomas O. Wallace, clerk of the Circuit court; Ald. Guy Guernsey, Prof. Charles E. Merriam of the University of Chicago, Charles J. McGowan, and George W. Dixon.

"During a discussion of the qualifications our candidate must have," said Snow, "we agreed that he must be on his own platform against lawlessness; that he must be recognized as having the ability to meet the taxation problem, and that he must be of a character and standing that will restore to Chicago the world respect that is necessary if the World's Fair is not to be a flop."

Snow said that much of the time was taken up with the technical details of the ward and precinct operations in the event of an amalgamation of factional forces. The subcommittee will meet again this morning and probably will be in session most of the day. Its meeting place is a secret.

REALTY DEALERS ATTACK ORDER TO REASSESS LAND

Deny Tax Cut; See Fiscal Muddle.

The proposed reassessment of land values for 1929 was attacked by speakers before the Chicago Real Estate board yesterday. The attack brought applause from the board members. George O. Fairweather, chairman of the joint commission on real estate valuation, led the verbal assault upon the plan to cut realty tax valuations, announced several weeks ago by the board of review. The order dealt with land values without considering improvements.

The speakers declared that a reassessment would not lower realty taxes but would result only in further financial confusion for the local governments.

Members of the board of review had been invited to be present and discuss their order for a reassessment. Mark Levy, president of the real estate board, declared that the real estate men regretted that none of the reviewers appeared. He then introduced Mr. Fairweather.

"I join with the chairman in regretting that the reviewers are not here," he said. "If we could get face to face with these men and discuss the situation, it might be cleared up.

Calls Order Political Appeal.

"The order for a reassessment of real estate was a direct political appeal. Nine-tenths of the order is outside the authority of any board of review.

"The order quoted the constitution to uphold the board of review's authority. Since when has the board of review ever adhered to the constitution, especially in regard to the assessment of personal property?

"The order contains deliberate falsehoods which reflect no credit upon the integrity or intelligence of the three reviewers. Why do they persist in trying to kid the public?"

Mr. Fairweather ended his talk by charging that the board of review was itself guilty of extravagance in conducting its affairs and could cut its budget at least fifty per cent without impairing efficiency.

Predicts Financial Confusion.

Several real estate men were called upon from the audience. Francis E. Manierre prophesied that the reassessment would lead to such financial confusion that state militia or federal troops would be patroling Chicago within eighteen months.

"These men are fiddling while Rome burns," he declared in reference to the members of the board of review and assessors.

Harry S. Cutmore, director of the reassesment, was another speaker who attacked the recent action of the board of review.

"The three reviewers sit up on their thrones and play politics incessantly," he asserted. "With a telescopic view, they slash the valuations in one second which have been arrived at painstakingly by two or three scientific appraisers.

"Votes Not Values," Claim.

"In these times, they can't mix popular politics and appeals to voters with good assessments. Most of the complaints before the board of review were invited in and a majority of them are without foundation of fact. The reassessment they have ordered is all about votes, not about values."

Axel Lonnstrom, another real estate man, advised the members of the real estate board to hope for a financial crisis.

"Until the situation is so bad that the governing bodies cannot function, you will never get relief for the taxation of real estate," he declared.

Chairman William H. Malone of the state tax commission announced yesterday that hearings would be had Friday on the petition for a reassessment of personal property.

Robber Pair Stage Three Holdups; Take 3 Autos

Three holdups were staged on the north side last night by the same pair of robbers. The first victims were Frank Klass and his daughter Margaret, 14 years old. As Mr. Klass drove his car to his garage in the rear of his home at 1318 North Shore avenue, the robbers leaped on the running board. After robbing him of $50 and the car, the gunmen drove away. Similar tactics were used in the case of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Graham, 6124 North Francisco avenue, except that they abandoned the Klass car for Graham's. The third victim was Emmanuel Horwitz, 507 North Mozart street, who lost $3.50 and his car.

$4,000 a Front Foot to Be Highest Subway Assessment

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

More than $4,000 a front foot is the top special assessment for the subway which the board of local improvements proposes to levy against certain State street property.

This figure will probably apply to property between Randolph and Monroe streets. The assessment will be less south of Jackson boulevard and north of Lake street. The property owners will be given 40 years in which to make the payment, with an annual installment on principal of one-fortieth each year.

The $4,000 a front foot is a rough estimate, made yesterday in the middle of the spreading of the special assessment. According to the present program, the $3,354,063 estimated cost of the subway under the Chicago river will be paid for by the city. Of the remaining $41,146,000 65 per cent will be paid by the property owners and 35 per cent from the city's traction fund.

Board Spreads the Cost.

The board of local improvements is now determining what part of the 65 per cent, or $26,774,900, shall be placed on each piece of property in the assessment district. At present the board believes that all of the property between 22d and Division streets will be especially benefited by the subway.

Within those limits all of the property east of State street to the lake is to be assessed and for half a mile west of State street. The only exception is that in the downtown district the western boundary of the assessment district will be Wells street.

President Faherty of the board said yesterday that he hopes the assessment will be spread within ten days, but it was reported that twenty days would probably be a more accurate estimate.

Hopes to Start Hearing Jan. 15.

Attorney George A. Mason, in charge of the special assessment litigation, said that he hoped to start the hearing on the special assessment by Jan. 15, but that is on the assumption that the assessment roll will be completed in the next ten days. The case will be heard by a Superior court judge.

Two other suits must also be decided by the courts before contracts for subway construction may be let. One of these is the petition for the widening of State street from the river northward.

That suit has been filed. The thoroughfare is now 66 feet wide and it is to be made 115 feet wide in order to accommodate the subway of four tracks. It is now planned to get a hearing in that case by Jan. 15 or 20.

Plan to Condemn Property.

The other court proceeding, which Mr. Mason and his assistants are now preparing, is to condemn certain property for subway purposes. Private property is needed at both the south and north ends of the subway in order to connect it with the elevated structure.

More land is needed to make the curve from State street to Chicago avenue. In addition land must be acquired for sites of five fan houses to be used in connection with the ventilation system of the subway.

Faherty hopes to have the legal decisions out of the way by March 15.

Car Merger Moves Ahead.

The consolidation of the surface and elevated lines into one transportation system came a step nearer to realization yesterday. The plan has been approved by the protective committee representing all of the security holders except those representing the capital stock of the Chicago Railways company, the west and north side surface lines.

The draft of the plan is being printed and a copy will be mailed as soon as possible to the approximately 50,000 holders of transit securities.

Official notices are being printed by the committees to be sent to the stockholders they represent. These notices ask the security holders to cooperate in carrying the plan into effect.

30 Days to Withdraw.

If a security holder approves of the plan he is asked to deposit his securities or permit them to remain with his committee. If a holder disapproves of the plan he is notified that he has 30 days in which to withdraw his securities from his committee. At the end of the 30 days from the last committee advertisement the plan will be declared operative.

The pending court proceedings, in which all of the surface lines are involved, will then be started along to transfer the surface lines from present owners to the stockholders of the new consolidated company. The elevated roads, which are not in the hands of receivers, will join in the merger as the proceedings progress.

Open Branch Postoffice for Merchandise Mart

The new branch postoffice in the Merchandise mart, world's largest building, was opened yesterday with an inspection by postal authorities and officials of the mart. Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder, Assistant Postmaster C. P. Schiel, and H. H. Bonin, acting postmaster of the mart branch, were members of the party which approved the new office.

NORRIS-LUCAS FIGHT FILLS AIR WITH LANGUAGE

Ranges from "Wart" to "Demagogue."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 23.—[Special.]—The opposing battle lines of the regular Republican and the radical Republican forces were strengthened today by reserve forces with fresh fighting statements for and against Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican national committee, and his secret campaign against George W. Norris, Nebraska's radical Republican senator.

Administration leaders, it appeared, have accepted the Lucas issue and will back him in his efforts to have Senator Norris read out of the party. Representative Will R. Wood of Indiana, chairman of the important house appropriations committee and chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, left a conference with President Hoover this morning and immediately issued a statement denouncing Norris and making it clear that, in his opinion at least, the Republican national committee should and would stand by Lucas.

Radicals Strike Back.

On their side the Norris adherents reiterated their defiant war cries, assailing Lucas bitterly and calling down the scorn of all honest citizens upon the administration.

They found a fresh rallying point in the action of President Hoover's new water power commission in dismissing two subordinate officials who have endeared themselves to the radical bloc by opposing that progressive bugaboo, the power trust. An effort will be made to rescind the confirmation of at least two of the power commissioners as soon as the senate reconvenes.

Washington's holiday atmosphere was clogged with flying statements—from Wood; from Senator Watson [Rep., Ind.], majority floor leader; from Mr. Lucas himself—and on the other side from Senator Norris, Senator Borah [Rep., Idaho], Senator Brookhart [Rep., Ia.], Senator Thomas J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.], Senator Dill Dem., Wash.], and from the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

Wood Minces No Words.

Said Representative Wood:

"Senator Norris is neither a Republican nor a Democrat. He is a consummate demagogue. Mr. Lucas' statement that Norris is not a Republican expresses the sentiment of every real Republican in the United States. We have been palliating and petting these fellows like Norris entirely too long."

To which Senator Norris replied that Representative Wood's issuance of his statement immediately after talking with the President was another indication "that the President is willing to lend his name to these conspirators in their disreputable methods of controlling the party.

"Special interests, particularly the power interests, are in control of some of the officials in the party organization."

President Hoover, Senator Norris explained, has never been so regular himself, changing politics as often as he changed office.

"He is likely to become a Democrat again most any day," Senator Norris remarked.

Senator Borah's comment was brief but pointed. After reading the Wood and Lucas statements he remarked:

"Let them get out of the party—those who have disgraced it."

Brookhart Cuts Loose.

"Mellonism" is at the cause of the Republican party's ills, according to Senator Brookhart.

"Mellonism" wrecked the Harding régime, caused Coolidge not to choose to run, and now threatens to wreck the party, the Iowan asserted. Referring to the fact that Lucas was formerly commissioner of internal revenue, he said:

"When a willing tool is wanted to carry out this cancerous duplicity, the most convenient place to go is to the treasury department and get a man like Lucas."

He also referred to Mr. Lucas as "an insignificant wart."

Mr. Lucas himself repeated his defense—that the $4,000 loan he obtained from a Washington bank in order to finance the printing of anti-Norris circulars was personal and proper; that his use of a $40,000 Republican national committee "special account" to cover the loan was also proper; that the "special account" would be accounted for to the Nye senatorial committee, which first exposed this transactions.

He explained that only $850 had gone into literature for Nebraska circulation and that the remainder had been spent in fighting John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, and the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment in states where the wet and dry issue was to the fore.

Wets Deny Loudly.

It was this explanation which brought a broadside from the wet organization, denying any expenditures in Nebraska and claiming limited expenditures everywhere, and calling on the Nye committee to look into dry expenditures, as it had promised to do.

The radicals seized upon the power commission developments as a new issue around which to rally, and if they carry out their threat to demand reconsideration of the nominations of Commissioner George Otis Smith, chairman, and Commissioner Marcel Garsaud, another long drawn debate will delay legislation in the senate when it reconvenes Jan. 5.

Charles F. Russell, solicitor, and William V. King, chief accountant, are the two ousted officials whose cause the radicals are taking up.

Meanwhile the Senate regulars, led by Majority Leader Watson, began to erect an elaborate wall of neutrality behind which to hide.

Not the Senate's Affair.

Senator Watson asserted that the question was one confronting the President and the national committee.

"The issue of Senator Norris' regularity is not before the Senate," he said. "Senator Norris was elected as a Republican and I do not see now how we can take any action. However, that is not before us and will not be before us until next year when the new senate organizes.

"As for Mr. Lucas, the selection of officers for the national committee is one belonging to the President. If he wants to keep Lucas I will support him to the limit."

So thin is their control, upon which depend the coveted committee chairmanships—one of which, by the way, Senator Borah holds, and Senators Norris and La Follette two others—that to read any radical out of the party means to court disaster.

$2,500,000 RELIEF EMERGENCY CASH TO BE SPENT IN ILLINOIS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 23.—[Special.]—Of the $22,500,000 included in the $116,000,000 emergency construction bill for river and harbor improvement, at least $2,500,000 will be expended in Illinois. The war department allotments, made public today, set aside $1,200,000 for work on the Illinois waterway between Joliet and Utica, $86,000 for Waukegan harbor, $68,000 on the Chicago river, $3,000 on the Chicago harbor, and $50,000 for Mill creek and South slough, and $397,000 on Calumet river and harbor in Illinois and Indiana.

The allotments as given out by Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of engineers, were similar to those published in THE TRIBUNE Monday.

War department officials explained today that a part of the $22,500,000 appropriation would not be allowed until after additional information had been received from division engineers throughout the country. Study is being given to further allotments for the nine foot channel in the upper Mississippi and on the Missouri river. Later information regarding economy on certain other projects may cause some additional changes in allocations.

The sum of $1,450,000 was allocated for work on the Mississippi between the Ohio and Minneapolis.

WAUKEGAN JURY FREES BOARD OF TRADE MEMBER

James V. O'Brien, 7310 Pingree street, Rogers Park, member of the Chicago Board of Trade, was found not guilty of a charge of driving while intoxicated by a jury in Judge Perry L. Persons' court in Waukegan yesterday.

According to the prosecution, the broker drove his car into the machine of Dr. Benjamin J. Lemery, 230 Ash street, Waukegan, near Fox Lake on Aug. 7. The doctor testified in court that O'Brien was drunk at the time, and fell three times after alighting from his machine. Fred Reinhold and Mrs. Anna Thiele, both of Fox Lake, witnesses, also alleged O'Brien was under the influence of alcohol.

O'Brien denied the accusations. J. D. Riggs, town marshal of Fox Lake, corroborated his story, and pointed out that he had arrested O'Brien after the accident and charged him only with disorderly conduct. O'Brien, he said, was not intoxicated.

ROUND OF MERRY PARTIES BRINGS YULE JOY TO ALL

KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Christmas parties were in progress esterday in every corner of the town, d they will continue through to-orrow.

Not even sickness can spoil the fun or the 2,400 patents at the county hospital. Warden Michael Zimmer will have the help of forty organizations to provide gifts and goodies for the bedridden. Some of the 250 juveniles who are well enough to be dismissed, but would have no Christmas at home, are to be allowed to stay. A Christmas tree will be glowing in every ward, entertainers will visit the hospital, and there wil be a chicken dinner.

Warden David Moneypenny of the county jail predicted that his charges will welcome tomorrow as the greatest day of the year. There is to be a radio program on every floor, and choirs from several churches plan to visit the institution. The 1,300 inmates also are to enjoy a chicken dinner.

Great Lakes Holds Dinner.

At the Juvenile Detention home the same type of preparations were in progress. Each child will discover a stocking full of gifts this morning, donated by Chicago organizations. There will be a program and a turkey dinner.

Roast turkey, with all that goes with it, including cranberry marmalade, chestnut dressing and candied yams, will be the menu at the United States Naval hospital at Great Lakes. Sweaters, bedroom slippers, neckties, candies and fruits have been prepared for the patients by clubs and American Legion posts and auxiliaries.

One thousand soldiers and sailors, patients at the Edward Hines Jr. Memorial hospital, will take their Christmas cheer in the form of a turkey dinner, gifts provided by their old buddies, a moving picture show and other diversions.

Behind the walls of the Bridewell, the 2,000 inmates will receive a chicken dinner, with cigars for the men and candy for the women. There will be church services in the morning.

Hold Dance at Dunning.

The 3,600 patients at the Chicago Hospital for the Insane at Dunning are to enjoy a chicken repart and receive stockings filled with candy, fruit and gifts. Last night the wards of the institution were given a dance, and several will be permitted by Superintendent Daniel D. Coffee to go home with relatives for the day.

Oak Forest infirmary already has been visited by a number of organizations distributing gifts to the old and infirm, it was reported yesterday by Supt. Frank Venecek. Turkey and goose are on the menu for tomorrow for the 4,121 inmates and there are 65 Christmas trees—one in each ward.

Four hundred patients of the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium will be well enough to spend Christmas at their homes. For the remainder, 500 in all, a turkey dinner will be served. Santa Claus has promised also to bring gifts to the 230 children, Supt. Martin R. Lyon asserted. And a musical review will be given.

Distribute Baskets Today.

Promptly at 10 o'clock this morning the Coliseum will be thrown open to 10,000 needy men, women, and children, who are to be supplied with Christmas baskets by the Salvation Army. Each basket will weigh from 20 to 30 pounds, to go into homes where the conditions have been investigated beforehand. Only those holding tickets will receive the baskets.

Chickens, potatoes, coffee, apples, oranges, bread, fruit cakes, peas, corn, sugar, crackers, butter, and candy will be packed in the baskets.

Santa Claus will be there to distribute nearly 100,000 toys to the boys and girls from 2 to 14 years of age.

At 9 o'clock, Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman will hand out the first of some 3,000 baskets to the given away by the Volunteers of America at their headquarters at 2841 Washington boulevard. The number has been doubled this year.

Christmas dinners will be served to thousands of unemployed men by both the Salvation Army and the Volunteers.

Trees on Train Platforms.

All Milwaukee road trains leaving Chicago last night carried lighted Christmas trees on the rear platform of their observation coaches—the first time the Christmas decorations have not been confined to the interior of the cars.

Mrs. John T. Joyce, widow of the late state senator, began last night the distribution of 500 baskets to poor families. She also distributed fresh milk.

Machinists' District council No. 8 yesterday, for the first time in nearly half a century, provided Christmas baskets to its unemployed members. At 113 Ashland boulevard, 1,000 men called to carry away the well filled baskets, and each departed with a large turkey, weighing 14 pounds on the average, across the shoulder.

Fifty families and 1,000 children are to be cared for today by members and staffs of Chicago Y. M. C. A. branches.

Hospital Children Get Gifts.

Miss Helen Freeman, night nurse in the children's department at the Presbyterian hospital, will play Santa Claus to her small charges while they sleep tonight. The Service Club, Sunday school class of the Glen Ellyn Presbyterian church and other friends have provided the gifts.

Yesterday afternoon and last night an entertainment was given in the Stanford Park recreation center at 14th place and Union avenue under the auspices of the west parks commissioners. Christmas carols were sung and a Christmas play was given by the children.

On the north shore the Elks club of Evanston inaugurated the Christmas celebration last night with bobsled rides for carol singers. The children sang as they rode from the Evanston Boltwood fieldhouse, Main street near Florence, through the streets of the northern suburb.

In Winnetka a community sing will be held tonight on the village common, with the Christ Church Episcopal choir leading. Wilmette people will gather at the village hall for the same purpose.

CHICAGO POSTOFFICE SETS DAY'S RECORD FOR CHRISTMAS MAIL

Postoffice clerks of Chicago and other cities in the country are handling the largest volume of Christmas mail in history, postal officials here announced yesterday.

All time records for Chicago were broken on Monday, when 15,000,000 pieces of first class mail went through the cancelling machines, Postmaster Lueder said. The previous high mark, 12,000,000 pieces, was established in 1928.

Chicago's record tied that set on Monday by Manhattan and the Bronx, where the previous record for a day—14,000,000 pieces—was set in 1928. Louisville, Cleveland, Syracuse, N. Y., and many other cities reported new high records set on Monday. Postmasters believed most of the Christmas cards were in the mails by Monday night and that succeeding days would show a decline.

If the aggregate for the country equals that of last year, the Christmas mail will have included 1,670,000,000 letters, 20,000,000 packages and 17,000,000 post cards, according to Associated Press dispatches.

CHRISTMAS MAIL IS CARRIED OVER PERILOUS ROUTES

Reach Remote Sections with Difficulty.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 23.—(AP)—With cold figures gauging the warmth of the Christmas spirit, the postoffice department each year makes elaborate plans for reaching the most remote sections with Christmas mail by Christmas day.

Today it listed some of the more hazardous routes over which holiday packages and cards are carried.

The longest was from Kotzebue to Point Barrow, Alaska, 650 miles. The mail started a month ago to make Christmas delivery. The Alaskan mailman often really drives reindeer.

Hazardous Routes Listed.

Toughest treks, as described by the department, were:

Newport to Otter Rock, Ore.—"Carrier is compelled to travel down the beach at low tide. If, for some reason, the incoming tide catches him before he completes his trip, he must either abandon his team and the mail and climb the rocks or be dashed to pieces against them."

Ellison Bay to Detroit Harbor, Wis.—"Carrier has to cross 'Death's Door' passage. Its ice bridge is speedily disseminated by shifting gales and currents. Sometimes this breakup occurs so suddenly the carrier is caught out on the ice with his horse, sleigh, and mail. He must then resort to his motor launch."

Travels on Snowshoes.

Rocky Bar to Atlanta, Idaho—"Carriers travel on snowshoes, packing 50 pounds of mail with increased load for Christmas. Not infrequently, carriers on this route have been caught on snowslides and swept to instant death."

Sandusky to Kelleys island, Middle Bass, and Put in Bay, O.—"Carrier must use a craft which is combination sailboat, rowboat, ice yacht, and sled."

Postal officials estimated the Christmas rush today reached its peak.

If its total reaches that of last year, the Christmas mails will have carried 1,670,000,000 letters, 20,000,000 packages, and 17,000,000 post cards.

U. of Chicago's Choir Sings Christmas Carols

Fifty members of the University of Chicago choir last night revived the ancient custom of singing Christmas carols and for more than two hours toured the vicinity of the campus, some in automobiles and many others on foot. Among the places serenaded were the Bobs Roberts Memorial Hospital for Children at 59th street and Drexel boulevard, the Albert Merritt Billings hospital, and the homes of Dr. Charles W. Gilkey, Vice President Frederic Woodward, and Prof. B. G. Nelson.

ROBBER'S BAIL SET AT $180,000.

Frank Koehler, 39 years old, 1021 West Division street, who was captured by the police as he fled from a butcher shop at 2387 North Clark street, after a robbery, was held to the grand jury yesterday in $180,000 bonds by Judge John H. Lyle in the Felony court.

COURT SWELLS YULE JOYS OF MUSICAL RICCIS

Boy Violinist and Kin Visit City.

On Monday the New York Supreme court returned 10 year old Ruggiero Ricci, violin prodigy, and his 9 year old brother, Giorgio, to the custody of their parents. Yesterday the entire Ricci family, nine in all, tumbled off the Lake Shore Limited at the La Salle street station and into the arms of their Chicago benefactors, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Bartlett.

Ruggiero and Giorgio rushed into the arms of Mrs. Bartlett for an affectionate greeting, while Mr. Bartlett, shaking hands with the boys' father, Pietro Ricci, a former United States bandmaster, counted the noses to be sure his guests had all debarked.

Extended litigation between the two boys' parents and their guardian, Miss Beth Lackey of San Francisco, finally was settled when the New York court directed Miss Lackey to relinquish the custody of the young musicians. Claims of the parents, which were backed by the Bartletts, were to the effect that the boys' talents were being exploited through public appearances not conducive to their health.

Mr. Bartlett, who had supported the family for the last three years, withdrew his financial aid when he found that Miss Lackey had obtained a contract giving her half the boys' earnings until they come of age.

THREE EMPLOYES DISCHARGED BY POWER GROUP

Washington, D. C., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Demands for a reconsideration of the senate's confirmation of three members of the power commission arose today close behind the dismissal of three commission employés.

In their first day of operations the only three members of the commission who yet have taken the oath of office—Chairman George Otis Smith, Marcel Garsaud, and Claude L. Draper—discharged F. E. Bonner, executive secretary of the commission; Charles A. Russell, its solicitor, and William V. King, the chief accountant.

Protests arose on Capitol hill against the discharge of Russell and King, and hurried conferences in the senate resulted.

Senators and members of the house, both Republicans and Democrats, condemned the dismissal of "able public servants."

Under the senate rules the votes by which the commissioners themselves were confirmed last week can be reconsidered, and Senator Brookhart [Rep., Ia.] announced he would move to reconsider the vote by which Draper was confirmed. He had voted against Smith and Garsaud. Brookhart's action was soon sponsored by Senators Borah [Rep., Idaho], Norris [Rep., Neb.], Nye [Rep., N. D.], Wheeler [Dem., Mont.], and Dill [Dem., Wash.].

ITALIAN AIR FLEET IN RIO DE ORO ON FLIGHT TO BRAZIL

VILLA CISNEROS, Rio de Oro, Dec. 23. — (AP) — The fleet of Italian seaplanes flying to South America under command of Air Minister Italo Balbo arrived here today from Kenitra, Morocco.

From Villa Cisneros the planes will fly to Bolama, Portuguese Guinea, and will take off from there across the Atlantic to Rio de Janeiro. Fourteen planes are making the trip down the coast. Twelve of them will attempt the trans-Atlantic flight.

TOO POOR, SO HE OFFERS TO GIVE CHILDREN AWAY

But Christmas'll Be Merry After All.

Wellsville, Kas., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The lights of a gayly decorated Christmas tree will shine tomorrow night through the window in which Tom Dorsey, cobbler and student of the philosophers, hung up last week the sign:

"Children to Give Away.
Can't Afford to Feed Them Longer."

And little David, 3, who sobbed in his father's arms; "You're not going to give me away, are you, daddy?" will be there with five of his brothers and sisters Christmas morning to draw a little red wagon from the pile of red wrapped packages beneath the tree and say, like tiny Tim, "God bless us every one."

Tends Motherless Brood.

The sign was a last resort for Dorsey after the task of washing, cooking and sewing for his motherless flock had eaten into his time for work so much that returns were slim. The county had refused aid because his three oldest boys were not a work. He had refused to send the children to an orphanage because that, to him, meant permanent separation, saying:

"Nothing doing. I'm just lending my babies out for awhile. I'm just trying to keep them fed and warm until things break."

It brought results for all the little ones. Mary Louise, 8, went to the finest house in town. A veterinarian took Lola May, 10. David went to the motherly arms of Mrs. Purl Russell. The seventh child, Mildred, 6, will have a real Christmas, too, away from home, with a family in Kansas City, Kas., which wanted a little girl to entertain during the holidays.

Aunt Plays Santa Claus.

After the little ones had gone to homes where Santa was scheduled to call, Mrs. Florence McKaig of Fayette, Mo., their aunt, arrived with the Christmas tree and arms filled with packages. So, except Mildred, they will be home Christmas day. There will be other packages from neighbors with children of their own and purses none too full but hands that can cook and sew.

And Tom Dorsey, who can quote at length from the philosophers whose works he reads while he works at his last, will smile through the tears as he tacks on soles for people who have saved a little of the cream money to pay his reduced rates to keep themselves and their children shod.

GERMAN SANTA MAY BE THIN, BUT HE'S ON JOB

He'll Carry Necessities, Few Luxuries.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 23.—"Economy, nothing but economy, is what people think of," an irate department store chief today told THE TRIBUNE correspondent, who sought to discover what Berlin was buying this year for Christmas.

Where last year, rows of tin soldiers, electric trains, and dolls glittered in a dazzling display, tables full of small penny toys and their ilk are laid out for the shoppers this year. In one of the big halls, where Santa Claus formerly held court, electrical appliances are being shown to tempt the busy hausfrau, who feels that electricity will help her get along without the traditional maid. Maids are cheap, but one must feed them.

Buy "Inside Out" Dresses.

How the Germans are saving can be seen in the department stores. The dress, which can be turned inside out and worn on the other side when it begins to look shabby, is one of the great attractions in the stores which feature low price rather than extravagant novelty.

The soberly clad German business man may be wearing a new pair of spats over his black shoes the day after Christmas, to judge by recent purchases. Spats are cheap. Perhaps he will get a few wing collars for everyday wear. The workman is likely to get a new cap or a jacket—or a sausage. The wife will get something practical—no luxury.

Children to Get Funny Toys.

Still, the humorous and extravagant German fancy for the grotesque has not been benumbed. There are toys which make one stop and laugh.

University students talk mostly of cash gifts. They want sweaters, mufflers, lined gloves, ice skates, even skis.

The German Christmas is first, last, and always a children's holiday. They will be remembered.

KING CAROL BARS HIS EX-WIFE FROM YULE PARTY FOR THEIR SON

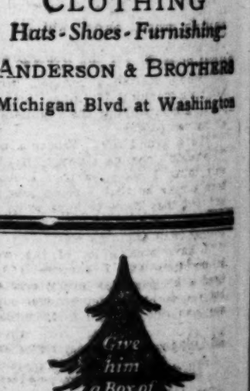
BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 23.—(AP)—The long heralded family conference of the Rumanian royal house, at which the status of Queen Helene was to have been settled, has been postponed, said advices today from Rumania.

On the basis of word here from Rumanian sources, the differences between Carol and his queen have reached a critical stage. One report said that he had asked her to leave the country. Another one, not confirmed, declared that King George of England had sent a sharp message to Carol telling him that unless he changed his attitude toward Helene and the dowager Queen Marie the royal ladies would be invited to make their homes in England.

Helene, it is said, when asked by Carol to leave Rumania declared she would do so only if the young prince, Michael, heir to the throne, were surrendered to her. Carol is then said to have relented, assuring her she might remain, but that she must live as a private person.

Helene temporarily accepted this condition, giving up a plan to visit her mother, the former Queen Sophia of Greece, in Germany, in the hopes of spending Christmas with Michael, it is declared.

This part of her program failed, however, as she was not invited to attend the Christmas party at Rumanian palace, where Carol will have as his guests his mother; his sister, Princess Ileana, and his brother, Prince Nicholas, as well as Michael.



This trick of what to give him is easy to learn in our store!

Just make a selection from our holiday gift array, and his own appreciation of fine things will do the rest.

WOMAN IS IDOL OF HARD BOILED FOREIGN LEGION

Wounded Twice, Carries Half Dozen Medals.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALICANTE, Spain, Dec. 23.—Wherever the foreign legion goes a buxom woman named Vincenta Blasco Rubio goes too. She was up on the Moroccan front all during the Riff war and when the first of the "bordera" legion rushed across from Africa to answer King Alfonso's S O S, Vincenta came along.

Officially she is the keeper of the regiment's canteen, but in the imagination of the soldiers she symbolizes the whole spirit of the legion. She has half a dozen medals which she earned under fire caring for the wounded on the front lines, or by risking her life in carrying a swig to some lonely advanced outpost. She has been wounded twice.

Tells of Her Adventures.

She has installed a temporary canteen near the legion's barracks here. Vincenta and her mustachioed husband, José, who is an old legionnaire himself, told some anecdotes of their picturesque careers and furnished inside information about one of the most romantic organizations in the world.

In the middle of the tale there was a blast of martial music and a company of legionnaires came marching by with the men in the front ranks holding their chins high, and with a swing of the right hand across the chest as they went along. Following behind them was a squad of machine gunners, striding along with ease under the weight of their heavy automatic rifles or cartridge boxes. In bearing they suggested our own marines. They looked fresh and full of pep, despite a solid day of marching.

Rebels Wilt Before Legion.

Vincenta beamed with pride.

"That," she said, "is the legion. We have not had to fire one shot since we came here. Just the words, 'El Tercio,' and it takes all the bite out of those revolutionary boys. The troopers of the local garrison, who were ready to revolt at any minute when we arrived, are meek as lambs now."

Whiskered José spoke up:

"You know that the men in the Spanish legion are very carefully picked. This is a soldier's army, not a refuge for jail birds or busted adventurers."

This was a dig at the French foreign legion. In the field the French and Spanish can work hand in glove together, and in any port the soldiers of "El Tercio" will rally to the French war cry, "A moi la legion," but each organization pretends to look down upon the other.

Tells Why He Joined Up.

"Don't you have any jail birds in the Spanish legion?" José was asked.

"Well, I don't say but that a number of the boys have had a misunderstanding with the law at one time or another. There is a little knifing scrape with which I had something to do on my own entrance into the legion. But in the main it is made up of men who just like soldiering and who want to join up with some outfit where they can fight under good officers and get good treatment."

"That's right," put in Vincenta. "You can trust a legionnaire any time, no matter what may have been his private life. I have never refused any of our boys credit in my bar and and I have never found one who did not square up when he had the money."

Vincenta Likes the Life.

Vincenta told how she came to go to Africa twenty years ago as a cabaret dancer. She met José and it was love at first sight. When his service with the Legion was finished the couple started a canteen, which has been running for more than ten years, accompanying the regiment in all its campaigns.

"It's a grand life," Vincenta said. "I wouldn't change a day of it. The only thing I regret is that I wasn't born a man so that I could join myself, but they have to have some one to take care of them and I'd rather do that than anything else.

"I have seen a lot of the world in my time and I suppose I have lived a bit just like every one else, but you can say I have never kissed any man who was not a legionnaire."

Congressman Weds Ex-Waitress

[Pacific and Atlantic Photo.]

REP. TIMBERLAKE WEDS WAITRESS, A YOUNG WIDOW

Married by Chaplain of House.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 23.—(AP)—White haired, wealthy Representative Charles B. Timberlake of Colorado and Mrs. Roberta Wood Elliott, a youthful widowed former waitress, were married tonight at a simple ceremony.

The Rev. Dr. James Shera Montgomery, the house chaplain, had to wait for them while the 32 year old bride gave vivacious repartee to wisecracking news photographers, but she remarked it did not matter.

"We want to be late," the bride explained. "We wouldn't be fashionable if we weren't."

Pose for Camera Men.

The 75 year old bridegroom and his bride surrendered themselves to the news cameras in a specially equipped room in a fashionable hotel.

The wedding gown was white crêpe, sleeveless, studded with sequins. The bride's blue eyes sparkled; her brown hair was smoothly waved. She wore her wedding gift—a long rope of pearls—and a diamond studded wrist watch over her long white gloves.

As they posed a camera man said to Timberlake, who was still solemn of mien:

"I'm going to get a friendly look on your face if I have to break a leg."

"He wants you to grin," the bride smiled, looking up over her shoulder, "as you never grinned before."

Bride Conjures a Smile.

The representative smiled.

The ordeal done, the bride was pressed for details of the romance.

"O, you mean how long has this been going on?" she returned. "About four months."

The bridal party included Mrs. Louise Hill, sister of Mrs. Elliott; Glenn O. Hiatt, the representative's secretary, and many women who had worked with Mrs. Elliott at the census bureau, where she had been more lately employed.

The honeymoon trail led to North Carolina, the bride's home, for a visit with her parents, before a cruise in southern waters during the holidays. They will return about Jan. 6. Her 9 year old daughter will live with them, later, at an exclusive hotel.

11 SCHOOL EMPLOYES OUSTED; REPORT MORE MAY BE DISCHARGED

The replacement of eleven school board employés and reports that more school workers would be ousted to make way for others known to be favorable toward the city administration, caused worry yesterday for holders of the temporary "60 day" school jobs. The move was engineered by the city hall patronage committee after a survey of school pay rolls which started last Friday, school board members said.

In the group discharged yesterday were Miss Kittie Whalen, 626 North Lotus avenue, formerly a stenographer in the office of the civil service bureau, and ten engineers. The engineers are Henry Lippert, 7839 South Wabash avenue; William J. Beety, 3709 West 64th street; Charles Wexelberg, 11949 Harvard avenue; Arthur Lies, 6728 North Campbell avenue; George Reinecke, John McGurn, Edward Tipping, John Southwick, William Walter, and John Wheelock. The new appointees will start to work Monday.

A resolution introduced by Trustee Joseph P. Savage at the meeting yesterday and approved by the board provides that no one now receiving a pension either as teacher or civil service employé, may hold a position in the school system. Ernest Withall, business manager, is directed not to permit any employé to hold positions both in day and night schools. The object is to make room for persons now unemployed.

A federal census of unemployment in Chicago to obtain accurate and timely data on the number and condition of the city's jobless will be started on Jan. 15. This was made known yesterday by the experts who are mobilizing the forces that completed the 1930 census last April.

The purpose of this move is to bring the census figures up to date and the information will be tabulated for the use of President Hoover, who is seeking to learn what changes have taken place in the unemployment situation since last April.

Chicago is one of 20 cities in which the government has ordered a survey of unemployment. Among the others are greater New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, Detroit, Buffalo, St. Louis, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Spokane, New Orleans, and Minneapolis.

Use Same Enumerators.

The same method used in the nationwide census will be used in the new house-to-house canvas and a portion of the same enumerators will be employed to perform the work. Some of the census districts will be altered as to size. The questions asked will be similar to those used in the last census.

Arrangements for the work were made here by Fred Gosnell of Washington, chairman of the division of publication of the United States census bureau. He confered with Dr. B. M. Squires of the governor's commission on unemployment; Louis A. Dumond, manager of the industrial department of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and H. L. Rockhill, who directed the special census on manufacturing in 1929.

Relief Drive Advances.

Chairman Philip R. Clarke of the emergency relief fund campaign of the governor's unemployment commission, stated yesterday that the total subscriptions in the drive will likely reach the $3,000,000 mark by tonight. Last night the total figure had reached $2,841,033, with more than $2,000,000 remaining to be collected.

Among the large subscriptions yesterday were the following: Inland Steel company and employés, $20,000; Field, Glore & Co. and employés, $5,500; North American Light and Power company and employés, $4,800, and Graybar Electric company and employés, $3,600.

"We know that there are many generous subscriptions in the offing," said Mr. Clarke last night, "and we are urging our soliciting forces to get them into headquarters before we close down for Christmas."

17 PLANES BURN IN PALWAUKEE AIRPORT BLAZE

Damage Is Estimated at $122,000.

A hangar and 17 airplanes, most of them the property of well known Chicago sportsman-pilots, were destroyed yesterday in a fire at Palwaukee airport, 20 miles northwest of Chicago on Milwaukee avenue and Palatine road. The damage was estimated at $122,000.

The blaze, starting in the boiler room of the north hangar, swept through the building with such rapidity that attendants were able to save only two planes before flames reached them.

Three men, Joseph Palmeri, Mathew Thomas and Larry Nick, were at work in the hangar when the fire was discovered in the roof of the boiler room, which forms a penthouse on the main building. Capt. Duncan Hodges, general manager of the field, stated the fire started from a hot pipe which extended through the roof.

Fire Fighters Baffled.

The fire siren was sounded and fifteen airport attendants vainly tried to stem the blaze with fire extinguishers, while others threw open the doors and tried to wheel the planes to safety. The fire gained rapidly after an ember fell on the wing of a new Verville training plane, owned by Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of THE TRIBUNE.

Fred Foote, pilot of one of the planes, narrowly escaped with his life by smashing a window in a storage room and jumping to safety.

The value of the planes destroyed was estimated at $102,000 and the hangar at $20,000.

Owners of Burned Planes.

Following is a list of the owners of planes which were destroyed along with the names of their ships:

Forrest Mars, president of Mars, Inc., makers of candy, Stinson Junior; Gordon Kelley, son of William V. Kelley of Lake Forest, Stearman; Chester Foust of the advertising concern of Irwin-Wasey, Avro Avian and Waco; the Grigsby-Grunow Radio company, Bellanca Skyrocket; Fred Foote, business manager of the magazine, Life, Commandaire; Charles Swanson, architect, Stinson; John Porter, Avro-Avian; R. W. Sears, Waco; Martin L. Strauss, president of the Hartman Furniture company, Travelair; A. A. Zangara, Chicago real estate operator, Waco; Ralph Huszaugh, Chicago architect, Avro-Avian; Robert Bennett, Stinson Junior, and Col. McCormick, Verville training plane. Three planes belonging to the Palwaukee Airport company were also lost.

CHICAGO FOURTH WORLD CITY, 1930 CENSUS REVEALS

Population of Illinois Is 7,630,654.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 23.—[Special.]—Final official 1930 population figures for Illinois, made public by the census bureau today, showed that the state has 7,630,654 inhabitants, of whom 3,376,438 live in Chicago.

Numerical increases in both state and city were the largest in history.

Illinois retained its rank as the third state in the Union in point of population, New York and Pennsylvania ranking first and second. Chicago crept up on New York City, the largest city in the country. In actual numbers Chicago's increase was second to that of New York. The rate of increase, 25 per cent, however, was slightly higher than that of New York and more than three times as high as that of Philadelphia.

Fourth City in World.

Chicago, during the last decade, also stepped over Paris to become the fourth largest city in the world, only London, New York and Berlin having more inhabitants.

In 1840, the year of the first census taken after Chicago was incorporated in 1833, the place had only 4,470 inhabitants. It grew 570 per cent in the next decade and in the census taken in 1860 had 109,260 inhabitants. It passed the million mark in 1890, the two million mark in 1910 and the three million mark in 1930. During the last ten years not only did the city have its heaviest numerical gain, but the percentage of gain increased 1.4 over that of the previous decade.

Population by Wards.

The final 1930 population of Chicago by wards was announced in today's report as follows:

Ward	Population	Ward	Population
1	31,631	26	45,883
2	47,027	27	44,013
3	69,255	28	54,927
4	70,077	29	73,359
5	78,919	30	84,553
6	63,816	31	39,576
7	115,648	32	46,996
8	92,148	33	46,400
9	78,687	34	58,085
10	60,072	35	55,242
11	47,881	36	54,426
12	77,822	37	105,263
13	40,254	38	55,328
14	51,579	39	149,716
15	125,218	40	106,656
16	51,702	41	126,741
17	51,694	42	49,689
18	84,066	43	57,512
19	107,775	44	59,571
20	33,802	45	52,557
21	49,656	46	57,873
22	45,979	47	45,066
23	62,798	48	45,320
24	53,084	49	95,703
25	45,846	50	101,255

Virtually all of the population growth in Illinois centered in and around Chicago. Out of 102 counties in the state, 40 increased in population, practically all of which were in the northern part of the state. Of the eight which increased more than 25 per cent, four are located wholly or in part within the industrial area of which Chicago is the center, while the remaining all include important cities.

Du Page Shows Greatest Growth.

Cook county was shown to have a population of 3,982,123, which represents an increase of 929,106, or 30.4 per cent, over 1920.

The highest rate of increase was shown by Du Page county, which adjoins Cook county. Lake county, also adjoining Cook, had the second highest rate of increase.

The most densely settled county in the state is Cook, with 4,268.1 inhabitants to the square mile, while Pope county is the most sparsely settled.

58 More than 10,000.

There are 58 cities, towns, and villages in the state which had a population of 10,000 or more in 1930. The first ten, outside of Chicago, their rank in 1920 and 1930, their populations and percentages of growth are as follows:

Rank 1930.	Rank 1920	City.	Population 1930.	Percentage incr.
1	1	Peoria	104,969	37.9
2	2	Rockford	85,864	30.8
3	3	E. St. Louis	74,347	11.4
4	4	Springfield	71,864	21.4
5	6	Cicero	66,602	48.2
6	7	Oak Park	63,982	60.5
7	9	Evanston	63,338	70.1
8	5	Decatur	57,510	31.2
9	10	Aurora	46,589	28.0
10	8	Joliet	42,993	11.8

In the group of cities between 50,000 and 100,000, Evanston took the first prize, having both the highest rate of increase and the largest numerical gain. Of the incorporated places exceeding 10,000, Elmwood Park garnered first honors with 716.7 per cent increase, while Berwyn was second with a 232.3 per cent increase.

There are 1,129 incorporated places in Illinois, 38 being shown for the first time this year by the census bureau. The smallest incorporated place in the state is Clark City, in Kankakee county, which has only six inhabitants.

FARM BOARD CLAIMS MARKETING ACT AIDED A MILLION FARMERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 23.—[Special.]—More than a million farmers have been aided by the agricultural marketing act and producers of more than forty farm crops have been definitely assisted in selling their products, according to a bulletin issued today by the federal farm board.

Reviewing its achievements in the field of marketing since its establishment in June, 1929, the board pointed out that it has established seven national agencies, five of which already are operating, marketing grain, cotton, live stock, wool and mohair, and pecans.

"Foundations are being laid for the building of other national marketing organizations wherever they are needed," the bulletin asserted. "There are 12,000 farmer owned and controlled coöperative associations in the United States, according to estimates in June, 1930. The membership of these associations totals approximately 3,100,000, representing about 2,000,000 farmers. Some producers are members of several organizations, which accounts for the difference between the membership and the number of farmers.

Reviewing the work of the Farmers' National Grain corporation, the grain national sales agency, the bulletin declared that one-quarter of a million farmers are part owners in the organization.

"In the first three and a half months of its operations in the 1930-'31 crop year the Farmers' National Grain corporation handled over 50,000,000 bushels of grain," the bulletin said.

"Of this amount more than 40,000,000 bushels was wheat, about one-fifth of which was sold for export into eight different foreign countries."

RUSSIA ORDERS DEATH FOR 3; HID CHURCH SAVINGS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Dec. 23.—The Moscow radio tonight announced that the Supreme court of Uzbekistan, in Russian Turkistan, had sentenced to death Archpriest Grinkeivitch, the chairman of the church, Artomov, and Deacon Ivanov of the cathedral Sergie at Tashkent on a charge of hoarding small change in the church cellar.

Grinkelvitch informed the court that church members had been contributing money to purchase a new set of church bells to replace those confiscated by the soviets. The court, however, explained that according to soviet law the collection of money is legal, whereas keeping it is illegal, and that the hoarding of small change is now considered a counter-revolutionary offense.

The cheka, according to the announcer, found the money while searching Tashkent churches. It was also alleged that the archpriest's aides had been agitating against the government. The personal property of the defendants has been confiscated.

TWO POLICEMEN INDICTED FOR NARCOTIC PLOT

An indictment charging James Howland and Wellington Britton, policemen assigned to the detective bureau, and four alleged Negro dope peddlers, with conspiracy to violate the Harrison narcotic act, was returned yesterday before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

The true bill alleges that Jackie Reynolds and James Claiborne met James Campbell and Billy Poole on Dec. 13 to buy 18 ounces of morphine from them. Policeman Howland, who is colored, arrived later, it is alleged, and confiscated the morphine. Howland tried to sell the narcotic, it is charged, and visited the other Negroes a second time, in company with Britton, promising Reynolds and Claiborne $300 each from the proceeds.

Britton and Howland have been suspended from the police force.

CITY FACES LOSS IN DELAYED SALE OF WATER BONDS

Option Offering Premium Is Withdrawn.

Victor S. Petterson, deputy city controller, informed the council finance committee yesterday that Halsey, Stuart & Co. has withdrawn its option to purchase $10,997,000 worth of city water certificates. When the company took a sixty day option in October it offered a premium of $85,000, but if the certificates are sold now the city will have to take a discount, in the opinion of Petterson.

It was brought out also that the city must sell the certificates by Jan. 1 in order to take advantage of the legislative authority to issue them. Plans have been made to spend the money and employés have been added to the pay rolls by Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe in the expectation of the money.

Municipal Bonds Flood Market.

One of the reasons for the withdrawal of the option, according to Petterson, is that the market is glutted with municipal securities now. He said that about a billion dollars' worth of municipal securities have been dumped on the market since the November elections when bond issues were approved all over the country.

"Adverse publicity on real estate values because of the reassessment and other factors have affected the city's securities," said Petterson. "Although these certificates are redeemable from the revenues from the sale of water the reduction of real estate values has had an effect on the certificates also. Tax anticipation warrants, for instance, are down about three points."

In answer to questions of Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [46th], Petterson said he believes that it is a question of policy to be decided by Wolfe whether the city should sell the entire issue or only a portion of it under the existing market conditions.

Sees Better Market in Spring.

"I don't think that they can spend the whole ten imillion in one year," said Petterson, "and, anyway, the legislative enactment gives the city authority to sell $3,000,000 worth each year. I think there will be another good municipal securities market next year between March and July. As for the bond issues approved on Nov. 4 it would be best to wait until the last minute before the money is needed to sell."

"Did the statement of Barrett and Litsinger [Charles V. Barrett and Edward R. Litsinger, members of the board of review] that they are going to cut land values approximately 20 per cent hurt our securities so that the city will lose about $500,000?" asked Ald. Nelson.

"It will cost the city from one to one and a half per cent in increased interest that will have to be offered to market securities," answered Petterson. "I think that the loss to the city will be more than $500,000."

BANDITS TORTURE PRIEST TO DEATH; PUT OUT HIS EYES

SHANGHAI, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Details of the death of Father Marcus Ho, Chinese Catholic priest, at the hands of Chinese Communist bands in the mountainous southeast Hupeh province, have been received here.

The priest was driven out of his parish in November, but returned to rescue his vestments and sacred vessels. Communists seized him when he arrived at the mission station and stripped and beat him unmercifully.

Then they blinded him with lime and led him a short distance from the station wtih a rope tied around his neck with which they slowly strangled him. He was buried without a coffin.

First Draft of Canal Budget Shows Cut of Seven Million

The preliminary draft of the 1931 sanitary district budget, which has been in the hands of the finance committee for several weeks, was submitted yesterday to the board. Ross A. Woodhull, chairman of the finance committee, pointed out that a saving of $7,000,000 over the 1930 budget had been effected.

Submission of the preliminary form was a legal formality, because the finance committee is composed of all board members. The board, however, has indicated that there will be several important amendments in the final draft. The budget must be adopted before Jan. 30.

Budget Set at $57,438,778.

The preliminary draft calls for the expenditure of $57,438,778 for all departments, plus $16,300,000 which will be used for parts of the 1932 building program and is not considered a part of the 1931 budget proper. The 1930 budget was for $64,000,000. Although the only definite item listed for 1932 projects is the one for $16,300,000, trustees believe that the budget will include more 1932 projects.

Preliminary figures for the 1932 budget, listed by departments, follow:

Engineering	$43,509,270
Law	1,527,138
Clerical	244,270
Treasurer	8,700
Trustees	90,800
General fixed charges	2,558,600
Retirement of bonds and interest	26,000,000
Total	$73,738,778

The $73,738,778 total includes the $16,300,000 building item for 1932.

It is expected that $48,855,000 in bonds will be issued during the year. Of this amount $9,455,000 remains from the $27,000,000 issue authorized by the legislature for issuance without referendum. The remainder will be placed on the February ballot.

The bonds will be dated for sale as follows: $9,455,000, Jan. 1; $23,100,000, April 1; $16,300,000, Dec. 1. The bond issue is for two years.

Increase Tax Warrant Rate.

The trustees voted to increase interest offered on tax anticipation warrants from 5½ per cent to 6 per cent. Chairman Woodhull submitted a report from Frank O. Birney, district treasurer, saying bankers were reluctant to accept warrants at the lower rate of interest.

A possible reduction in real estate assessments, in some cases approaching 25 per cent, which is under consideration by the board of review, was given as the reason for the demand for a higher interest rate. The 1930 anticipation warrants were drawn up on an anticipated income based on the 1928 assessment.

On Dec. 27, $100,000 in warrants for corporate funds will be issued and on Jan. 1, $1,550,000 in warrants will be sold for retirement of bonds. These will earn 6 per cent. Previously $3,480,700 were sold for retirement of bonds and $1,260,000 for corporate expenses, both issues drawing 5½ per cent. A total of $6,390,700 in 1930 warrants will have been sold with the January offering.

Number of German Jobless Jumps 278,000 in 15 Days

BERLIN, Dec. 23.—(AP)—The number of unemployed persons in Germany rose 278,000 to 3,977,000 in the first fifteen days of December, according to estimates made public today. This was 1,600,000 more than on Jan. 15, 1929. In the fifteen day period those out of work receiving relief increased by 195,000 to 2,549,000.

MILK SURPLUS BRINGS CHANGE IN FARM CONTRACT

Producers Accept New Basis for Pay.

BY PAUL POTTER.

The nation wide overproduction of milk and dairy products and curtailed consumption in the Chicago region has caused a change in the agreement between milk dealers and producers here, it was announced yesterday.

Don Geyer, manager of the Pure Milk association, representing the 15,000 farms from which milk comes to Chicago and sixteen nearby cities, declared that the farmers had concluded they should accept a change in the payment plan. The change reduces their milk checks through an adjustment based on the decline from normal consumption. No reduction is made in the price paid farmers for the milk that is sold retail and no reduction is made in the price to consumers.

Market Sets Surplus Price.

Producers who are members of the association have been paid $2.67 per hundred pounds, or about 47 quarts, for their average production—the average being based on the amount they sell during the months of September, November, and December preceding. For all milk produced above this amount, called the surplus, they are paid according to a formula based on the price of 92 score butter in New York.

Under the plan of payment announced yesterday to be in force until further notice, the farmers will be paid the $2.67 per 100 pounds for but 90 per cent of their fall average. This in effect means that 10 per cent of the milk they have been supplying for consumption as whole milk or cream is being changed over into the "surplus" which is made into butter, cheese, or other by-products.

"Production in this area seems to be remaining constant now," said Dr. F. D. Walmsley, president of Borden's Farm Products company, and spokesman for the distributors. "Likewise consumption decline seems to have reached the bottom. We estimate this decline has been about 10 per cent from the normal Chicago consumption of milk and cream."

Contracts between dealers and wagon drivers remain unchanged, although the decline in consumption has cut the commissions of drivers for the extra products sold over their quota. According to R. C. Fitchie, manager of the milk wagon drivers union, few men have been laid off.

INDIANS ATTACK TOWN IN BRAZIL AND MASSACRE 21

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Dec. 23.—Reports were received today from the city of Maraba, situated in the distant primeval hinterland, that the Indians have attacked a town called Cardoso. A small group of the Indians first entered, pretending to be friendly. They were followed by large numbers who massacred 21 persons. Three children were carried away as captives. Troops have been rushed but it will take them eight days, traveling by river and road to reach the scene of attack.

BRITISH OFFICIAL SHOT BY YOUNG INDIA ASSASSIN

Punjab Governor Hurt; Police Inspector Slain.

[Copyright, 1930: By the New York Times.]
LAHORE, Dec. 23.—Sir Geoffrey de Montmorency, the governor of Punjab, was fired at and wounded when visiting the University of Lahore today. His condition is not serious, but Ishwar Singh, sub-inspector of police, was fatally wounded during the attack and an Indian woman doctor and a constable injured.

The governor, as chancellor of the university, had attended a convocation and delivered an address. As he approached an exit at the end of the ceremony, a youth among the visitors opened fire at a range of five yards with a revolver. The first three bullets missed the governor, but wounded the woman doctor in the abdomen, Singh, the sub-inspector, who died later, in the jaw, and a constable in the leg.

Walks to His Home.

Hearing the shots, the governor stepped forward, but three more rounds were fired at him as he passed out the door, wounding him in the arm and back. He was removed to the waiting room where he was examined, and then taken to a hospital where his wounds were dressed.

The Punjab government, in an official report, states that the governor was hit in the fleshy part of his left upper arm, and also received a bullet on his back, adding that he was able to walk to the government house after treatment, his condition giving no cause for anxiety.

Three men were taken into custody, of only one, who was in possession of a revolver containing 6 exploded shells, was detained. He is said to be a Hindu student. The European police are being heavily guarded by armed police tonight.

Sick Rebel Leader Freed.

ALLAHABAD, British India, Dec. 23.—(AP)—The Indian government today ordered the unconditional release from prison of Pundit Madan Mohan Malaviya, one of the most prominent of the Nationalist leaders, because of his health.

WOMEN PLEAD UNITY

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
LONDON, Dec. 23. — The men of India having failed to reach an agreement on the quarrel between the Hindus and Moslems, it remained for the women of India today to make an eloquent appeal for unity. The occasion was the first meeting of the minorities subcommittee of the Indian round table conference, which followed the breakdown of the final effort of the Hindu-Moslem committees to reach an agreement.

This committee sat until 4 a. m. today but failed to agree on the shares of representation in the Indian legislatures, state and federal, which are expected to be established under a new constitution. Each side blames the other, the Hindus saying the Moslems, with promises of support from the British, are constantly increasing their demands. The Moslems charge the Hindus are trying to secure even more power than their preponderance of numbers entitles them.

Woman Makes Her Appeal.

The minorities committee, which must settle the question, is presided over by Prime Minister MacDonald. He appealed to the Indians to end the row among themselves. Then came the Begum Shan Nawaz, the beautiful Moslem woman, who ten years ago was in purdah—veiled—and who is now one of the leaders of the progressive women of India. She said:

"You have come 7,000 miles and are making tremendous sacrifices for the sake of your country. Your object is to be master in your own home. I want you to think that the success of the mission lies in Hindu-Moslem unity. You are brothers in the flesh and blood, born on one soil, living side by side, working and enjoying life together. To my Hindu brothers I say generosity to the Moslem brothers. Generosity means gratitude, and when one gives with love the other can't help giving with love in return. The majority can well afford to be generous.

"To the Moslem brothers I make an earnest appeal not to be too exacting. If the Hindu brothers are not generous it is for the Moslems to show they know how to be generous. As sisters we expect it of you, as daughters we beg of you and as mothers we demand it of you to come to a settlement."

Hindu Woman Responds.

The begum was supported by Mrs. Subbarayan, a representative of the Hindu women, who said:

"As a woman my first thoughts are directed toward our children and for the future generations. We should take care not to introduce anything into our consitution which will foster and increase the differences which unfortunately exist today. I earnestly appeal to my fellow delegates to realize our responsibilities to the generations of the future."

The conference adjourned today until next Monday for the Christmas holidays.

FRANK C. PARTRIDGE, BUSINESS MAN, GETS VERMONT SENATE TOGA

Montpelier, Vt., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Frank C. Partridge, 65, business man and lawyer, today was named by Gov. John E. Weeks to fill the vacancy created by the death last Wednesday of United States Senator Frank L. Greene.

Partridge, a Republican, will occupy the senate seat until a successor is elected. A special election was ordered by the governor today to be held March 31.

Partridge, a native of East Middlebury and now a resident of Proctor, is president of the Vermont Marble company.

GRAND JURORS QUIZ HELEN KANE ON $40,000 DEAL

New York, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Miss Helen Kane, musical comedy boop-boop-a-dooper, whose friend, Murray J. Posner of the bankrupt Bond Dress company, says he paid her $40,000 so she could lend him $100,000—which she didn't—told a grand jury today her side of the transaction.

An unsympathetic court is holding in escrow the Liberty bonds it is alleged the singer bought with the money until their real ownership is settled.

Today's hearing was private, Miss Kane wouldn't talk afterwards, nor would officials.

Miss Kane testified recently before a bankruptcy referee that Posner gave her the $40,000 shortly before the Bond Dress concern failed because she had lent it to the concern and she wanted the money back as an evidence of good faith before she would lend him $100,000 to tide him over difficulties.

The Irving Trust company, as receiver, has charged the payment was a discrimination against other creditors of the company.

GIFT WILLED TO CHURCH LOST BY DROP IN STOCKS

The estate of Charles Harding Sullivan, former director and vice president of the Board of Trade, was closed yesterday before John P. Carey, assistant to Probate Judge Henry Horner. The final accounting of the estate revealed that a residuary bequest of $250,000 to Catholic charitable institutions had been erased in the stock market decline.

The estate is valued at $1,163,950 and consists of $250,000 in real estate and the remainder in securities. The estate paid $250,000 in state and federal inheritance and income taxes. Under the will the estate is left to three brothers, three nephews, a niece, and several friends. Mr. Sullivan died on Oct. 9, 1929.

Two Arrested Charged with Spreading Scare.

New York, Dec. 23.—[Special.]—The Chelsea Bank and Trust company was closed today by Joseph A. Broderick, state superintendent of banks, after runs on the main office of the bank at 20 East 45th street and its six branches—marked in some instances by rioting—had threatened the stability of the institution.

The runs were attributed by officials of the bank to unfounded and malicious rumors for which communists, among others, were held responsible. Investigation of the rumors were begun by the state's attorney general, District Attorney Crane and the police department. Another investigation was considered likely by the federal authorities.

Watson Washburn, assistant attorney general, issued a statement warning that all those responsible for such rumors would be prosecuted.

Two Men Arrested.

Michael Melrose, restaurant manager, and Thomas Lodge, music composer, were arrested on a charge of circulating false rumors in connection with the run on the bank.

Mr. Broderick would not discuss the bank's affairs pending a closer investigation, beyond saying that he was compelled to close its doors following heavy withdrawals.

The National City bank had sought to aid the Chelsea bank to the extent of several million dollars. The Chelsea Bank company was not a member of either the federal reserve system or of the Clearing House association and the National City bank was its correspondent.

The bank had more than 40,000 depositors and gross deposits as of Nov. 14 of $23,923,000.

The deposits had shrunk in the last few weeks to around $16,000,000, it was said.

Lawyer Tells of Plot.

David Brady, counsel for the bank, declared the false rumors had for their deliberate purposes the stampeding of depositors.

"We have evidence that at least 100 depositors were called up on the telephone and advised to take their money out of the bank," he said.

Louis H. Rothchild, vice president of the bank and son of Edward S. Rothchild, the president, when asked shortly before the arrival of Mr. Broderick's order what preparations the bank had made to meet the demands of depositors, which, by that time, had besieged the institution and its branches in crowds, said:

"Money talks. The money is there. Let them come and get it. We will pay out as long as the demands for money continue."

Miami Bank Closes.

Miami, Fla., Dec. 23.—(AP)—The City bank of Miami Beach, which underwent a heavy run yesterday following the closing of the City National bank in Miami, did not open this morning.

The bank had a capital stock of $100,000, surplus of $50,000, and deposits of $600,000 at the last call.

One Bank Beats Run.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 23.—(AP)—A run that started on the Franklin Trust company yesterday after the announcement that the Bankers Trust company had voluntarily closed its doors to conserve its assets, began to subside today, bank officials announced.

Officers of Lincoln Park Board Re-elected

Warren Wright was reëlected president of the Lincoln park board yesterday at the annual meeting of the trustees. Sheldon Clark, vice president; Edwin L. Read, auditor; H. O. Weege, superintendent; Col. William H. Beckman, attorney; George Woodruff, treasurer, and Miss Lida M. Thomas, secretary, also were reëlected by a unanimous vote.

STRAWN BACK FROM EUROPE; TELLS OF CONDITIONS ABROAD

Attorney and Mrs. Silas H. Strawn returned from Europe yesterday where they had gone to attend the meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce in Paris. Mr. Strawn headed the American delegation.

Mr. Strawn said that the worldwide depression shows no signs of ending soon, as the entire continent, save France, is in straitened circumstances.

"France, however," he said, "has a large gold reserve and suffers less from unemployment than England, for example. England's unemployment problem is perhaps not so apparent as ours here, and this is because of the dole system. Through it, however, they are merely staying the day, and it will be very melancholy, I fear, when that day comes.

"In this country we have weathered 17 depressions in 120 years, and seven of these in the last 55 years. The present one is worse because it is worldwide in extent. The only thing we can do is to remain courageous and hopeful."

RAILWAYS DELAY ROAD BUILDING, ENGINEERS SAY

State and county highway officials yesterday attended a meeting at the Palmer House to discuss ways to speed up action on the two year $19,000,000 gasoline tax road program for the Chicago district. In the opinion of those present the greatest cause for delay is what was described as dilatory tactics of the railroads regarding grade separations.

The conference was called by H. H. Cleaveland, director of public works for the state, and those attending included: For the state, Frank T. Sheets, highway engineer, and H. F. Surman, highway design engineer; for Cook county, Commissioner William Busse and George A. Quinlan, superintendent of highways; for Du Page county, E. L. Gates, county highway engineer, and two commissioners, and for Lake county, R. M. Lobdell, superintendent of highways. A citizens' committee was represented by Robert Kingery of the Regional Planning association.

The two year program provides for the paving and widening of 244 miles of road. Of this, 100 miles have already been completed and about 35 miles are under contract. This leaves 109 miles of roads in the Chicago region to be improved through the use of gasoline tax funds.

All attending the meeting urged that work on the unfinished portion of the program be started by March or April.

Check Passer Uses Woman as Police Fire; She's Hurt

Granite City, Ill., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Elmer Cooper, 42, was shot tonight by Steve Waters, Granite City policeman, when an escaping suspect at woh Waters fired seized the woman and used her as a shield. Mrs. Cooper's wound is not serious. The suspect at whom the policeman fired had attempted to cash a check at a department store. He fled when Waters entered the store.

VIENNA PUTS IN BID TO GET 1932 DISARM PARLEY

See Move to Change Seat of League of Nations.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
PARIS, Dec. 23.—The initial step in a movement toward removing the league of nations from Switzerland to another country came today when it was announced that the burgomaster in Vienna, together with the Austrian League of Nations society, have formally invited the league council, which is to meet on Jan. 19, to hold the world disarmament conference of 1932 in the Austrian capital.

Vienna Wants to House League.

The Austrian government did not participate in the invitation out of diplomatic deference to the Swiss government. Vienna for a long time has been a candidate for the seat of the league, and will use this opportunity because it is estimated that Geneva lacks hotels and boarding houses enough to accommodate the 5,000 delegates, experts, secretaries, attachés and journalists who will attend the disarmament conference.

It is considered here that the transfer of this conference would foreshadow the switching of the location of the league.

French See Benefits.

Although the French are reluctant to see the league transferred to a former enemy country, there are several compensations. First, it is believed that if the league had its seat at Vienna, it would seriously cripple the anschluss movement, and probably dissipate all the danger of Germany and Austria ever merging.

Second, Switzerland's jealousy of its strict neutrality and its apprehensions prevent France and the little entente from realizing their pet dream of an international force, under the league aegis and led by French generals, to enforce peace. It is believed Austria would consent to such a project.

LOOP SHOPPERS SEE POLICEMAN SHOOT ROBBER

Late shoppers in the heart of the loop were startled early last evening when Traffic Policeman Frank Finn fired three shots at a Negro who had seized a package of money from a pedestrian. The fugitive was shot through the back and captured.

Harry Kemp, 1331 South Kedzie avenue, manager of one of Klein's Rapid Shoe Repair shops at 14 North Clark street, was carrying the package containing $148 to the Klein company's central offices at 32 West Monroe street, when the robber grabbed it from under his arm near Dearborn and Monroe streets.

Kemp called for help and Policeman Finn took up the chase and opened fire when the thief ran into the open street to avoid the crowds on the sidewalk. At the Bridewell hospital he was identified as Charles D. Cummings, 25 years old, 5504 South Michigan avenue. Doctors said the wound might prove fatal.

You Can Save 20%
on Your Automobile Insurance

Automobile insurance is one of the benefits available to members of the Chicago Motor Club. Every year this department returns a cash saving to subscribers.

Last year this return amounted to $711,332.11. Many members save enough to pay their annual tire bills. The Inter-Insurance Exchange always has returned 20% of the amount paid the "exchange" for insurance coverage.

In addition to the cash saving to subscribers, other features will appeal to you. For example, most insurance policies exclude coverage on tires and accessories; yet it is far more likely that a thief will steal your spare tire than that your car will be stolen. The "exchange" does cover accessories and at no additional cost.

The "valued form" policy is still another feature that accounts for the growth of the "exchange." In the event of total loss, you are paid the face value of your policy, the amount upon which you have paid insurance.

The "exchange" settles claims quickly and satisfactorily. Claims are not referred to a distant "higher up." Home office service, and other features explain why insurance sales in 1929 amounted to approximately four million dollars. The policy issued covers you anywhere in the United States or Canada.

A few of the services available to members are:

Free mechanical first aid and towing service at any hour of the day or night.

Travel service, which provides you with maps, logs and the most complete and up to the minute advice on road conditions.

Bail bond service, which guarantees your appearance in traffic violation cases, where a bond not in excess of $100 is demanded.

Accident prevention work, which seeks to cut accidents, especially among school children, by means of safety posters and by fostering school boy patrols.

Home district service, which attends to special conditions around your home, such as seeing to it that refuse is promptly removed.

Sixty-four branches: 34 downstate; 30 in Cook county.

ON THE TREE FROM SECRETARY HURLEY.

Illinois and the midwest have received a substantial Christmas gift from Secretary of War Hurley and his chief of engineers, Gen. Brown. The official shears have cut through the red tape of bureau routine. Contractors within a week will have specifications for work on the Dresden Heights lock and dam, with the promise of award in thirty days. This means not only that the final stage of the Illinois waterway has actually begun but that a million two hundred thousand dollars will be spent before July 1.

This is practical and substantial unemployment relief of the kind greatly needed at this moment and it is public economy in getting a great public improvement on its way to completion. It reflects encouraging light upon the quality of leadership in the war department under this vigorous western man, and will certainly have the grateful appreciation of the west, as it deserves that of the nation in whose interest the great project of inland waterway development has been conceived and adopted.

A GLANCE AT THE KELLY BILL.

References to a bill bearing the name of Congressman Kelly of Pennsylvania are to be found here and there in the records of congress for a number of years. The bill is intended "to protect trade-mark owners, distributors, and the public against injurious and uneconomic practices in the distribution of articles of standard quality under a distinguishing trade-mark, brand, or name." The present congress has the bill under consideration. The considerable political influence of a number of associations of independent retail merchants is being exerted on behalf of the measure.

The bill would permit the seller of a trade-marked article to fix the price at which it must be resold. Thus, a manufacturer of tooth paste might require that any dealers who bought his product would have to sell it for no less than 50 cents a tube. The Supreme court some years ago ruled that such contracts fixing resale prices were illegal and the bill is intended to circumvent that decision.

The associations of retailers have indorsed the bill because they believe it will wound the chain stores at a sensitive point. It is charged that chain stores offer certain well known articles as "leaders" at well below a profitable price, simply to attract customers to their stores. The chain store takes a loss on the "leader," but makes it up by taking more than a fair profit on other items which the customer, once in the store, is induced to buy. This is characterized as unfair competition to be corrected by permitting the manufacturer to fix a price below which his article cannot be sold in any store.

There is no need to go into the question of the fairness of the practice complained of. The fact is that inducements to enter a shop are as old as commerce, and there is no reason to suppose that if one inducement is taken away another will not be found to replace it. If the chain drug store, for example, were not permitted to offer tooth paste at a reduction, it would offer sodas at 3 cents and no law governing resale prices could prevent it from doing so. A dealer determined to obtain sales volume can always exercise his ingenuity to obtain it. Lawmakers will find themselves continually a jump behind the inventiveness of shrewd merchandisers.

The framers of the law did recognize that merchants must be permitted to clear their shelves from time to time of excess stocks, and the law accordingly permits the retailer to sell damaged goods, unseasonable goods, and discontinued lines below the agreed price. All of these categories present nice questions of interpretation. Are bathing suits to be regarded as out of season in July, when the first demand has passed, or in October, when the swimming season closes? What is the precise moment at which the travel season ends, the moment when trade-marked wardrobe trunks may be sold at reduced prices? These are questions which defy an accurate answer. The bill invites evasions.

The measure is typical of much legislation, enacted and proposed. A well organized group finds that it is hampered in its competition with others possessed of larger resources. It seeks to correct the balance by enacting a law to hamper the other fellow in some other way. It is often difficult to find a means of achieving the end which will stand review in the courts. Accordingly the object is approached indirectly. These laws seldom achieve their goals, and they often entail unforeseen consequences. For example, the anti-trust laws did not halt the formation of great business combinations, but they did go far to promote wasteful exploitation of some of our natural resources like petroleum.

The same kind of result may be expected of the Kelly bill. Restricting the freedom of dealers in devising merchandising policies is likely to produce one of two results: either the chain stores will devise other means of achieving the same result or the cost of doing business will be increased with consequent increases in costs to consumers. We can see only a fugitive advantage in the bill for independent dealers and none for the public.

THE CHILDREN'S CHORUS.

It is not our business to intrude on Mr. Moore's department, and we shall not do so. We agree whole-heartedly with his judgment on the children's chorus which sang with the Symphony orchestra on Friday and Saturday (and will do so again on the afternoon of Tuesday, Dec. 30, at Orchestra hall). The score of Pierne's oratorio, "The Children at Bethlehem," is difficult and long. The performance lasts for close on an hour. The chorus of 400 public school children from eight of the junior high schools sang their parts flawlessly, from memory, with complete understanding of meaning and mood.

Mr. Moore's interest was in the music. Ours is in the schools. Here is evidence that the morale of the teachers has withstood the stupidity, the wastefulness, and the intrigues of politicians who have sought to use the schools for their own advantage. The teachers made no compromises. They deliberately chose a composition presenting unusual difficulties and they proceeded to surmount them without once lowering their standard of accomplishment. Needless to say, the morale of the teachers was conveyed to the children. There was no self-consciousness among the children; instead, a sense of the importance and seriousness of the job in hand and a determination to achieve perfection.

They will probably learn, in due time, that perfection is a word which is seldom, if ever, employed accurately. Nevertheless, it is the business of schools of all grades to insist upon perfection, as if it were a realizable goal. If the American experiment in mass education, unprecedented in the world's history, is to succeed at all, it will only be by maintaining the highest scholastic standards in the face of the temptation to be content with "the best that can be expected under the circumstances." We are determined that every child shall have a secondary as well as a primary education. We are filling the higher grades with children many of whom are incapable of learning the subjects they are studying. Under the circumstances it is obvious that the standards of accomplishment are in danger of falling to the level of the average if not lower.

If the standards go, if the backward and incompetent child is allowed to set the pace for the rest, the democracy is heading into trouble. There is considerable evidence that the lowering of standards in our high schools is already under way. The singing of the children last week proves that the standards can be maintained if the will to maintain them is present.

WAR AND PEACE IN THE OLD WAR.

Remarks recently made upon the rumpus raised by German Fascists over the showing of a film based on Remarque's "All Quiet on the Western Front" have brought us a letter denying that the picture play is a story of defeat or victory. The writer says it might as easily have been laid in the American, English, Italian or French camps. Our comment was that it is impossible to present a war play at this time and avoid implications or fancied implications which will offend supersensitive national feeling.

On the other hand, we agree with our correspondent that Remarque had no such intention but only a wish to point the sordid and terrible facts of warfare. As Americans, we think Europe needs the lesson, especially the youth who had no war experience and which in Russia, Italy, and under the Hitler propaganda in Germany are being systematically inflamed with belligerency. It is in America, the least bellicose of nations, that the urge for ending war is most persistent and hopeful. It is in Europe that the resort to war remains in spite of Messrs. Briand and Kellogg, a reliance unshaken by the terrific consequences of the latest resort to that method of national expression. We who suffered least, though more than we like, seem most anxious to be rid of war, while in Europe new armies are marshaled and new wars prepared though the deep shadows of the late tragedy still hang heavy over men's lives.

This is a paradox less mysterious than it seems, for both the American disposition to peace and the European assumption that war is a normal affliction of mankind, as well as an alternative to be made use of, were many generations in the making. Habitually America thinks in terms of peace. Habitually Europe accepts war as a normal factor of international relations.

It is therefore certain that any effort to bring to the rising generations as vividly as possible some sense of the dark realities of war as some offset to the emotions of glory and national self-aggrandisement which are so easily raised in the adventurous spirit of youth is much needed throughout the continent of Europe, and it is reassuring evidence of the spirit of republican Germany that its government approved the Remarque film, although the Hitlerite clamor induced its withdrawal. In America pacifism successfully works for the improvident reduction in strength of the only great nation, or perhaps rather one of the only two great nations, which is habitually opposed to war. In Europe pacifism is feeble and pacific statesmanship is opposed by powerful organizations which approve warfare as a necessary, not to say desirable, instrument of policy.

The consequence of this situation cannot be fortunate for mankind. Europe remains unimpressed by American example because it thinks of America as callow, superficial and sentimental, which in international affairs we often show ourselves to be. But for the sake of the security and progress of civilization Europe needs a good deal more pacifism and America somewhat less of the short-sighted variety we practice.

THE GREAT AMERICAN WASH.

[New York Sun.]

Regarding the historic institution known as the Monday wash day, the women's bureau of the department of labor and the bureau of census have brought in contradictory findings. The former, after a recent inquiry, concludes that housewives who formerly bent over their own tubs now largely rely on power laundries to do their wet wash, rough dry and finished family services. It backs its conclusion with figures showing that the number of power laundries in the country in 1927 was 5,961, more than double the number in 1909.

According to the bureau of census report, however, more washing is being done in the home. It shows the value of household laundry machines shipped or delivered in 1929 by firms primarily engaged in their manufacture as totaling $76,090,562, an increase of 13.5 per cent over 1927. In 1927 the value was $67,015,573.

The apparent contradiction may be reconciled by the explanation that more clothes than ever are being washed, some in homes and some in outside laundries. A general tribute to the cleanliness of the American people emerges, and in any case the laundry industry remains of primary importance to women. It is one of the chief women employing industries of the country, only one-third of its operatives being men.

STEEL GRIT BLASTING.

THE sand blasting industry is discovering that fine steel grit powder in many respects is superior to silica sand. Sand can be used only once in blasting, because the force breaks up the particles and smooths off the corners and makes the sand useless. Steel grit dust can be used over and over again.

Sand is light and air currents carry it over everything. Steel grit is heavy, falls out of the air, and does not soil the neighborhood. When sand is used for blasting the cloud of dust makes it difficult for the workers to see around them. Not so with the steel grit dust. And overshadowing the other advantages of steel grit is its greater safety for employés. The man who works at sand blasting is reasonably sure to develop silicosis, a form of lung disease which is quite similar to consumption. Occasionally a man with silicosis will also develop consumption, probably due to infection of tissues put in condition for infection by the dust.

In New York state a married man, the father of four children, recently died from silicosis. He was a sand blaster and the disease was a result of his occupation. His case went up through various boards and, finally, through the courts, and came to rest with the following sententious formula: "Case closed. Cause of death, silicosis. No compensation." Society may have to care for the family. When this man worked at his trade he always wore a hood and stayed in his dust cabinet. This cabinet, and also the hood, was attached to exhaust ducts through which fans drew away the dust laden air. It has been found that hoods of this type are useless or worse in sand blasting. The dust is so fine that it works into the hood in spite of all that can be done. The approved sand blaster's hood has air pumped into it. A positive air pressure is maintained inside it. This is more effective in keeping out dust.

COOKING AND VITAMINS.

L. B. R. writes: Are vitamins destroyed by overcooking? Are vegetables that are cooked until they are so soft that a toothless babe could eat them injured as to food value? Greens, potatoes, rutabagas, carrots, cauliflower, cabbage, etc., come to the table so thoroughly boiled that one really needs a spoon to handle them. As a favor, I ask that my potatoes be boiled in their jackets and served that way in order to get all that the jackets contain. What are teeth for? One wants something to chew. If overcooking devitalizes vitamins the public should know it. I am repelled by spinach cooked to a mush and so served. Shouldn't it come to the table in the form of leaves that need chewing?

REPLY.

Cooking is quite destructive to vitamin C. It is not particularly harmful to the other vitamins.

Cooking with soda harms vitamins materially. Adding vinegar is less destructive. Overcooking is hard on them.

Your point about the need of chewing is not well made as to chewing spinach. It is true in the case of other foods.

ITCHING IN WINTER.

I presume it is worse in winter and disappears in hot weather. Your skin is too dry. The best remedy is to winter in the far south. If you can keep the air around you cooler and moister you will suffer less.

HODGKIN'S DISEASE.

2. Treatment is unsatisfactory.

HEY! WHO'S RUNNING THESE COLLEGES ANYHOW?

And, also, as the saying goes, something's got to be done about this. Here in all the newspapers all over this more or less fair land there is spread on the very first page from a half column to a column story of what a college president thinks. A college president, do you get that? To be exact, it's the president of Dartmouth college speaking, Ernest Martin Hopkins, and he says prohibition is a failure and he does not believe in the sacred 18th. But the point is, it's the president of Dartmouth broadcasting! The president—what's the football coach of Dartmouth going to do about this? Things have come to a pretty pass in education in this country when the mere president of a college rates a column or so and nary a word about the football coach. And the president of Dartmouth doesn't even say he has permission from the football coach. Tck, tck, tck! The football coaches of this country are going to have something to say about this. Bet you they put that president back in his place. Who's running our universities and colleges anyhow?

NOEL—1930.

Along the glittering boulevard the rainbow lights are all on guard
Far to the north, the great searchlight, through the long reaches of the night
Its challenge sends of, "Who goes there?" and clearly on the nipping air
Comes to this listening heart of mine, once more the magic countersign,
"Christmas Eve!"

'Tis Love's birth night; the fairest June, blossoms for themes and a world in bloom,
Sheds not such fragrance, warmth, and rest on tired souls as this dear guest,
Christmas Eve.

Shadows or substance, who can tell? I only know
I love you well,
With eager welcome do I greet you, one and all,
as up the street
The long procession, grave and gay, winds to my door, while o'er the way
In the dim belfry's high retreat, the swinging, pealing bells repeat,
"'Tis Christmas Eve."

My house is small, and yet for all its many servitors
I call,
And to the wizard of the brain, "Room for King Christmas and his train!"

Dear Ghost of Christmas Past, I've known you longer than I care to own,
But in your eyes still shines the glow of our first meeting long ago;
You . . . Spirit of Christmas Present, crowned with holly bright, and ermine-gowned,
My heart, your host, greets you tonight with open hearth and candle light;
And Christmas-Yet-To-Come, although your face is shrouded from me, know
If we remain but strangers, still—to you and all your friends, good-will Next Christmas Eve.

Here's Scrooge and Marley! How d'you do? Bob Cratchett and Joe Miller, too!
A tap of crutches! Tiny Tim ('twouldn't be Christmas without him)
Limps slowly up the crowded way with radiant smile to pause and say,
"God bless us all in cot or hall!" Above, the chimes in pulsing rhymes Beat out upon the happy air, "God bless us all and everywhere,"
This Christmas Eve.

Chirp! Chirp! Dear Cricket on the Hearth, your changeless song of "Peace on earth,"
'Tis love, love, love that makes the world go round,
The love by Judas once betrayed, but constant still and unafraid,
Which God alone can bound.

The night grows late; I cannot call you all by name; clink glasses all!
The toast? A health to all the hosts of Christmas authors and their ghosts;
Clink glasses! While the music swells from golden throats of swinging bells,
"Ding-dong! Ding-dong!" One pealing song of "Peace on earth," and right for wrong,
This Christmas Eve.

ETHELYN BRYANT CHAPMAN.

OUR VERY amusing mayor has brought suit for libel against Mr. Randolph for a million dollars. It was probably done just to give us a good Christmas laugh. A million dollars! A million dollars! Think of there being that much money in the world! A million dollars! Oh, Bill Thompson, you stop now, or we'll jest die laffin'!

WITH OUR BACK to the wall we are still fighting like a demon against calling it Xmas! If they succeed in pushing this over on us, next we will have Xianity, than which there is no more horrible calamity. A child will no longer be christened but Xened, all persons named Christopher will be known as Xopher, and little girls will be trotting around saying they were named Xobel. Let Xmas Xit!

LAGNIAPPE.

IN AN ENCOURAGING WORD to young authors, Zona Gale gives this note of cheer: "I wrote for ten years before my first story was accepted." And we can hear the young authors answering Zona with a question which they ask as with one voice: "When do we eat?"

SENATOR NORRIS looks like the great cold rock sticking out of the ocean on which the good ship G. O. P. is going to strike with appalling force. And when a ship at the mercy of wind and wave drives hard upon a rock it generally fares worse with the ship than it does with the rock. Ah, we shall see, we shall see!

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 24, 1914.

PETROGRAD.—The Russian troops virtually annihilated the 26th Austrian brigade in an engagement in the neighborhood of Tuchow, Galicia, south of Tarnow.

LONDON.—The Germans are continuing their offensive movement toward Warsaw. The Petrograd correspondent says: "The Germans brought up vast forces and reorganized in a manner highly creditable to the recuperative powers of the formidable enemy. Emperor William has promised his troops reward and rest at Warsaw, which he has ordered to be taken by Christmas."

LONDON.—Although the allies have scored some successes in the battles in the west, they are meeting with stubborn resistance and military men warn the public that heavy casualty lists must be expected before any serious impression can be made on the German entrenchments.

CHICAGO.—Carleton Hudson, 32 East Elm street, for years a pillar in the Moody church and a member of a number of Chicago clubs, was characterized as "a minister of darkness who had exhibited all the qualities of a confidence man, blackmailer, and loan shark." The characterization was made in a decision handed down in the federal court at Minneapolis by Judge Amidon, who orders Hudson to turn back to Mrs. Caroline M. King of that city property worth $100,000.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 24, 1900.

LONDON.—The war office has received this dispatch from Gen. Kitchener in South Africa: "So far as it is possible to form an opinion from the reports of officers on the spot, I think that the Boer movement in Cape Colony has been checked." He says that his troops are chasing the two columns of Boers that have been menacing the British.

MANILA. — Loyal natives of the Philippines have organized a political party and adopted a platform. Meantime a company of the 9th cavalry defeated a large body of insurgents near Guinobatan, province of Albay. Forty-five insurgents were killed and many wounded.

CHICAGO. — The 26th anniversary of the founding of the Woman's Christian Temperance union was celebrated in Emmanuel Baptist church, Evanston, with addresses by Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, the national president, and Miss Anna M. Gordon, national corresponding secretary. The Rev. W. O. Shepard presided.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 24, 1880.

LONDON.—The Boers have issued a proclamation in which they express respect for the queen and British flag and a desire to avoid war, but a determination to assert their independence. They request Maj. Lanyon to surrender without resistance. The governor of Natal telegraphs from Pietermaritzburg that the Boers in the field are estimated to number 4,000.

LONDON.—Because of the turbulent state of Ireland and the increasing disaffection among the Irish people in London, it has been decided that Queen Victoria will not open parliament in person.

LONDON.—Mrs. John Walter Cross, the distinguished novelist, better known throughout the world as George Eliot, died at the age of 60. As Miss Marian Evans she was married to John Walter Cross, a merchant of Weybridge Surrey, on May 6 last. She was born in Warwickshire, the daughter of a poor clergyman, who could not educate her, and was adopted by another clergyman. She commenced her career as a novel writer in her thirty-seventh year. In her relations to the world she was thoroughly unconventional and a law unto herself. The great success of her "Adam Bede" brought her into intimate relations with the great writers of England, among them Dickens, Thackeray, Charles Reade, Lewes, and others, and between herself and Lewes an intimate attraction sprang up. As he had a wife, however, marriage with George Eliot was out of the question and by advice of their mutual friends they lived together in the same home as friends and enjoyed a rare happiness which was only broken by his death two years ago.

FEDERAL CHARITY.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—In our contemplation of speed in the air we should not overlook the unconstitutional flight of the United States in the 44 years from the veto by President Cleveland of a bill for a small amount to distribute seed wheat to a drought area in Texas to an appropriation by congress yesterday of $45,000,000 for farmers who have felt drought, storm, and hail. President Cleveland, who was a good lawyer and had a sound constitutionalist as attorney general, told congress that he could "find no warrant for such an appropriation in the constitution." Nor can anybody else. He said that the tendency to disregard constitutional limitations should be "steadfastly resisted" for the enforcement of the lesson "that though the people support the government the government should not support the people."

But even if no constitutional question were involved, why should the federal taxpayer be called upon to relieve the people of a state which is able to take care of its own? James Keeley of the Illinois relief committee properly told the President the other day that this state can look after itself. Why should not Nebraska, which, I understand, resented the suggestion of aid, take care of its needy; or Kansas, which has had no bonded debt, I am told, for a third of a century or more; or Oklahoma, with the greatest wealth per capita in the Union? Why should not any other state appropriate or borrow the money to meet such a need? The police power, which resides in the state and not in the nation, has to do with "the health, safety, and general well-being of the people." Under that definition of the Supreme court the nation is entirely out of its field, as it was in Cleveland's day. But President Cleveland exercised his prerogative to put congress back where it belonged, whereas this invasion of the domain of the state was, according to the dispatches, at the suggestion of the President.

THOMAS JAMES NORTON.

BIG SCHOOLS.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—I want to express my appreciation and approval of your editorial entitled "Big Schools." The large schools bring in a regimentation and a lockstep that is not good for children. The evils of the big school I believe you have understated. When the principal of a school cannot know all the children in it the situation is bad, but where the teachers, on account of the large numbers assigned to classes, can have only the barest acquaintance with most of the children conditions cannot be other than serious.

When the junior high schools were first ordered we were promised a relief from the large classes prevailing in the elementary and high schools, but as they are now organized there are no teachers in the school system who meet as large numbers in classes as the teachers in the junior high schools. The science teachers have as many as 475 children each semester, the English teachers 300, the art and music teachers 600 and 700. They must give each child a grade each five weeks, a grade that is made a matter of great importance to the child. His success in the subject, his participation in school athletics and other school activities, to say nothing of his membership on honor rolls or his right to wear an honor pin, all depend upon the grades these teachers give to the individuals making up to vast number they must teach.

Parents question whether this system of "high grades" under the conditions we find in the large schools is best for the children. They question whether there can be advantages that will offset the cost in money and anxiety necessary to send children long distances from home, for large schools mean that some children must travel long distances. You are right. If you consider the loss of personal contact between teachers and pupils alone, however desirable it may be from the standpoint of maintenance, the big school is no economy.

MRS. BRADLEY S. CARR.

AN UNEMPLOYMENT FUND.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—I, too, am a member of the Electrical Workers' local No. 134, and voted along with several thousand other members that we assess ourselves an amount not to exceed ten per cent of our wages to create a fund for the relief of our destitute members, some of whom have not been employed for many months.

Mr. Boyle did not say it was on orders from national headquarters. He said the circumstances of some of our unemployed members were deplorable and it was up to our employed members to assist our unemployed. He read the proposed plans of relief devised by our officers and also by the Chicago Electrical Contractors' association, and after nearly two hours of open debate the plan of assessment was voted on and overwhelmingly passed by several thousand members of our organization.

The statements signed F. S. stating that we were not allowed to vote on it, and also that Mike Boyle said it was on orders of the national headquarters are absolutely false and untrue.

I am employed and have never asked nor received a favor of any sort from any officers of our organization.

E. M. COWAN.

A COMPARISON.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—The stenographers working are loaning $1 per day to help their unemployed. This is to be returned to them at 3 per cent interest, but the electricians get nothing back, not even the $5 assessments being loaned to members to pay for their cards, for which the union will retain when paid.

Why is a day's pay considered sufficient in every other instance, but the electricians lose nearly three days' pay a month, or more in case of overtime, especially when they never are asked for their jobs? How much longer can the poor members stand such treatment as this?

E. A.

RAILROAD FARE IN INSTALLMENTS.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Why cannot the railway companies contrive a budget travel system? If so then the majority of the people would be accommodated with an easy and unworried journey. A person wanting to travel from Chicago to New York and back, probably for enjoyment, or in case of emergency, would have to pay, say, the amount of $90. Now suppose that such person had only $75 and could obtain a reliable "voucher," and then pay about $25 down on the trip, with the balance of $50 left for hotel and other expenses. Then, after returning, the balance could be paid weekly.

SYNOPSIS.

Chandos and his wife, Leonie, former grand duchess of Reichtenburg, are on their estate near Littai, in Austria, by George Hanbury, companion of Chandos and adventures. Marya Salm, countess of Dresden, an expected guest, wires that she is on her way.

Ivan Ford, ruler of Reichtenburg, had hoped to marry Leonie and was incensed at her refusal to Chandos. Fearing for Marya's safety, because of her friendship for Leonie, Chandos and Hanbury, with their servants, Bell and Rowley, depart for Virgil, capital of Reichtenburg, where Marya resides. Because of the enmity of the prince they plan to enter the country in stealth. A peasant named Ramon whom they befriend in Virgil helps them over the border by a secret path.

Chandos visits the home of Marya unseen and learns from her that she sent no message. Learning that a telegram was a ruse to lure them to Virgil, they are preparing to flee with Marya when the prince appears. The men hold the prince and his servants at point of pistols and march to the royal car. The border is so closely guarded that crossing is impossible.

Finally Ramon agrees to hide Marya and Carol, her trusted servant, in his car. Chandos and Hanbury join a traveling circus. Marya sends them a message that she is waiting for them in Bariche, across the border, where Carol is to take them to her hiding. They recognize the car as Grieg's, the chief of police. Arrived safely in Bariche they receive another message from Marya, stating that she is to be forced to remain in Reichtenburg and not communicate with them.

Realizing that Marya, endeavoring to save them, has made some impossible arrangement with Ivan, they return to the border. Hanbury and Rowley pass, but Chandos is captured. It proves to the inspector that Grieg has betrayed his trust. Grieg, who has been informed of the arrest, arrives. He orders two detectives from Virgil back to prepare a cell for Chandos and takes his prisoner alone in his car. Hanbury and Rowley, knowing of Chandos's plight, post themselves along the road and hold up and capture the chief's car. They drive to the estate of Baron Sabre, where they find Marya. Grieg they left bound and gagged along the roadside.

Marya tells them that she cannot leave with them as she was married that morning to Ivan to secure price for their freedom. Hanbury, who is in love with Marya, is stunned by the news. Chandos sets out to find Grieg and kill him to free Marya. Grieg has been released from his bonds, and while Chandos is searching for him he lays Rowley out and takes his car. Chandos is captured by Baron Sabre's. Chandos and Rowley return to the Sabre estate, and while Chandos's plight, post themselves along the road and hold up and capture the chief's car. They drive to the estate of Baron Sabre, where they find Marya. Grieg they left bound and gagged along the roadside.

Marya tells them that she cannot leave with them as she was married that morning to Ivan

Art Institute Show of French Painter's Work at High Mark

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Last winter the Art institute covered itself with glory in the hanging of a retrospective exhibit of the work of Delacroix. Today another page in Chicago's history of memorable events is turned with the opening at the Art institute of an exhibition of paintings by Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec. Toulouse-Lautrec was a Frenchman of pungent, biting quality who lived a short, harried life, and died at the age of 37 in the year 1901. His work interprets him to a remarkable degree. In these paintings and drawings his spirit is again alive.

Toulouse-Lautrec, without doubt, was one of the world's most powerful caricaturists. He looked at life stripped of every illusion. For fancy he put fact and for imagination he enthroned realism. The truth or nothing! He rode under that motto and slew a hundred dragons of affectation, sentimentality, and pretense every working day with quick, darting thrusts of his brush and pencil.

Physically handicapped from birth, the cynicism which glows through many of his cleverest conceptions is yet livened by a humor that makes the most pungent reflection of his on the passing show of life a matter for record. He delighted in the opera, the circus, the ballet, the café, the night life of the world which amuses itself; he was eternally recording his impressions of this and that activity of humans en masse and in detail.

Some of his choicest pictures are those where he rests for a moment in a backwater and paints a woman in her boudoir, a girl with her dog, or a little dog itself, as in the tender portrait of the tiny French bulldog, sketched in color on the lid of a cigar box.

Two of the largest paintings in the present exhibit come to us from the Louvre. The others are from various sources, including the Art institute's permanent collection. There is no end to the interest and beauty of the exhibition. It is captivating.

In the other galleries of the Art institute's east wing are paintings by Louis Ritman [an excellent collection], paintings by Harold Weston [a young Philadelphia artist with a strong color sense], paintings by John Steuart Curry, a former Art institute student; sculpture by Serge Yourievitch, and two rooms of illustrations by American artists, in color and black and white. This holiday concoction is a feast to the eyes and the spirit. The institute has spread a magnificent banquet.

The exhibition will continue into January.

New Anglo-American Talkie Pact Formed; Plan Three Pictures

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Dec. 23.—[Special.]—A new Anglo-American film agreement in the formation of a joint company known as Associated Picture Productions was announced yesterday by Stoll Picture Productions and Producers Distributing company.

The Stoll company is one of the oldest British companies, while Producers Distributing represents the American Pathe company, operating studios at Culver City.

Under arrangements now completed three pictures will be made at the recently enlarged Stoll studios at Cricklewood and distributed through the new company.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Would Appreciate Cards.

"During my visit to a government hospital I came to know a young man, 33 years of age. He has been there for nine years and most of this time has been spent in a room by himself. If there is some one who will remember this boy at Christmas time with cards, I know it will make him so happy. He has no relatives and is lonely. W. B."

It's such a simple request and would mean so much to this veteran, I hope a number of you will put him on your Christmas card list. Write me for his name.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Dec. 23.—[Special.]—Tonight's parties wound up at the Ritz-Carlton, where Mr. and Mrs. Howard Crosby Brokaw introduced their daughter, Marguerite, at a supper dance. Marguerite is a sister of Edna Brokaw, who was presented two winters ago at the Park Lane, and of Mrs. James Russell Lowell, who was Julia Brokaw before her marriage several years ago.

Miss Laura Taylor Pope Day, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Day, who is to be married Saturday at Short Hills, N. J., to James E. Barrett of Leominster, Mass., was the honored guest at a luncheon which Miss Amy V. Sterling, daughter of Louis V. Sterling, gave at the New York Junior league.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stephens Rawson and Miss Delphine Rawson, are going to Palm Beach for the winter.

Count and Countess Raoul de Roussy de Sales, who were at the Madison, have gone to their apartment at 770 Park avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kelly have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Isabel Kelly, to William Durcan, son of Joseph Durcan of this city, and the late Mrs. Duncan.

Methodist Bible Class Starts Shelter for Women and Girls

Artaban Bible class of St. James's Methodist Episcopal church has obtained part of the Wabash Avenue Methodist church at 1401 South Wabash, fitting it up as a shelter for unemployed women and girls during the present emergency. Cots and beds sufficient to accommodate forty women and girls have been provided through the efforts especially of the pastor, the Rev. George Esplin. Two dormitories, a dining room, and kitchen are included in the facilities, with chairs around the stoves where discouraged and penniless women can rest and warm themselves.

Arrangements are being made to open the shelter for several days at a time to the destitute women and girls who require such care. Tickets will be obtainable on application there.

An employment bureau will also be opened to attempt the placing of as many as possible of the women who apply. Carfare will be provided when necessary to take them to any destination where work may be had.

Food Talk.

"'Twas the night before Christmas," but all through the house every one was stirring, even the mouse. It is the night the tree is being trimmed, last minute packages are being tied, friends are merrily dropping in to give gay greetings or to present "Don't open until Xmas" packages. A festive, blithesome spirit hangs over everything from the holly in the window to the last bit of colored wrapping cord.

Informality is the keynote of the evening. Folks just can't be ceremonious as they chatter and play games on Christmas eve. So it is an understanding hostess who does not suddenly become decorous as she invites the family and guests to partake of some refreshments. The food should be simple, yet hot and tempting. A hot sandwich such as ham or chicken (canned chicken may be used) or a fish or meat salad served with hot biscuits will do amply for the main dish.

Good coffee, tea, cocoa, and chocolate are the favorite beverages. Serve them plain with sugar and cream or mixed in an unusual manner, but be sure that they are hot. A slice of that Christmas fruit cake or pumpkin pie would not be amiss at this time. Or a chilled dessert such as prune whip or butterscotch Bavarian cream with some Christmas cookies will serve just as well.

Rosy cheeked apples, bright oranges, golden bananas, and red and blue grapes in a bowl should be placed on the table where each can help himself. Nuts in dishes complete the menu of this informal Christmas supper which will be enjoyed by guests and hostess alike.

WASSAIL.

4 tart apples
½ tsp. nutmeg
2 tsp. allspice
1 tsp. ground clove
4 two inch sticks cinnamon
Juice 4 oranges
Juice 2 lemons
1 cup sugar
2 quarts cider

Remove cores from apples and cut in rounds. Bake until tender but not too soft. Add the spices, fruit juice, and sugar to the cider and bring to the boiling point. Put the baked apples in a punch bowl and pour the hot cider over them. Serve hot.

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

ILLINOIS DAIRY MEETING.

Three hundred delegates will represent a state-wide membership in the Illinois Dairymen's association in their annual meeting in St. Charles on Jan. 21 and 22. More than 3,000 persons in all are expected to attend the three day sessions.

One of the highlights of the program will consist of visits by the delegates to the two model stock farms owned and operated by Edward J. Baker, millionaire St. Charles stock breeder. The farms are known as The Pines and Silver Glen. Judging will be held in the Baker hotel garage annex, while business meetings will be conducted in the Henry Rockwell Baker Memorial Community center.

Speakers will include Dr. W. A. Evans of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE; George Caven, editor of Dairy Produce, a trade publication; M. D. Munn, president of the National Dairy council; Earl Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, and Stillman J. Stanard, former state director of agriculture.

Student Songs Make Old Elis Youths Again

BY THALIA

THE Yale Glee club boys certainly gave the town a good time last night. Their rhythmic cadences delighted a large audience of all ages at Orchestra hall, and later on in the evening they proved to be as proficient with their feet and their good manners as they had been earlier with their voices.

The concert began about half an hour late, and the audience was tardy, too. The spirit of the program crescendoed as the evening wore on, until the last few numbers practically stopped the show, and the Eli grads fairly ran up the aisles to range themselves behind the collegians and sing "Bright College Years" with lusty fervor.

The enthusiasm began when Joseph C. Rathborne, the handsome polo player, president of the club, soloed in "Boot, Hog, or Die," and increased for Basil D. Henning's bygone ballads. By the time an unannounced number, a collegiate version of the quartet from "Rigoletto," was sung, the audience was applauding loudly.

Mr. and Mrs. William O. Goodman were enjoying the event from the front row, and, besides, there were lots of the young people home for the holidays and a good representation of alumni. The Edward L. Ryerson Jr. had a box party of young people. Luther S. Hammond Jr., who had worked so hard on making the arrangements, couldn't be present to see the results of his efforts because he was sick with the flu.

Singers Hasten to Attend Dance at Blackstone.

After the concert the men all trooped over to the Blackstone for Ghita Watson's and Fayette Smith's debut ball. The concert being over before the usual beginning time for dances, their arrival resulted in the party's getting well under way before the hostesses appeared, and the debutantes who got there early had a grand time with about four or five dancing partners apiece.

It was quite noticeable that the young men's inclinations as well as their manners led them to hurry to line up for the receiving line. There the lovely Ghita, dressed in blush pink satin with a gold lace bertha, her mother, Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, in a silver lamé gown with a long train, and Mrs. Alexander Smith arranged themselves before a high screen of smilax to "receive." Chic little Miss Fayette had been at the concert and arrived at the ball earlier than the r

The musicians were the only ones who didn't think the decorations were p fectly beautiful, and they were only complaining because there wasn't enough light to see their notes. There were silver and green fir trees all around the edge of the dancing floor, and large branches of silvered and natural evergreen on the walls. Blue lights on the floor shot an eerie light upward, making the silvery trees shimmer. Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, who came in early, exclaimed, "Isn't it TOO lovely?"

As one of the two orchestras began playing "Sweet Jenny Lee," the girls who danced out included Ruth Crossett, Catherine Carton, whose pretty dress of sheer oyster white chiffon banded in narrow diagonal lines of brilliants and crimson velvet sash weren't the only reasons she was cut in on every few minutes; the Senn twins, Katherine and Jeanne Street in identical dresses of silver cloth and identical shoulder bouquets of violets and gardenias; Ann Ashcraft, Gloria Griffiths, and Ann Elizabeth Walsh, Helen Bell in chartreuse satin, and Henrietta Countiss in black and gold. Mr. Rathborne, the Glee club's president, who looks something like a blond Bobby Jones, escorted Margaret James, who was wearing a quaint tight-bodiced frock of flowered brocade.

They made their debut at a dance at the Blackstone hotel after the Yale concert.

Few Parties Scheduled for Christmas Eve.

There are less parties scheduled for this evening than for any other night during the holidays, probably because so many families have their Christmas gatherings on Christmas eve.

The only large party is Miss Gwethalyn Jones' dance at the Blackstone for her godchild, Miss Constance Hasler, and that will begin late in the evening. Miss Hasler's cousin, Eleanor Coonley, who came from the east for her debut tea last September, also is here.

The Walter R. Kirks will as usual have their children and a large group of relatives with them this evening for the happy traditional ceremony of opening the Christmas packages. With them will be the Lawrence Williamses, the Alex Kirks, Mrs. Earl Hambleton and Peggy, the Stanley Rickcords, and Dr. and Mrs. James Harvey.

Downtown yesterday for Christmas shopping errands were Mrs. A. Watson Armour, Mrs. Alex Smith and her daughter, Fayette; Ralph R. Richardson, evidently selecting something for some one; Mrs. T. Philip Swift, and Mrs. Ralph C. Otis, who were making purchases at Carolyn Wilson's on Delaware place, and Mrs. John Paul Welling buying things at the 10 cent store.

Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick's Christmas wreaths of holly, tied with red bows, were put up in all the windows of her house yesterday . . . the Tavern's modern Christmas tree of metal with blue lights is installed in the north lounge, and there are Yule greeneries about . . . the Burt A. Massees' Christmas tree is all done with red lights and silver icicles and has an arrangement for making the lights blink, purchased by Miss Margot Massee, who is here for the holidays.

Holiday comings and goings—Col. and Mrs. Noble B. Judah and the twins departed yesterday for Dayton, O., to spend Christmas with Mrs. Judah's brother. . . . Norris Love, son of the Edward M. Loves of Riverside, arrives today from New York by plane to be with them tomorrow.

SINGERS FROM YALE PUT VARIETY IN YEARLY PROGRAM

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Taking a hasty tour here and there about the country during vacation time, the Yale Glee club stopped off for a concert at Orchestra hall last night. It was a program of a kind that made those who remember glee club concerts of old believe that college life has become transferred.

College songs were cut to a single group in the second part of the program. There was one in the first part, but it belongs not to Yale but to Heidelberg. The rest of the program consisted of English folk songs, carols, folk songs of the mountaineers, plantation melodies, and these forty-eight young men sang them as vigorously and feelingly as their predecessors had ever addressed the spirit of Yale to drink her down, down, down.

In pinning his artistic faith to songs of this nature, Marshall M. Bartholomew, the director, has added one more point. It is that the song, whatever it may be, shall project its words to the audience without the loss of a single syllable. He has therefore trained his troubadours accordingly. Here was the perfection of clean, distinct, aristocratic enunciation. Here, too, was a rather astonishing range of expression, astonishing because the average student age makes it difficult to find fully matured voices. Mr. Bartholomew has wrought well, and only those who, like myself, remember the hearty hit-or-miss methods of the old days in New Haven know how well.

"Lohengrin" went on again at the Civic Opera house last night, but with a cast so widely changed that it was almost like a new performance. Sincere compliments are due Chase Baromeo for his performance of the king. He is an American artist who has passed the stage of promising talent. He has made good in a decisive manner. Emma Redell found the rôle of Elsa much more to her liking and capabilities than that of Elizabeth in "Tannhäuser" and consequently scored a definite artistic advance.

Beardsley Ruml New Social Science Dean for the U. of C.

Beardsley Ruml, who received his Ph. D. degree at the University of Chicago in 1917, will return Jan. 1 as dean of the newly created division of social sciences and professor of education. President Robert M. Hutchins so announced yesterday.

The social science department is one of the five main divisions into which the university has been organized in the new educational plan and has been under the temporary direction of Vice President Frederic Woodward as acting dean.

Mr. Ruml's graduate work was done under Dr. James Rowland Angell and when the latter left the University of Chicago to become president of the Carnegie corporation, Mr. Ruml became his assistant. He became director of the Laura Spellman Rockefeller memorial in 1922 and executive of the Spellman fund of New York in 1929. He also is a trustee of the Julius Rosenwald fund and will retain these offices while at the University of Chicago.

UNIVERSE LIKE SOAP BUBBLE, BEING BLOWN, BRITISH SAVANT SAYS

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 23.—That the universe is like a soap bubble and is still in the process of inflation, with the probability of its eventually dissolving into nothingness was the statement of Sir James Jeans, famous British scientist. He broadcast a talk on the stars tonight.

"The instability of the universe takes the form of an incapacity to stand still," he said. "As soon as a universe comes into existence it starts swelling and must continue expanding indefinitely. It is not so much like a soap bubble we have blown and detached from our pipe as it is like one we are still blowing."

According to astronomical results on measuring the speeds of nebulae, they are practically all stampeding away at a terrific rate—the last to be investigated were found to be receding at a rate of 7,200 miles per second.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 23.—[Special.]—The League of Republican Women of the District of Columbia have sent out cards for a tea Friday afternoon, Dec. 26. Mrs. E. E. Gann, sister of and hostess for Vice President Curtis, will head the receiving line. Mrs. Frank J. Loesch of Chicago, who is spending the winter in Washington, and Mrs. Russelll B. Harrison, daughter-in-law of President Benjamin Harrison, will assist Mrs. Gann.

Charles Eskridge Saltzman, fiance of Miss Gertrude Lamont, daughter of the Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Lamont of Chicago, is spending the holiday season with his parents, Gen. and Mrs. Charles McK. Saltzman. The wedding of Miss Lamont and Mr. Saltzman will not take place until the springtime.

Miss Sarah Brisbane, subdebutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brisbane of New York, returned to New York this morning. She was the guest of Miss Kathryne McCormick, daughter of Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick, and was entertained at a dinner and dance last night by Mrs. Eleanor Medill Patterson, cousin of the late Senator Medill McCormick, in the Patterson home on Dupont circle. Mrs. Patterson had as her guests for overnight to attend the dinner and dance Miss Dorothy Cameron, Mrs. Carrie Smith, Miss Evelyn Smith, and Miss Eleanor Bangs. They, too, returned to New York this morning.

Mrs. Frank C. Letts is in Chicago spending Christmas with her daughter, Mrs. John Borden, at the Ambassador, and a few days with her other daughter, Mrs. McLaughlin, in Lake Forest.

The Secretary of State and Mrs. Henry L. Stimson were given a dinner tonight by the Secretary of War and Mrs. P. J. Hurley, who had a large company to meet them, in their home in Belmont street, the former home of the American Ambassador to England and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, when the former was Vice President.

Keep Your Feet Dry and Warm and Avoid Disfiguring Colds

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Keep your feet dry—and keep them WARM—if you would see yourself through a successful beauty winter season.

A discussion of colds belongs in a medical department, not in a beauty, except in the manner in which colds affect the looks. And they do—a-plenty. If there's anything that can ruin a good pair of eyes or a nice Grecian nose as quickly as a cold, aside from contact with a brawny fist, I haven't met it yet. And some girls go through the cold spell with one red nose and one pair of bleary eyes after another.

True, there are other reasons for contracting colds—but, if you want to get out of an engagement and need a "good cold" excuse, go out in thin-soled shoes on a cold, wet pavement. You'll have the alibi, all right.

Season after season when the streets put on their first snow scenes, followed by their well known slushy aftermaths, I wonder why bright girls park their intelligence and appear shod for a gay summer day. It looks so silly. And it is so silly. If a girl isn't concerned with her health, her pride of looks ought to make her put on a pair of protective goloshes or rubbers.

I can't for the life of me see why women object so to the foot and shoe protectors. As the manufacturers have styled them now they're not objectionable looking things. They may have been when women slopped down the avenue with the pedal coverings flapping like penguin wings. Even then they didn't have to flap. But with the smart trappings feet and shoes may be encased in today I don't understand the objection to them, even though realizing the strong female Cinderella instinct. There is something so much "righter" looking about a girl whose feet are dressed for a stormy day.

You can't go around with damp feet and look your best. The nose goes blue when it doesn't go red, and the cheek's beauty isn't heightened any, either. The hands are clammy, and the girl isn't up to her best self at all shivering and huddling down in the fur neckpiece, where she can't possibly pull in a rejuvenating gulp of the good old ozone. Another thing, the shoes look like the very dickens after a contact or two with the damp, cold sidewalk.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

ANNA F.: THERE ARE MANY bleaching lotions to choose from. Lemon juice and peroxide of hydrogen diluted with water or rose water will whiten the skin. Buttermilk allowed to dry on the skin has a bleaching effect. Other suggestions may be had for a stamped, addressed envelope.

H. L.: EXCESSIVE CONSUMPTION of sugars, starches, and fats is not a healthful way to increase your weight. Undernourished persons should take milk with their meals. Milk is an ideal food. It should be taken between meals, too.

U. of C. Plans Training in the Laws of Nations

Plans for increased instruction for graduate students in international relations, including international law, history and economics and for the granting of advanced degrees in this field were announced yesterday by President Robert M. Hutchins at the 162d convocation at the University of Chicago. Diplomas were awarded 257 students and honorary doctor of laws degrees were granted Miss Jane Addams of Hull house and Stanley Field for his work as president of the Field museum and chairman of the Shedd Aquarium building committee.

A Molyneux Morning Costume for Royalty

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Her majesty, the queen of Spain, has just paid a visit to Paris where, in addition to her official duties, she informally made the rounds of the theaters and the couturiers. Worth, Molyneux, and Heim were among the houses that found favor in the royal eyes.

The daytime clothes chosen by the queen were extremely simple, without severity, and the evening gowns luxuriously distinguished, being both of the instep length and trailing types. She left for England wearing a Heim coat of gray Persian lamb with a little Rose Valois beret of Persian lamb to match, while the two infantas wore youthful, fur trimmed, broadcloth costumes from the same creator.

Sketched above is a daytime ensemble designed for the queen of Spain by Molyneux, whose ladylike clothes please so many royal and noble fashion leaders. It's in one of Molyneux's exclusive wool fabrics, very fine and soft, in black. Fullness is added to the straight skirt by two inverted pleats in front, and two three cornered incrustations on the hips accentuate the slender effect. The bodice blouses over a straight band of the material placed at the natural waistline. It is buttoned down the front by cords of the black wool and black onyx buttons, placed diagonally. The same trimming appears on the left side of the skirt and on the lower sleeves.

The straight jacket of black wool to match the dress is perfectly simple save for pockets and the back yoke which continues in a wide shoulder effect on to the front of the sleeves. Its collar and cuffs are of black caracul.

Tightwads Will Spend, If You'll Use Lots of Tact

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Would you go on with the wedding plans after you discovered certain little money meannesses in the otherwise dear devoted?

For instance, suppose your fiancé invited you and your mother and father to go on a Sunday motor trip, the idea being to have dinner at a farm house en route. Then your fiancé, some miles away from the eating place, began to tell you that he wasn't hungry and wouldn't eat with you and your mother and father. He'd wait outside. You finally persuaded him to come in and he then ordered only dessert and coffee—and then let father, his guest, pay for everybody's food.

On occasions alone with you as guest, he shows up generously enough without, however, any of the extra little expenses that, somehow, remind a girl that her beau is thinking about her when he isn't at her side. That is, he'll get theater tickets once in a while, pay for a dinner for two once in a while, or take you to a dance—but no flowers for the dance frock, nor for the living room table; no donations to the sweet tooth, no little birthday remembrance or any holiday "extra." Added to this you hear tales about the difficulty the man encounters in parting with his money. And, of course, your parents are bearing down heavily on the Sunday excursion injury.

What would you do? "Anxious" is in need of assistance. "I thing about it very much," she writes, "and it doesn't make me feel any too good at times. Do you suppose it will make for an unhappy married life? Do you think I could train myself to pay no attention to that side of the man I do love and couldn't bear the thought of parting with?"

Training oneself to pay no attention to that side of an otherwise good man is probably the only solution where love enters, unless one were willing to learn how other women manage a man with a tight hold on his purse strings. One of the tightest old bachelors I ever encountered was converted into quite a spender by a smart little widow who used to tell him all the time how generous he was.

She told others, too, exhibiting proudly what others did not seem to think an impressive gift. Anyway, the effect was to earn bigger and better gifts for display purposes. It is possible to make a tightwad open up if you've got the art or can acquire it.

Einstein Reaches Panama; Republic Greets Scientist

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA, Canal Zone, Dec. 23.—Prof. Albert Einstein arrived in Cristobal at 5:35 this morning, but did not land, going through the canal and arriving in Bilbao at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Colon's governor, Inocencio Galindo, welcomed Prof. Einstein at Cristobal on behalf of Panama, and the German chargé d'affaires, Dr. Walter Hinrichs, greeted him and accompanied him through the canal.

President Florencio H. Arosemena arranged for a reception at 5 o'clock. To that were invited about 20 of Panama's notables, including members of the cabinet and diplomatic corps.

The Belegenland on which Prof. Einstein is traveling proceeded to San Francisco this evening.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

The modishly cut gored skirt makes this dress very unusual, and the tapering outline of the upper edges of the gores gives a slender effect. It features the cowl neckline that helps to minimize the breadth through the bodice. The frill up the backs of the sleeves is an attractive detail. Velvet, Canton crêpe or one of the lightweight woolens will be suitable.

The pattern, 2842, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Sizez 36 requires 4¾ yards of 39 inch material.

Paul Mellon Decides on Banking for Future

Washington, D. C., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Paul Mellon, son of the secretary of the treasury, has given up the idea of becoming a publisher and will enter his father's banking institution in Pittsburgh when he completes his education at Cambridge university.

Young Mellon, here on his Christmas vacation, said today he had decided he should learn the banking business to be able to take over his father's immense interests when that step became necessary. He said he still was interested in writing, but felt duty called him to the banking business.

Children Need to Be Safeguarded Against Excitement

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

As we were saying yesterday, the little boy and girl, past the baby age, but still discovering the world, needs safeguarding against the strain that Christmas excitement causes. Here are several ways in which the day can be managed so as to protect the younger children and to prevent an aftermath.

Be sure to snatch them away from the center of things for one or two rest or sleep periods on Christmas day. Be sure that they get outdoors for some good, active play to work off the emotional steam.

Be careful what they eat. If you plan, they can have festive looking food that is wholesome for them, if the grownups' salads and deserts are too rich. If you give them their presents one by one, you may begin to see them getting bewildered. If this is the case, keep some for later in the day—or even for the next day.

Don't—don't—don't expect young children to express appreciation or thanks—or even spontaneous joy at their gifts. I've seen them grow quieter and quieter as the presents appeared. Especially if there is only one child in the family, try not to barge into their landscape too much the minute they open a gift or first look at one. "O, Johnny, how wonderful! What a beautiful truck—what big powerful wheels!" or "O, that's the loveliest dolly I've ever seen. Isn't she beautiful? Don't you love her? Look at her eyes! And her hair! O, she goes to sleep! . . . etc., etc., are so confusing to children that it takes the edge off. Children are like a sensitive plate, receiving impressions. We may admire later all we like—but don't let us be obstreperous at first in our enjoyment of their gifts.

These are just a few general suggestions for steering the little ones through Christmas day. The older children can digest Christmas excitement pretty well and don't need the protective eagle eye as much.

"Staggered Leasing" Brings Many Benefits to Tenants

Inconveniences, High Costs, and Worries Avoided

BY HENRY H. LUNT
Assistant Executive Secretary, The Chicago Real Estate Board.

393,000 Chicago families moved in 1929. Of this number, less than 28 per cent moved during the "moving months," April and September. In doing so, they helped relieve the usual congestion born of the now out-of-date policy of moving a large percentage of Chicago's families twice a year. The 72 per cent who had the foresight to "stagger" their leases, that is, sign their leases so that they would terminate at some time other than during the peak of the moving season, also dealt a staggering blow at the high cost of last-minute moving, the attending inconveniences, and unnecessary worries.

Evils Are Many and Costly.

When one-half of the families in Chicago who live in apartments desire to move during the two seasonal periods it meant that 175,000 to 200,000 families had to be moved within a few days, or at the most, in a few weeks. Naturally, with all of these families clamoring for moving service, it meant many hours of overtime wages that had to be paid—by the tenants. Losses from breakage mounted high, because tired, overworked men hurried to get done as soon as possible; and night moving, inconvenient for tenants and movers, could not be avoided.

The Problem of Decorating.

When all moving was done twice a year in one or two weeks' time, the new tenant usually moved into an apartment that had not been thoroughly cleaned and decorated to suit his taste. Painters and decorators were at a premium during this peak season, and often it was several months later before the landlord could find a decorator who had time to do the necessary work. Bidding for the services of decorators, and many hours of overtime, raised the cost of redecorating, which was paid for by the tenant. During the rush period, urged on by landlords and tenants, the decorator's work was measured in terms of quantity rather than quality, and as a result many tenants were dissatisfied with the work done.

Other Services Affected.

Furniture movers and decorators were not the only ones affected by the semi-annual moving day rush. The public utilities companies, the gas, electric light and telephone companies were unable to meet the demand for service men to read and change meters, or relocate and assign telephones. Consequently many homes were without these facilities for as much as 10 days' time. Furniture stores also felt the effects of twice-a-year moving. Many persons bought new furniture for their new homes and wanted delivery on the day they moved in. The furniture men depended greatly on the independent cartage companies to take care of these extra deliveries, only to find service curtailed by the demand for moving vans.

The School Problem.

With only two moving seasons, families with children in school were compelled to have their leases expire during the school term. This meant breaking up the children's studies and associations. Frequently children were one or two grades behind the classes where they would be normally. This condition worked hardships not only on the children, but on the parents and teachers as well.

New Lease Plan Best.

When the new method of leasing apartments, the "staggered lease" plan, was first suggested, many Chicagoans were skeptical, but it was not long before its many advantages became apparent. The obvious savings in time and money spent for moving service; the advantage and satisfaction of moving into a clean apartment, decorated as the tenant desired; avoidance of inconveniences through prompt service from the electric light, gas, and telephone companies; the advantage of moving during the vacation season, rather than at the beginning or at the end of the school term, and freedom from the usual hectic moving day worries, are responsible for spreading of Chicago's moving day to all months of the year. The movement continues to grow, and it is hoped that all tenants will soon avail themselves of the advantages of this better plan of moving.

HAWKS DEFEAT QUAKERS, 3-2; TIE FOR LEAD

ZUPPKE WON'T LEAVE ILLINOIS FOR ANY OFFER

Silences Rumors He Might Go.

(Champaign, Ill., Dec. 23.—[Special.] —Robert Zuppke, football coach at the University of Illinois for 18 years, will not be lured away from the institution by offers from other colleges, no matter if they include larger salaries. Just before he departed today for Dallas, Tex., where he will coach the midwest team in the Dixie classic football game, Coach Zuppke announced that he is not interested in any outside coaching position and intends to remain at Illinois.

Offers Worry Alumni.

Much apprehension had been aroused among alumni and students by reports that California and other institutions were considering Zuppke. His visit to Madison at the time of the Wisconsin-Pennsylvania basketball game where he met Pennsylvania officials also caused uneasiness.

"Please understand that I do not want to be put in the position of declining offers which have not been made," Coach Zuppke said. "So far as California is concerned I have not been approached. But to settle the rumor which has connected my name with several positions I want to say that I shall not leave Illinois under any consideration. It is the only university I have ever coached, I have been here 18 years and Illinois means too much to me ever to think of leaving."

Director Huff Pleased.

Expressing pleasure that Coach Zuppke has set at rest the rumors that he might leave, George Huff, director of physical welfare, revealed the fact that in the past the coach has turned down many offers of larger salaries.

"We are greatly pleased that Coach Zuppke has settled the matter of his tenure for good and all," director Huff said. "It seems to be fashionable just now to regard all football coaches as merely mercenary which is far from the truth in my opinion. I know that Zuppke has turned down many offers of more money. It is hardly necessary to state that Zuppke's position at Illinois is absolutely permanent so far as the university is concerned."

Will Sojourn in South.

Zuppke came to Illinois in 1913 from Lake Park High school. His teams have won seven Big Ten championships and usually in other years finished high. Up to this fall the Illini won two games in a three year period in which they won two championships and were runners up once.

After directing the midwest team in the New Year's game at Dallas, the coach and Mrs. Zuppke will spend several weeks in Cuba and the south.

FIRES ASSISTANT COACHES

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 23.—(AP)—The Atlanta Journal said today five Georgia Tech assistant coaches would not be retained next year.

Bill Fincher, line coach, said in an interview that his contract had been extended, and that Oliver Miles, back field coach; Capt. Henry W. Robinson, end coach; Mack Tharpe, coach of the freshman, and Kenneth Thrash, assistant freshman coach, would not be retained.

A statement from the Georgia Tech athletic association said Fincher was not only one of the five under contract, and that his contract had been extended for "good and sufficient reason."

Expect Officer's Transfer.

The athletic association announced Thrash would not return next year, and that Tharpe and Tharpe may or may not be asked to serve again. Capt. Robinson, attached to the R. O. T. C. unit at the school, probably will be transferred by the war department, as his stay at Georgia Tech expires this year, the statement said.

Head Coach Bill Alexander, Roy Kinnard, basketball; Kid Clay, baseball, and Mike Chambers, trainer, will be retained.

Tharpe, Thrash and Fincher are former Tech players. Miles is a former Princeton back field star.

Fincher "Greatly Surprised."

Fincher said he was greatly surprised when he learned he would not be kept at Tech. "I had no word from any source, even the authorities themselves as to my inefficiency or lack of capability," he said. "I had always done my best and had cause to think that was good enough."

Coach Alexander will leave here Christmas day for a coaches' meeting in New York. He said new assistants might be signed at that time.

Turkeys in Georgia for Their First Turkey Hunt

St. Island, Ga., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Another proficiency with left hooks right crosses and such is an indication of marksmanship, and footwork means anything in game stalking will be tried here by Gene Tunney the day after Christmas. The former heavyweight champion and his wife are going out after wild turkeys in the Sea Island preserve. Tunney never has been a turkey hunter before.

Doctor Warns Rockne to Curb His Activities

Rochester, Minn., Dec. 23.—(AP)—His physician's warning to limit his strenuous activities or face the possibility of a complete breakdown confronted Knute Rockne, famous football coach of Notre Dame university, tonight.

Dr. C. J. Barborka of the Mayo clinic rendered his verdict after an exhaustive examination of the coach, who came here last week for a physical inventory in fear of a return of phlebitis of the leg, an ailment that sent him to bed last spring.

Must Limit Activities.

Rockne, the physician said, shows no immediate signs of further trouble in the leg, but is suffering from fatigue which closely approaches the line of exhaustion, and must limit his activities or face grave consequences.

Immediately after the outcome of the physician's examination was announced, the Notre Dame coach returned to his room at a hotel here and denied himself to all inquirers. Telephone calls from newspaper men brought word he had left town to return tonight, but other reports said he was still in the city.

Dr. Barborka explained his findings do not mean that Rockne must cease coaching, but he must place a curb on his other activities. In the list of other activities the physician placed speech making, writing for magazines and other tasks, which, coupled with the strenuous gridiron season just ended, have sapped his strength.

Disapproves Air Trip.

The physician also disapproved a proposed airplane trip to Los Angeles for the football clash between Notre Dame stars and a west-south eleven Saturday, declaring that if the coach "flies to Los Angeles we will refuse to assume responsibility for his future care." He also said Rockne had been urged not to make the trip by train, either.

Rockne, the physician said, came here last week in a state of complete exhaustion and added that the attack of phlebitis is likely to recurr "or a complete breakdown result unless he quits his strenuous mode of living and takes life easy. His outside interests coupled with the strenuous work of coaching are too much for one man."

Leahy Also at Hospital.

Dr. Barborka said he understood the South Bend coach probably would remain here until Tuesday.

Another patient from Notre Dame was also here tonight. He is Frank Leahy, football star who was injured early in the season. An operation was performed on the player's knee by Dr. M. S. Henderson and he was reported "getting along fine," today. He is expected to be fully recovered in ten days.

Train Hits Auto; 4 Indiana Prep Cage Players Injured

Terre Haute, Ind., Dec. 23.—[Special.]—Four youths, all basketball players, were injured seriously when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by the Dixie Flyer of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad at Pimento, seven miles south of here. Those injured are members of the Pimento basketball team and were returning to their homes from a practice game. Raymond Hayhurst, 20, and Harold Tichenor, 17, are probably fatally injured. William Hayhurst, brother of Raymond, and Harold Bailey were injured also.

LOOS TOPS FIELD IN AGUA CALIENTE TOURNEY WITH 71

Wind Keeps All Other Scores Above Par.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, Dec. 23. —(AP)—Eddie Loos, Chicago, professional, led the field for the first 18 holes of the qualifying round in the second annual Agua Caliente $25,000 open golf championship here today. Loos has a 71, even par, to lead 97 professionals and amateurs.

No other golfer equaled par or came near it except Dewey Longworth, Oakland, Cal., who shot 72, one over par for second place. A high wind wrecked the scores of early starters.

165 Should Qualify.

Loos played under adverse conditions, with a high wind sweeping down from the Tijuana river valley. The wind and the mental hazard of the new ball combined to keep most of the scores up, indicating that 165 for 36 holes would make the cherished circle of fifty which will be admitted to the Agua Caliente $25,000 open tournament Jan. 13 to 16.

One hundred will tee off in the battle for $10,000 first money and other prize awards totaling $25,000. Of this number 90 will be professionals.

Some 40 pros were eligible through having been among the first 30 in the national open, the 32 qualifiers in the 1930 P. G. A. championship, entered from a foreign country, or a prize winner in the initial Agua Caliente event last January. The rest of the field is being selected through the qualifying round.

Jim Heaney Is Third.

Third today was Jim Heaney, New York, with 74, three over par. Scores of the leaders:

ST. IGNATIUS AND ST. MICHAEL PREP QUINTETS DIVIDE

St. Ignatius and St. Michael of the Catholic league divided a practice double header on the former's floor last night, the St. Ignatius heavies winning 34 to 22, while the invading lights took a 40 to 38 battle. Rogers, McCarthy and Liska featured for the winning heavies, and Gillespie of the St. Michael lights scored 14 points in the two periods he played.

De La Salle of Chicago and Hyde Park put on a pair of close games on the Catholic leaguers' floor, the former's heavies winning, 26 to 24, in an overtime, while the Hyde Park lights won, 15 to 14. Golden of De La Salle and Mayer of Hyde Park supplied the winning baskets.

Bloom, 25; Illinois School for the Deaf, 11.
Parker Lights, 23; Bloom 10.
De La Salle [Joliet], 43; Weber, 38.
De La Salle [Joliet] Lights, 18; Weber, 17.

Young Quintero Wins by Knockout in Fourth

St. Petersburg, Fla., Dec. 23.—(AP) —Young Manuel Quintero, Cuban welterweight from Tampa, knocked out Mickey McAllister, Portsmouth, O., in the fourth session of a ten round bout tonight.

Jack Dempsey, the Ex-Fighter, Always Is Worth a Few Lines

BY ARCH WARD.

Luis Angel Firpo, the mild bull of the Pampas, may be just a palooka to old Otis P. Sapp, the ring fan, but to Jack Dempsey he's the hardest punching fighter that ever has stepped into the ring.

"If I had to fight my championship career over again, from Willard to Tunney, I would fear a return bout with Firpo more than any man I have met," Jack said last night.

"That punch I took in the first round from Firpo was the hardest wallop I ever caught," the former champion remarked. "I fought the first round on instinct, I guess, for I didn't know what I was doing. If I hadn't been in the best shape of my life I wouldn't have survived. My bout with Tommy Gibbons a few months previous put me in great condition."

Leaves to See Wife.

Dempsey has been in Chicago several days visiting friends. He left last night for Wilmington, Del., to spend the holidays with his wife.

Whenever Dempsey comes to town it's news. Don't ask us why. He's just that kind of a fellow. He always will be news as long as the nation pays homage to fistic idols. Whatever he has to say is interesting. His account of the Tunney fights, the Gibbons fight, the Carpentier fight, the Firpo fight have been told over and over again. Still there always are reporters at Dempsey's door waiting to have him repeat it.

Is he going to fight again? Your answer depends on the paper you read. In the early afternoon editions he positively is going to return. In the three star sport special he is undecided. In the final he is definitely through. That routine goes on day after day in whatever part of the country Jack happens to be stopping.

Friends Know He's Through.

Whether Dempsey is as tough as he was three years ago, nobody knows, for he hasn't laced on a glove seriously since that night he was the victim of the long count at Soldiers' field. He hasn't strummed a chin in earnest since he sent Gene Tunney sprawling into the resin on the lake front before the greatest crowd in boxing history. There is little reason to believe a three year layoff for a man 35 years old has added to his physical fitness.

Dempsey knows, however, and the friends close to him know that he is through. Keeping the public in doubt about his return doesn't detract from his popularity. That is why he invariably gives an evasive answer.

Jack doesn't have to fight again. The interest from a trust fund, combined with what he makes as a referee and in vaudeville, provides him a handsome living. He has officiated in 50 bouts in 1930 and they have averaged more than $1,000.

Scoffs at Present Heavies.

Fight fans are reluctant to let him go as an active entertainer. He has provided more thrills than any man who has come into the game. The public liked the hoopla manner in which he waged his fights. They liked his gambling instincts. They liked the way he would take three or four punches to put over one payoff crash. They would rather lose with Dempsey than win with anybody else.

The people's champion doesn't think much of the present crop of heavyweights. Stribling is too cautious, Sharkey inconsistent, Carnera too cumbersome, and Schmeling—well, no class.

Tunney, if you accept Dempsey's appraisal, has been greatly overestimated.

"I don't think Tunney was as good a fighter as Gibbons," Jack remarked. "And I ought to have a pretty fair idea of their worth. I fought them both. Gibbons was harder to hit and had a sharper punch. Tunney never hurt me in either bout. I lost because I tried to keep carrying the fight. There would have been no action if it had been left to Tunney."

Lets Bygones Be Bygones.

While Dempsey still thinks Referee Dave Barry gave Gene a break in the count at Soldiers' field, he is willing to let bygones be bygones.

"The only criticism I have of Barry is that he didn't give me a chance at infighting, the style of attack I like best. When Tunney had me tied up he was in no hurry to separate us, but when I was in close pounding Gene's body he lost no time pulling us apart."

Dempsey has fought his last bout, but he still is around to add life to the game as an official and as a threat to the mediocre crop of heavyweights. It will be a dreary moment when he has passed out definitely.

He might not be able to lay a glove on a boxer like Stribling or stand up under the blows of Schmeling, Sharkey or Carnera. But if he were to fight any of them tomorrow, we probably would join the sentimental saps and go for him again.

The fans are going to keep cheering for him until another Dempsey comes along. He's a hard guy to quit.

Nilsen, National Ski Officer, to Serve at Tribune Meet

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Karl Nilsen, vice president of the National Ski association and an active competitor, has accepted the position of chief of the hill for THE TRIBUNE'S first annual ski tournament which will be held Jan. 4 at Riis park, Fullerton and Mead avenues. Nilsen will have charge of getting the slide in shape.

Prominent ski officials also are interested in THE TRIBUNE meet. Eugene Petersen, president of the Central Amateur Ski association, Secretary Narup of the Ogden Dunes club, and officials of the Norge Ski club are among those who have offered assistance in conducting the tournament.

President Joseph Gubbins of the northwest park district has called a meeting of prominent ski officials to make suggestions to the park board for improvement of the Riis park slide.

Early entries indicate that all boys who competed in the park district meet last year again will seek prizes. All boys under 18 years of age are eligible. There will be two age divisions, and medals will be awarded the first four in each class. Boys under 14 will compete together. The other division is for boys 14 to 17, inclusive.

Russell J. Vastine Jr., 1121 Oak avenue, Evanston, sent in his entry yesterday. Russell is only 8 years of age, but is a junior member of the Norge Ski club and has competed in juvenile meets. Experience is not necessary, but a few days' practice is advisable. The ski slides of the forest park district and at Riis park will be available several days before the meet.

Entries close Dec. 31 at midnight for THE TRIBUNE meet. Clip the blank and fill it out, printing name, club and age plainly. There is no entrance fee.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 23.—[Special.]—Butler university defeated Loyola university's basketball team here tonight, 27 to 22. The game was marked by close guarding and fast floor work.

The two teams jockeyed for three minutes and then Miller scored for Butler. Proffitt and Wagner made free throws and Withrow and Waesco followed with goals from the field. Schumann and Proffitt made free throws and Cavanaugh scored twice to put Loyola ahead.

Butler made a free throw and then Withrow scored and Proffitt tossed in two from the foul line to put Butler ahead again. Reynolds and Cavanaugh made good on fouls and the half ended with Butler leading, 11 to 10.

Reynolds scored at the outset of the second half. Withrow made good a foul and then Proffitt, Miller, Schumann, Miller, Cavanaugh, Miller, and Durburg counted in quick succession. Withrow made good under the basket on a one handed shot, but Packett matched Durburg's free throw. Then Withrow scored twice from the field and once from the foul line to give Butler a safe lead. Schumann made the final Loyola field goal.

IOWA, 28; CREIGHTON, 22

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 23.—(AP)—An unstoppable second half floor attack that swept Iowa university's fast basket shooters free under the basket for setup after setup tonight brought the Hawkeyes a 28 to 22 victory over Creighton university.

Throughout the first half the Hawkeye pass attack was well muzzled by the Bluejays, who in turn let loose a barrage of long shots to end the period on the long end of a 13 to 8 score.

At the opening whistle of the second half, however, the Hawks brushed up their passing game and swept around the Bluejay guards with ease. Time after time the floor attacks ended the basket with Kotlow, Kozer and Rogers in the open for the goal try. Lineup:

Paterson Pro Cagers Lose Protest of Ft. Wayne Game

New York, Dec. 23.—(AP)—The Paterson club of the American Professional Basketball league has lost its protest of a game played with Fort Wayne at Fort Wayne Dec. 9. Paterson contended that Fort Wayne violated league rules by having more than four recognized yeteran players in uniform. League officials voted down the protest because the fifth Fort Wayne player in uniform was Manager Ralph Miller, who has practically retired as an active player and did not compete against Paterson.

Bishop of London, at 72, Kicks 3 Goals for Old Team

LONDON, Dec. 23.—(AP)—The 72 year old bishop of London, the Rt. Rev. Arthur Foley Winnington-Ingram, scored three goals in a soccer football match yesterday and enjoyed the game. The bishop played for his old school, Mariborough college, in an alumni match against Radley. Marlborough won, 3 to 4. The match was played on the grounds of the bishop's residence, Fulham palace.

STILL YOUNG

CONNIE MACK.

Connie Mack Is Now 68, but Doesn't Feel It

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Connie Mack, entering the 69th year of his colorful career, spent his birthday on the job.

Other baseball managers may be off taking things easy during the yuletide season and players may be attending the meetings of the Stove League telling of their prowess in bygone days, but Connie Mack is busy with the future.

Mack was discovered today all alone in his tower office autographing baseballs—Christmas presents to crippled children.

On his desk was a pile of balls and scattered about were piles of telegrams and letters, all wishing him well. Frequently there was a ring of the telephone bell, and then: "O, fine, thank you very much. Merry Christmas to you."

The manager of the A's said he felt fine and did not realize that he was 68. "I don't feel that old," he said. "I get tired earlier than I used to, but that is all."

As to the prospects for next season, the manager of the world champions said he was hopeful. No one ever catches Mack predicting what his teams will do.

Mack spiked a rumor that the Athletics were about to trade George [Mule] Haas and Jimmy Moore, outfielders, to the St. Louis Browns for Leon [Goose] Goslin, slugging outfielder, and George Blaeholder, a pitcher.

"You'll hear reports of all kinds of trades from now until the middle of June," said Mack, "but they are only rumors."

"We'd like to have Goslin and Blaeholder, but St. Louis most certainly would not part with them. And as far as Haas and Moore are concerned, I'm satisfied with both boys. They certainly have played well for the Athletics."

Connie will go south about Jan. 15, preceding his players to Florida about a month. He will spend much of his stay in Florida playing golf before the spring practice begins.

GOLDSTEIN TAKES 6 ROUND VERDICT FROM GARAFOLA

New York, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Ruby Goldstein, former lightweight contender, hammered out a six round decision over Willie Garafola, New York, at the Broadway arena tonight. Although Goldstein won every round, he revealed little of the punching power that made him one of the most feared battlers in the business. He weighed 148 pounds, Garafola 147¼.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 23.—(AP)—The Chicago Blackhawks tied the Boston Bruins for the lead in the American division of the National Hockey league by defeating the Philadelphia Quakers in a rough and hard fought match here tonight. The score was 3 to 2.

The Quakers scored first when Hib Milks dashed through the Chicago team in the opening session, but before the period was over Johnny Gottselig had tied the count with a low shot from fifteen feet out.

Tommy Cook scored the next two goals, although he had nothing to do with one of them. In the second period Peaches Lyons of the Quakers knocked the puck into the net and, since Cook was the nearest man to the play, he received credit for the goal.

Cook Scores Again.

In the third period Cook drove down by himself and beat Wilf Cude, young goaltender, with a flip shot. Before the game ended Barton, on a pass from Lowery, scored for Philadelphia.

The Quakers scored shortly after the game started. They took the face off and pounded into Chicago territory, where Graham did some neat checking.

After 1:37 Hib Milks got the puck and by clever stick handling split the Hawks' defense. He was checked and thrown off balance, but recovered, found the disc, and slapped it into the cage.

The Blackhawks then changed lines and sent a rush up the ice that had young Cude, starting his first game in the nets, slightly worried, but he cleared nicely on shots by Somers and March.

However, Chicago refused to relent in its attack and continued to carry the puck into the Quaker territory. The home team could not penetrate the Hawk defense, so well were the players covered.

When the clock showed 17:19 of the period gone Gottselig went down the side and drilled a shot at the cage, which Cude didn't see, and the score was tied.

Cude Kicks Out Twice.

MacCalman was chased for tripping and while the Quakers were fighting the Hawks off, Coulson was given two minutes. Cude kicked out a shot and it went to Cook, but Cude repeated the kick.

When MacCalman came out of the box, Lyons took his place and proceeded to score a goal for the Hawks. He stopped the puck, but in attempting to clear drove it into the net. Cook, nearest the shot, received credit for the point.

The Quakers kept up a steady bombardment on the Chicago goal for more than a solid minute, in the third period, with Hib Milks causing most of the trouble. He got out side once and his pass was directly in the mouth of the goal, but Abel kicked it away.

Gottselig, Couture and Ripley carried the puck on combination plays and held it in Quaker territory. The lines changed, but the play did not, continuing to take place in the Quakers' defense area.

Dutkowski's Shot High.

Dutkowski drove in on the locals but his shot was high and when Shields who checked him into the boards, went off for two minutes. That inspired the Blackhawks and they went to work.

Howe came close to scoring while in a falling position. Then Dutkowski went off for tripping Kilrea. As the Quakers rushed, Couture went to the coop for roughing and the Hawks were two short.

Both men returned and the score was unchanged. Then Coulson went to the pen for touching the disc. Lowery soon followed him in for tripping Cook. The Hawks got busy and Cook almost scored as Coulson came back.

Shields and Jarvis teamed up and were close to a point, but Cook got the puck and went right in to score by himself. The time was 16:40.

When the Quakers had their full strength, Jarvis tripped Cook and left Philadelphia short handed again. But that didn't stop the Quakers, for they soon scored a goal, Barton counting on a pass from Lowery at 18:32. Shields and Gottselig went to the pen and the battle ended with MacKinnon rushing for the net.

RANGERS DEFEAT CANADIENS, 5-1; GO INTO 3D PLACE

Bill Cook Scores 3 Goals for New York.

New York, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Reaching their first form of the National Hockey league season in a dazzling display of speed and skill, the New York Rangers trounced the Montreal Canadiens, 5 to 1, tonight. The victory placed the Rangers third in the American division standing.

The Rangers had all the better of the play in a game that was furiously fought and frequently was as rough as it was fast.

Bill Cook scored three Ranger goals, two of them on brilliant unassisted attempts. Frank Boucher scored once and passed the ball for another counter while Bun Cook made final goal. Howie Morenz made the only Canadien goal with Albert Leduc getting the assist. Lineup:

RANGERS.		CANADIENS.
Roach	G	Hainsworth
Jerwa	R.D.	S. Mantha

Penalties—Joliat [Major], Boucher, Burke, Leduc, Thompson.

TORONTO TIES MAROONS.

MONTREAL, Dec. 23.—(AP)—With only three spares on the bench, the Toronto Maple Leafs fought the big squad of the Montreal Maroons to a standstill tonight, winding up with a 4-4 tie. The one point gained by the draw put the Leafs on even terms with the New York Americans in third place in the Canadian division standing of the National Hockey league and left the Maroons one point behind the division leading Montreal Canadiens.

Five of the eight goals were scored in the third period after the Maroons had taken a 2-1 lead in the second frame. Toronto scored three goals in rapid succession only to have the Maroons come back with two counters to tie. Bill Billips scored the final goal with only a minute to go.

Andy Blair scored first for Toronto while Ace Bailey, Harvey Jackson, and Happy Day made the third period goals. King Clancy assisted in two of them. Nels Stewart scored twice for the Maroons and Al Huggins and Phillips made the tying goals. Stewart and Red Horner received major penalties in the final period.

Alabama Grid Team Arrives at Pasadena

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Alabama's Crimson tide poured into Southern California late today, and though darkness was fast setting in Coach Wallace Wade whisked his football squad to Patterson field for a brief workout for the New Year's game with Washington State.

The Southern gentlemen and accompanying party which detrained at Alhambra, near here, were given a rousing reception both by Washington State officials and Californians.

Fresh from a victorious season but wearied by the long rail trip, the giant Alabama players radiated confidence. They are here for a third tournament of roses game and see no reason why the record of one victory and a tie should not be improved Jan. 1.

Cougars In Light Workout.

Meanwhile Coach Orin [Babe] Hollingbery called for another light workout for his Washington State Cougars at Tournament park.

When Coach Wade talked of using Freddie Sington at guard both on offense and defense, Coach Hollingbery smiled in a quizzical sort of way. "Let him," he said. "I'll wager he doesn't get away under punts as he did against Georgia. We'll stop him in the line."

Hollingbery has unbounded faith in his linemen and doesn't care who knows it. Mel Hein, rangy center, has never taken time out in varsity competition. George Hurley and Jack Parodi are a powerful pair of guards, while many think Harold Ahlskog, tackle, is better than Glenn Edwards, 235 pound giant all-American tackle.

Cougar Mascot in Surly Mood.

There are a quartet of ends about on a par—John Hurley, brother of George; Sam Hansen, George Hill and Lyle Maskell. Maskell is a placement kicker.

Since the Northwesterners arrived yesterday their Cougar mascot, Butch Meeker, has been in a surly mood in his cage at the Huntington hotel. Washington State followers say this is an ill omen for the boys from Alabama, and efforts were being made to get a consignment of Alabama steaks for the sleek coated mountain cat.

Army-Navy Game Brings $607,412 to Relief Fund

New York, Dec. 23.—[Special.]—Net receipts of the recent Army-Navy football game for the benefit of unemployment relief, before deductions for the expenses of the two schools and their teams, were $607,412.45, Grover Whalen, chairman of the Salvation Army's emergency committee, announced today. His statement follows:

"The Audit Company of New York has submitted the following statement in connection with receipts and disbursements for the Army-Navy game:

Received from radio programs, football, and other sources: $130,707,26.

Total receipts: $632,577.26.

Expenses incident to the game: $25,164.81.

Net receipts to Salvation Army: $607,412.45.

ALL-STAR ELEVENS.

THE TRIBUNE sports department certainly chose a good season to discontinue lending its name to the selection of all-star football elevens. All-American selections this fall have been more unsatisfactory, possibly more unfair, than usual. Owing to the many different groups of pickers, no one selection stands out as authoritative.

In most of these all-star national selections, we find omitted the name of the greatest ball carrying back of the most successful eleven of the year. On a few, but not a majority, we find included the most powerful back of the year. In the line, there is a wide variation of choice. Most of them are good or they wouldn't be there, but who can say which is better?

As The Wake has pointed out, picking All-Americans has become an impossible and unsatisfactory task because of the many good elevens scattered all over the country. Since one man manifestly cannot do the subject justice and no longer cares to assume individual responsibility for the impossible, the vogue is for boards, with a representative from each geographical section, to caucus on the choices. That has led to a division of the eleven places among the different sections. This has only added to the confusion as each representative naturally insists on some choices from his section.

Football has grown too large for All-American teams. Some players do stand out nationally and deserve such rating, but most of the so called honors are blah.

Through life I find so many speckled roads
That in my heart of hearts I yearn to see
A radiant way to dark eternity.
The buzzing flies are many. Gad-fly goads
At every turn remind me of dumb toads
Who hop and hop and with the twilight dree
A dreary drivel while afar in glee
The elder foes of men present new nodes.
O Lord, grant that in darkest days my eyes
May have their scales removed in kind surprise!
I know albescence like beacon gleams
Throughout the darkness of my sable dreams.
O dear remote and distant God, become my light.
I need thy clarity! This life is fight!

Jimmy Relates Another—How He Missed One

BY FRENCH LANE.

You can't wipe that smile off Jimmy Dooley's face.

Racegoers around Chicago all recall Irish Jimmy—not a tout—but the best hustler that ever set foot on a race course.

"Anybody who hustles will get some of the dough that floats around every race track" long has been Irish Jimmy's motto.

Things may not be breaking just right for Jimmy in these trying days. But if they are not going right he smiles through the fog and the clouds.

His smile was a bit wistful as we encountered him not far from State and Madison yesterday while the eleventh hour Christmas shopping crowd was marching past and milling around.

Broad Smile Remains.

But the broad smile—whether wistful or not—was there just the same, and as you looked into it you had to forget any other subject that might have been foremost in your thoughts.

Did Jimmy discuss the current events of the day?

No, sir, except for just an instant, while he bravely held his position on the fringe of the Christmas shopping throng.

"You sort of exposed me the other day," Jimmy said, "when you told about my trip to New Orleans and my hurried departure in the middle of the night after I convinced a good sap with plenty of money that Jockey R. Simpson was my nephew.

"It wasn't my fault that Jockey Simpson happened to be a Negro boy. Nor was I to blame because the sucker was a next door neighbor to the New Orleans commissioner of police.

Tells a New One.

"But if you think that was a bad luck trip just listen to this one which happened a dozen years ago.

"We were at Churchill Downs in Louisville for the fall meeting. I dug up a good man from Detroit. He had plenty of money. He knew me as Mr. McDermott, for Russell McDermott was one of the best jockeys riding there. He came home on many winners, and he was in on most of the betting coups. So I thought it might boost my stock if I dropped into town known as Jockey McDermott's uncle.

"It didn't require much time for me to strike up an acquaintance with Jockey McDermott, and we were extremely friendly before the meeting was many days old. On about the sixth or seventh day McDermott was in the saddle on a horse called Newell W.

"I knew him well enough then to call him 'Russell.' So I asked him what he thought of the horse he was riding.

Roll Goes on Stevenson.

"'Not this stiff,' he told me just before he went into the paddock to climb into the saddle on Newell W. Then out of the corner of his mouth he whispered 'I'm down for four hundred on Stevenson.'

"My man from Detroit with the big bankroll was waiting on the edge of the betting ring. I told him the jockey nephew was wagering that way.

"Stevenson was around 2 to 1 in the betting. My good man from Detroit bet $2,000 for himself and $400 for me.

"Then came the race. Stevenson rushed to the front on the last turn. As he headed into the stretch he broke down completely and stopped to a walk.

"Out of the dust and the turmoil behind him came McDermott on Newell W. They went on and won all alone by several open lengths.

"In the mutuel betting Newell W. paid $398 for a two dollar ticket.

"In the excitement I became separated from my Detroit friend. Well, I haven't heard from him from that day until this."

STEINBORN AND KATAN WRESTLE ON ARMORY CARD

Milo Steinborn and John Katan, Slavic heavyweight grappler, were signed yesterday to appear in one of the five wrestling matches at Doc Krone's mat show next Monday night at the Broadway armory.

While they are slated under the Dick Shikat-George Hagen main event and the Kola Kwariani-Ray Steele semi-windup, Krone said he wouldn't be surprised if these two rivals stole the show.

Parker, York Begin Play in Stagg Tourney

Drawings were announced yesterday for the University of Chicago's holiday basketball tournament that will be held next week at Bartlett gymnasium. Thirty-two teams, representing the city and suburban leagues, with a sprinkling of downstate fives, make up the bracket.

This event will be a susbstitute for the National Interscholastic affair started at the Midway in 1927 and abolished this year. Likewise, the age old argument regarding the supremacy of the suburban over city league play, and vice versa, will be definitely decided.

Tuesday night, Dec. 30, the University of Chicago varsity meets Brigham Young university at 8 p. m., between tournament games, and a game with Ohio Wesleyan has been scheduled for Saturday night, Jan. 3.

The following is the schedule for the first round of tournament play:

MONDAY, DEC. 29.

2 p. m.—Parker vs. York.
3 p. m.—Marshall vs. Evanston.
4 p. m.—Wauconda vs. Tilden.
5 p. m.—Bradley vs. Waller.
7 p. m.—Riverside vs. Crane.
8 p. m.—Henkakee vs. Senn.
9 p. m.—Bowen vs. La Grange.

TUESDAY, DEC. 30.

2 p. m.—New Trier vs. McKinley.
3 p. m.—Fenger vs. Proviso.
4 p. m.—Bloom vs. Lane.
7 p. m.—Hinsdale vs. Hyde Park.
8 p. m.—University of Chicago vs. Brigham Young university.
9 p. m.—Austin vs. Morgan Park.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 31.

2 p. m.—Tuley vs. Thornton.
3 p. m.—Downers Grove vs. Lindblom.
4 p. m.—Robinson vs. Calumet.
7 p. m.—Lake View vs. McNabb.

FRANKLIN SKATE DERBY TO OPEN SEASON SUNDAY

With good ice promised for the Franklin Skating and Athletic club's Derby at Humboldt park Sunday, all is in readiness for the opening of the local ice skating season which will start with a sprint clash between 28 class A stars.

Among the 28 are O'Neill Farrell and Eddie Murphy of the 1928 Olympic team, Frank Stack and Ray Wondra of the Amphion Athletic club, Eddie Schroeder of the Walton Arrow A. C., Herb Knudten, Art Peters and Cornie Ewert of the Northwest Skating club, Bill Minster of the Norwegian-American A. A., and Wally Mitchell of the Majestic Skating club.

The first event Sunday will start at 1:30 p. m. There will be races for boys and girls of all classes and ages in addition to two events for class A men and the race for class A girls.

Buenos Aires Polo Team Invited to Yankee Meet

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 23.—(AP)—The Hurlingham Polo club of Buenos Aires has received an invitation from the United States Polo association to send a team to the United States to compete in the open championship play in September. The invitation, addressed to Luis Lacey, famous Anglo-Argentine star, by Louis E. Stoddard, president of the United States Polo association, named Lacey, Daniel Kearney and Juan and David Miles as the invited team together with a substitute.

Mallards Sleep Late; Don't Get About Till Noon

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cuba Island, Illinois River Valley, Dec. 23.—The mallard ducks which still are hanging around the open water and frozen ponds down here in this hunting country now operate on a two to four hour day. They have union hours beaten by a mile.

We have had a good chance to check up on the hours of the birds, because we were in the march from about 7:30 in the morning until sundown. Keeping such a vigil, it was necessary to have "exercise periods" to keep warm, so we walked and ran over the ice and through the woods until the chills were routed. Then back to the duck blind we went to take up the watch for birds.

The mallards keep out of sight until around noon. Mornings apparently represent rest periods for them. But from 11 or 12 o'clock on, the frosty air is churned up by beating wings, and the activity increases around sundown. This seems to be the schedule for nice weather. However, a blow or a snowstorm is something different, because under such conditions the birds keep moving irrespective of the time of day.

Yesterday morning we trailed behind Lou Barkhausen on a morning tour over the ice and through the woods because all was quiet on the mallard front around 9 o'clock. After Lou had broken the ice for the decoy ducks in the pen and following a little work on our blind, we started picking our way through the dead timber to reach the big levee behind our shooting hole.

This proved to be a quiet lonely stretch of lowland. Only the rat-tat-tat of the woodpeckers operating on the dead trees, the occasional call of a friendly chickadee, and the crackle of the ice disturbed this stretch of frozen bottomland which in October resounds to a perfect bedlam of noise, because here the wood-ducks congregate by the hundreds and they're a noisy bunch.

Although the mallards take the mornings off, the hawks still are working on a full time schedule. Yesterday morning we watched two of these birds of prey flying low over a stretch of marsh, back and forth, close to the tops of the weeds as they looked for a meal.

TWO PROTESTED KANSAS CAGERS RULED ELIGIBLE

Lawrence, Kas., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Nine University of Kansas basketball players were named tonight by Forrest C. Allen, athletic director and coach, to report to practice Dec. 26 preparatory to an invasion of Colorado.

Among the nine were William and Kenneth Johnson, Oklahoma City sophomores whose eligibility has been questioned by Hugh McDermott, University of Oklahoma basketball coach, on the ground they had played a year ago in a game not sanctioned by the university. University of Kansas officials today declared the boys eligible.

'PEACE ON EARTH' IS WATCHWORD OF N. Y. RING BODY

Consequently Schmeling May Fight Sharkey.

New York, Dec. 23.—(AP)—The big showdown among heavyweights scheduled for today has been postponed either by accident or design, until the mellowing influences of the Christmas season have gotten in their work.

Peace and good will toward men ruled the offices of the New York state athletic commission where a duel of words and wits was scheduled between doughty old William Muldoon, James A. Farley and Gen. John Phelan on one side, and Joseph Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, on the other. The battle that involves the Teuton's standing as heavyweight champion and his naive attitude toward the commission's ultimatum to sign within fifteen days for a title defense against Jack Sharkey never took place.

Flinty Attitudes Have Softened.

Jacobs will visit the commission as a private citizen next Tuesday, with "Merry Christmases" and "the best wishes of the season" have died away. Under benign influences of the holiday, Commissioner Farley said today he would be happy to receive Jacobs, though he questioned whether or not the latter was Schmeling's manager and would deal with him "firmly but kindly."

There seems to be a general softening of flinty attitudes of the commission toward Schmeling and Schmeling toward the commission. The commissioners have decreed that Schmeling must fulfill next June the promise he made the day after he won the commission's recognition as heavyweight titleholder on a foul last spring in the Yankee stadium—a promise of a return match with Sharkey.

The commission has ruled that Sharkey does not need to qualify for the match by winning his way through an elimination tournament involving the southerner, Young Stribling, and the Argentine, Vittorio Campolo, although promoters insist that without the "build-up" a match between Sharkey and Schmeling would be a terrific financial loss. The Chicago Stadium has further complicated matters by offering Schmeling $500,000 for a title go with Young Stribling in June.

Probably Will Restore Jacobs.

It seems likely that compromise on both sides will bring the title back to New York. Jacobs, under suppression by the commission as a result of the side tracking of Arthur Donnelly, Schmeling's original manager, will tell the commission that his gladiator is willing to fight the outstanding contender in June, be he Sharkey, Stribling or Campolo.

The commission probably will accept this statement, restore Jacobs to good standing and permit Sharkey to engage in a fight he needs after his long layoff—either against Stribling in Miami in February, or against Campolo here. Thus tender dignity on all sides will be safeguarded and another heavy financial loss may be saved the Garden.

ENDS LIFE WITH CHRISTMAS GIFT LIST AT HER SIDE

Mrs. Eva McKinnie Robinson, 50 years old, owner of a three story, 25 flat apartment building at 512 Lee street, Evanston, ended her life with gas yesterday in her flat in the building.

Beside her on a small table in the kitchen was a list of friends and relatives to whom she had sent Christmas cards and gifts. She had invited members of her immediate family to a dinner and reunion tomorrow evening. These included her son, Roy Flannery, by a former marriage, and her brother, Ralph R. McKinnie, an Evanston realty broker.

The body was discovered by the janitor, Charles Peterson. No motive for the suicide has been ascertained by the police other than that Mrs. Robinson seemed melancholy at times.

BOATMAN HANGS HIMSELF.

The body of Peter Kraus, 42 years old, a lake boat worker, was found hanging in an empty building at 262 East Illinois street yesterday by a friend, Joseph Sammons, 23 West Kinzie street. He had used a muffler to hang himself.

Trainer of James Butler Stable Drops Reins

New York, Dec. 23.—[Special.]—Andrew Schuttinger, trainer of James Butler's stable for the last four years, resigned today. During the time he directed the destinies of the Butler horses he developed a number of great racers, his crowning achievement, however, being Questionnaire, rated by many experts as the second best 3 year old of the year. Gallant Fox alone is conceded to be his superior.

SCHOOL TEACHER SHOT TWICE IN HER CLASSROOM

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 23.—[Special.]—Mrs. Fannie Brown, 44, science teacher at the Hutchins Intermediate school, was shot twice near the heart early today in her classroom while she was preparing work for her pupils.

Her assailant, Charles Christopher, 58, surrendered to police two hours after the shooting. He is held on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

Mrs. Brown, who is in a serious condition, was alone in the schoolroom when Christopher, a factory worker, entered.

Mrs. Brown said Christopher shot her because she refused to thank him for flowers he sent her Sunday. Christopher, who also made a statement, said he drew his pistol to intimidate her when she refused to lend him $5.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

THREE AUTOISTS KILL THREE AND SPEED AWAY

Car and Trolley Hit; Driver Dies.

Three persons were killed by hit and run motorists yesterday, a driver was killed in a collision with another car and a man died of injuries received when struck by a machine a few days ago. The deaths raised the Cook county motor toll for the year to 1,091. The victims:

Miss Hannah Kinsella, 60 years old, 118 South Honore street. Killed when struck by an auto while crossing Jackson boulevard at Honore street. The car sped away.

Peter Steinhauer, 40 years old, 321 East 136th place. Killed when struck by a hit and run motorist while riding his bicycle in 138th place near Stewart avenue.

Unidentified man. Killed by a hit and run driver at 59th avenue and 22d street, Cicero.

William Tugwell, 60 years old, 2430 Linden place. Fatally injured when his automobile crashed head-on into a street car at Milwaukee and Wellington avenues. Witnesses said Tugwell had swung to the left side of the street while passing another automobile. The police are looking for another man who is reported to have leaped from the car and fled.

Charles Ewart, 69 years old, 7522 West Harrison street, Forest Park. Died at the Oak Park hospital from injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile Dec. 22 at Hoyne avenue and 22d street.

Frank Schmidt, 6234 North Oakley avenue, a salesman, was arrested yesterday as the driver of the automobile which struck and fatally injured John McAllister, 78 years old, 1808 West Monroe street, on Friday night. Schmidt was released, however, when the police said they believed his story that his car had been in a garage all day and that he had not left his home.

McAllister was struck at Madison and Lincoln streets and was thrown into the street a few blocks away by the driver of the car who had volunteered to take the injured man to a hospital. A bystander gave police the license number of the car, which was traced to Schmidt. Schmidt was ordered to appear at the inquest on Jan. 7.

Donald Sloan, 14 years old, 1507 South Avers avenue, was probably fatally hurt last night when he was struck by an automobile while riding his bicycle in Millard avenue at Douglas boulevard. He was taken to the Mount Sinai hospital by the driver of the automobile, Bert Ross, 2020 South 10th avenue, Maywood, a nickel polisher. Ross was held by Fillmore police. The boy's skull was fractured.

Hold Funeral Today for Attorney Frederick Peake

Frederick Peake, 74 years old, veteran Chicago attorney, will be buried in Rosehill cemetery this afternoon following services at 1 o'clock at the chapel at 720 Lake street, Oak Park. Mr. Peake died on Monday at his residence at 544 South East avenue, Oak Park. He was born in Rockford, Ill., and moved to Chicago 50 years ago. His home was in Oak Park for the last 23 years.

BROKER KILLS HIMSELF IN HOME IN BALTIMORE

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 23.—(AP)—The second in his family to meet death under tragic circumstances in two years, T. Edward Hambleton, 44, president of Hambleton & Co., investment bankers, shot and killed himself today at his home in Lutherville, a suburb. A coroner returned a suicide verdict.

His brother, Lieut. Col. John A. Hambleton, was killed in an airplane crash in June, 1929. The banker's business associates said he had been in poor health since his recent return from a big game hunting trip in the far east.

In October his wife, Mrs. Adelaide McAlpine Hambleton, established a residence at Reno, Nev., but declined to state whether she would seek a divorce. Their only son is T. Edward Hambleton Jr., 20, a student at Yale.

In the world war he was a lieutenant colonel attached to Gen. Pershing's headquarters, was awarded the distinguished service medal, and was decorated by the British and French governments.

Wife Hears News.

Reno, Nev., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Adelaide Hambleton, whose husband, T. Edward Hambleton, committed suicide today at Baltimore, Md., had planned to file suit for divorce here after completing the required residence in Reno.

She prepared to leave for Baltimore tomorrow morning.

Cardinal Mercier's Remains Removed to Mausoleum

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MALINES, Belgium, Dec. 23.—The body of Cardinal Mercier, Belgian war hero, which has lain under the high altar at St. Rombaut's cathedral here since 1926, was transferred to a special mausoleum built within the church last night.

AN INSANE ACTOR LEAPS TO DEATH IN N. Y. CROWD

Escapes from Father, Plunges 8 Stories.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 23.—[Special.]—Julian Winter, 42, an actor, scheduled to open in a new Broadway play tonight, became deranged today, removed all his clothing and leaped eight floors to his death. He fell in the midst of lunch-hour crowds beneath his apartment in West 57th street.

Bolts from Rehearsal.

Winter, who at one time was stage manager for Morris Gest and had played in Cohan and Harris' production, "The Royal Vagabond," and in the "Vagabond King," had the important rôle of the health commissioner in Jed Hapris' production, "The Inspector General," opening at the Hudson theater tonight.

For several days Winter had been acting erratically and Sunday night during rehearsal he bolted from the stage and disappeared.

Late last night he returned home and his wife summoned Leo Winterfield, his father. Today there was another conference. Winter, shaking off his relatives, forced his way to the window. The actor, who weighed about 260 pounds, leaped through a plate glass window, almost dragging his wife and father with him.

Artist Kills Self.

Miss Catherine Merriman, former secretary of the Foreign Policy association, and, more recently, interested in photography, committed suicide today by shooting herself. Mrs. A. Beaver, a sister, told the police that Miss Merriman had been in ill health for some time. She spent much of her time in Europe and had recently returned from Italy. She came originally from Geneva, N. Y.

CHICAGO STOCKS DRIFT ALONG IN QUIET SESSION

Ask Receivers for Three Affiliated Utilities.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The Chicago stock market was becalmed in the holiday doldrums yesterday. A slight ripple was caused by the news of the closing of a New York bank but the selling flurry which it inspired soon subsided and the market resumed its idle drifting.

The closing price list emphasized the absence of any definite trend. For the majority of active shares final quotations were within a fraction of Monday's last prices. In one or two cases the spread was wider.

After the close of the market news was received of the filing of three separate bills in the federal court in Delaware asking receivers for three affiliated utility companies whose shares are traded in on the exchange. The firms named in the applications are the Twin States Natural Gas company, Inland Utilities, Inc. and the Midland Natural Gas Company.

Heads Combine.

The concerns are operated by the Midland Management company which is headed by E. R. Berry who is also president of the separate companies. The action in the federal court follows the appointment late in October of an equity receiver for E. R. Diggs & Co., Chicago and New York investment house, which was banker for the firms and market sponsor's of their stocks.

The petitions for receivership allege inability to meet current obligation. The petitioners in each case were stockholders. At the time of the appointment of the Diggs receiver, President Berry stated that the companies were not affected by the difficulties of the bankers. Dividend and interest payments could be met through earnings, he said.

Operations of the three companies are centered in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, and Maryland. The firms deal in natural gas, water, and ice directly and through subsidiary concerns.

Trading in the shares of the three companies was suspended when the Diggs receiver was appointed. All of the issues opened sharply lower when trading was resumed a few days later. Inland shares are currently selling around 4. Closing quotations on Twin States and Midland A yesterday were 3 and 2⅝ respectively.

Eugene F. McDonald Jr., president of the Zenith Radio corporation, announced last night that operating deficit of the company for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31 was $265,949 after all charges. The company was unable to show a profit in the final quarter because of the conditions existing in the industry, he said.

Will Offer New Line.

Net current assets of the company at the close of the year amounted to $1,766,133, which includes $1,014,105 in cash and $475,125 in inventories. The inventories consist of material only and are the lowest in several months, Mr. McDonald stated.

The company which in the past has specialized in the higher priced field will shortly offer a line of receivers priced from $57.50 up, he revealed. Deliveries of the new model will begin immediately after the first of the year.

Mr. McDonald said that the management is pursuing a conservative policy in production and expenditures with the view of being in position to benefit from any general improvement in trade conditions.

NOVEMBER NETS OF FIRST 9 RAILS ARE 28.1% LOWER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 23.—The first nine railroads to report November earnings had net operating income aggregating $13,304,000, compared with $18,513,000 in the same month last year, decrease of 28.1 per cent, and with $20,356,000 in the corresponding month in 1928, decrease of 34.6 per cent. November was also a decrease of 46.8 per cent below October, when net operating income amounted to $24,880,000.

These carriers had gross revenues in November amounting to $67,962,000, against $83,119,000 in November, 1929, a decline of 18.2 per cent, and against $85,028,000 in the same month two years ago, a decrease of 20 per cent. November gross was a decline of 20.3 per cent from the preceding month this year, when gross revenues of these carriers aggregated $85,359,000.

Net operating incomes for November are reported by the following:

BANK CLEARING FIGURES WON'T BE PUBLISHED

New York, Dec. 23.—(AP)—The New York Clearing House association announced today that after Dec. 31 it would discontinue publication of daily exchanges and balances.

If this doesn't mean much to you, be assured that it does mean much to gambling rings throughout the country which have been using the figures as the basis of a nation-wide gambling scheme.

Metropolitan banks having membership in the association decided to stop this playing for big stakes by the simple method of refusing to publish the statistics, which have virtually no financial significance.

After the first of the year the clearing house will publish only its usual weekly statement. Prior to the advent of the federal reserve system, the daily figures had considerable value as indices of the banks' condition, but for many years their importance has been comparatively slight.

RESERVE BANK CUTS DISCOUNT TO HELP TRADE

New York Rate Now Lowest in History.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Another effort to accelerate business recovery by making credit ample and cheap was announced by the federal reserve board last night. It took form as a reduction by the New York federal reserve bank of its rediscount rate from 2½ to 2 per cent, which is the lowest rate in the history of the reserve system.

The New York institution is the largest in the reserve system and its actions on rediscount rates, affecting the chief money and securities markets of the country, have considerable influence on money rates in other centers. The fact that other reserve banks now have rediscount rates of 1 or 1½ per cent may result in some flow of funds from New York to other centers. But the generally slack demand for credit throughout the country may lead other reserve banks to reduce their rates in order to narrow the spread between their centers and New York.

Recalls Previous Efforts.

The present action recalls the efforts of the Hoover administration and the reserve authorities to stimulate business last summer. Then the New York bank lowered its rediscount rates from 3 to 2½ per cent, the previous low rate in reserve system history. On the other hand, it was the New York institution that stepped its rate up to 4 per cent in August, 1929, as a part of the reserve board's campaign to halt the flow of funds into the New York call loan market and thereby check stock market speculation and inflation.

Whether easier money rates will have any immediate effect on trade and industry is a moot point among bankers. However, unusually favorable rates are likely to facilitate recovery when it eventually begins. Another influence is the fact that low money rates generally stimulate the bond market by lowering the yields on government securities and thereby forcing banks and individual investors to turn to classes of bonds. This, in turn, facilitates corporate and municipal financing.

The usual year-end lull in business and industry is reflected in reports on the movement of commodities by the railroads and operations of the steel industry. The American Railway association announced that loading of revenue freight for the week ended Dec. 13 totaled 744,443 cars, a decline

Color Ads Create More Jobs, Give Better Service

BY SCRUTATOR.

The way to confute our prophets of gloom for the future is to show specific instances where employment of labor is to be increased and its efficiency bettered. The newspaper publishing business may do for an example; it is at the threshold of an era of increased usefulness, due to technological advance that will necessitate more workmen in the turning out of an improved product.

For some 200 years the newspaper has existed. It has been a white, occasionally colored, sheet of paper imprinted in black; or to be more exact a sheet of paper covered with mechanical writing in one color. It has improved vastly in editorial content, in speed of transmission and writing of news in the use of illustration to clarify the stories it prints and in distribution of the whole product.

Sees Profitable Use.

Still, until recently, except for supplements prepared and printed in advance of the date of publication, it has remained black and white. Color printing in the daily offered its advertisers the white sheet and black ink with which to convey his message. Now it is moving toward additional color. It has already moved far enough for a clear demonstration that ink of two colors may be used profitably by advertisers.

A little more than a year ago THE TRIBUNE began to offer two ink colors. Advertisers were not immediately sold on its value and the newspaper itself pioneered by running its own advertisements in two colors. Those forward looking businesses which did take up the innovation attested its value by becoming, in many instances, repeaters with color ads.

What it meant to wage earners in the publishing business to have this new form of printing go over is exemplified in THE TRIBUNE organization. When extra color printing is being done more press units are in action. Employment in the pressroom goes up approximately 10 per cent. The number of plates required is increased. A day crew must be engaged to make the pressroom ready for the work that is to be done at night. There is more work on make-up of pages.

Benefits Allied Industries.

Moreover, the allied industries are benefited. Demand for colored ink is created. More liberal use of stereotyping and engraving materials is necessary. Additional press units are requisite. Expansion of double color printing all over the country will mean more activity in the plants of the machinery manufacturers.

Printing and publishing have, with all their improvements in labor saving machinery, still kept up employment. In 1899 the trade, plus paper and paper products, had less than 300,000 wage earners. In 1927, the last year for which the figures have been officially formulated, these trades had more than 550,000 wage earners. One out of fifteen in the total of manufacturing wage earners were in these two classifications. Color printing, if it becomes as general as it promises to, will probably increase this percentage of the total.

Color Appeal Is Basic.

The appeal of color is basic. Automobiles that used to be all black have been sold in recent years in all the colors of the rainbow. The manufacturers, the largest as well as the smallest, had to adopt the stimulant of brilliant shades to make their mass-standardized products sell. They are now given a new tieup of color with the newspaper, the medium made their customers acually go and look at the cars on the sales floor and buy them.

Color printing in the newspaper, generally accepted, may be as revolutionary to the newspaper business as pleasing colors were to the automotive industry. It is a refinement that is meeting the cash register test of results and at the same time making more opportunities for work in the comparatively high paid printing trades.

TROUBLESOME YEAR IN WALL ST. SOFTENED BY CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

New York, Dec. 23.—(AP)—The spirit of Christmas softened the heart of a Wall street hardened by a troublesome year in finance today.

The tenth annual Wall street observance was held at the junction of Wall and Broad streets, between the stock exchange building and stolid gray stone offices of J. P. Morgan & Co. A huge Christmas tree was erected in the middle of the street.

The ceremony began with the playing at 3:45 p. m. of the Trinity church chimes, two short blocks away at the head of Wall street. Carol singers and the Sixteenth infantry band gathered in the street, and the Gloria trumpeters played from the balconies of the stock exchange. After a program of music, and the ceremony of lighting the tree, the Rev. Caleb B. Stetson, rector of Trinity church, pronounced the benediction.

Thousands of workers of Wall street halted on their way home to participate in the observance.

Charge Discrimination in Minnesota's Class Rates

Washington, D. C., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Western class rates as applied to Minnesota and the northwest were declared discriminatory in a petition filed today with the interstate commerce commission by the state of Minnesota.

The state, through its railroad and warehouse commission, asked that the western trunk line class rate investigation closed last fall be reopened and rates to Minnesota and the northwest be revised.

The petition alleged that discriminations had been created between the eastern section of the country and Illinois and Minnesota and the northwest.

"We allege," said a statement accompanying the petition, "that the record does not support the report and findings made in the propriety of class rate levels prescribed for application in western trunk line territory when compared with class rates prescribed for Illinois and central territories nor is there justification for the spread in rate levels as between the different rate zones and sections in western trunk line territory. This allegation is based upon the premise that the general level of class rates in each rate territory shall correspond and conform with average service costs and carriers revenue requirements in each well defined rate territory."

Suggests Rate Guide.

The petition claimed rates should be so arranged to provide carriers with sufficient revenues to pay operating costs and return on the property located within the territory. The composite average cost per revenue ton mile and income deficiencies were suggested as means of providing a guide.

"Owing to the constantly increasing loss from passenger service operations on the railway systems serving western trunk line territory the proportionate amount of income deficit from all service operations in that territory is greater than is the proportionate amount in other sections of the western district," the petition said.

"If confined to freight service operations the composite rate of return earned by western trunk line carriers is as high and the composite average cost is as low as is the composite rate of return earned by the eastern district carriers or the composite average service cost on the lines serving that district.

"Compared with the rate of return earned, or with the average service costs on eastern district railway systems, the railway systems serving the territory from the Twin Cities west to the Pacific have earned a higher composite rate of return and have handled freight traffic at a lower average cost

"On that portion of northwest railroads located in Minnesota and North Dakota, including the terminals and lines in Wisconsin serving the Lake Superior docks, the return earned is higher and the average total service cost per revenue ton mile is lower than is the return earned or the average cost incurred on a like mileage in any section of the United States, exclusive of the iron range roads in Minnesota and the coal roads in the Pocahontas region."

Grants Extension.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 23.—(AP)—The Baltimore and Ohio railroad today was granted six months additional time by the interstate commerce commission to dispose of its holdings in the Western Maryland railroad.

This is the second extension granted due to unsettled conditions. Disposition of the stock was ordered by the commission originally under the Clayton anti-trust law.

EASTERN RAIL MEN ADJOURN SECRET MEETING

New York, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Representatives of four big eastern railroads, after an all day conference concerning plans for consolidation, adjourned late this afternoon without reaching any final decision. Further meetings will be held.

Attending the conference are O. P. and M. J. Sweringen, of the Nickel Plate system; Patrick Crowley and A. H. Harris, of the New York Central; W. W. Atterbury and Eisa Lee, of the Pennsylvania, and Daniel Willard and George M. Shriver, of the Baltimore and Ohio.

The meeting today was guarded by close secrecy.

New York, Dec. 23.—What with another New York chain bank folding up, a disappointing steel trade review and the bear crowd generally on their bad behavior, the stock market had to go through some rather trying calistenics to keep its right side up today.

Time and again the bull forces would get a promising little rally going only to have it rubbed out. The worst upset of all came about the middle of the afternoon when shorts took advantage of news of the bank suspension to jump on the market and stamp out the gains of the last previous rally en masse. The attack lasted for a good half hour before any show of support was forthcoming and for a while threatened to develop into something approximating the break that followed the last big bank suspension here some two weeks ago.

Turns the Tide.

Strong interests then threw enough buying orders behind the pivotals to turn the tide, however, and the close found prices slanting once more up-

WITH IMPROVED DEMAND, COPPER PRICES ADVANCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 23.—As an outcome of an improvement in the demand for copper the price of that metal was advanced in both the export and the domestic markets today. The domestic price was raised from 10c to 10¼c a pound, while the price of copper for export was advanced from 10.30c a pound to 10.55c. Sales were made at the advanced prices, it was stated in the trade.

The buying of copper for export was described as good. Up to noon 4,000,000 pounds were reported sold to European consumers.

OF the attributes to lasting success in banking ... there is one to be desired more than all others. It is strength. ¶ Measure strength as you will... in terms of great resources... world facilities ... personnel... experience... you will find this institution in the foremost ranks of world banks. That is its reputation. ¶ And those who come here... year after year... with their problems of business and finance... recognize in their dealings with this bank and its officers a distinctive application of this important factor in banking. ¶ For it is a lifelong principle of ours, that... given great resources and long experience... a bank's ultimate strength lies in its ability to serve... and serve well. For 68 years we have built upon this premise. ¶ Strength ... demonstrated in real service. That... we believe... is the true measure of a bank's greatness.

EASY CLOSE IN COTTON

Selling of cotton yesterday was based largely at the start on lower Liverpool cables, which was followed by a net loss of 8 points with sales of only 2,000 bales in that market. A rally came toward mid-day on scattered buying but the close was fairly easy at a few points above the lowest prices. Net losses were 2 to 7 points in Chicago and 2 to 6 points in other markets. Spots were unchanged at 9.80c in New York, 9.45c in New Orleans, 9.55c in Galveston and 9.50c in Houston. The technical situation was said to be in favor of maintaining prices near the present level.

Exports of cotton since Aug. 1 aggregate 5,700,000 bales against 3,900,000 bales for the same time last year. Prices follow:

HOLIDAY QUIET IS PREVAILING IN WHEAT MARKETS

Finish Shows Fractional Price Gains.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Buying of a liberal amount of old May wheat, which was generally attributed to a leading local professional who presumably was covering short sales, yesterday lifted that delivery ⅞c over the Monday finish to 81⅞c, the highest figure at which it has sold since Dec. 10. The close was at the top to a fraction under. Old December gained ⅝c and finished at 77c, while March was 80c, a net gain of ⅝c.

There was an absence of heavy liquidation in the new crop deliveries of wheat here and in other markets which has been such a feature of late. While July in Chicago sold at 64¾c at one time, it failed to break into new ground on the downward movement and rallied to 66c later in sympathy with Liverpool and Winnipeg, closing ⅝c higher at 65½@65⅝c.

Holiday Dullness in Wheat.

Taken as a whole, holiday dullness prevailed in the world's wheat markets. This condition is expected to continue until after the turn of the year.

A slight change in sentiment was noted regarding the probable trend of the wheat market during the day. The record low prices now prevailing for cash grain and futures are a factor. December wheat in Liverpool closed at 61c per bu yesterday. With the exception of a brief period in 1894-'95 it is necessary to go back to 1742 to find a price for British grown grain as low as 63c. Since 1594 the yearly average price in England has been below 65c only twice, in 1742 and 1654.

If Liverpool wheat futures decline below 58c, which was the low made in 1894, it would indicate a level of prices the lowest since 1654, or 336 years. In view of the immense progress made by the world since that time there are many who feel that the prevailing level of values is not warranted, and are inclined to blame experiments with the market, such as pool and farm board operations for existing conditions.

Short covering previous to a three day holiday was responsible for an upturn of around 1d in Liverpool early. The latter market reacted toward the last and closed unchanged to ¼d lower for the day. Winnipeg, however, was ⅝@1c higher for the day, and Buenos Aires finished ¼@⅝c higher. There was no foreign interest in Manitoba wheats, however, although houses with continental connections bought futures at Winnipeg.

Corn Sells at New Low.

Unfavorable reports from the east were largely responsible for steady liquidation by longs in the corn market with all deliveries selling at a new low for the season, the December touching 63⅞c and the finish was at the bottom with net losses of ¼@1c, the former of the nearby future which was 63⅞@64c at the last, while March was 66¾c; May, 68⅝@68¾c to 68⅞c, and July, 70⅜@70½c.

A government report showing only 1 per cent fewer fall pigs than last year for the country was regarded by some traders as favorable for a higher level of values, as there was a gain of 2 per cent in the main corn belt. This suggested heavy feed requirements, and with December corn 13c under December wheat it was anticipated that the former grain would be used in preference to wheat. Buenos Aires closed ⅝@⅝c higher with February at 31⅞c.

Argentine Oats 16¾c.

Private reports from Argentina indicate a strong probability that a liberal part of the new oats crop of 73,000,000 bu will not be threshed this year owing to the prevailing low prices. The February delivery at Buenos Aires closed yesterday at 16¾c per bu. As the latter price includes the cost of getting the grain to market the net return to the farmer is figured at practically nothing.

Oats futures in Chicago were firmer early with corn, but eased toward the last on scattered commission house selling and closed unchanged to ½c lower on December which was 31¼c, while May was 32⅞c.

Scattered liquidation developed in December rye toward the last and the market declined sharply with the close ½@1¾c lower. The nearby future was 42⅞c at the last or the same price as May, compared with 1c premium at the finish on Monday.

BUTTER AND EGGS

Butter prices crashed to within a fraction of previous low levels on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, eggs accompanying the decline by taking a sharp drop. Butter was influenced by conditions in the spot market, with prices ½@1¼c off and a poor demand. Closing trades were 1@1¼c lower. Prospects of warmer weather and an unfavorable daily storage report in eggs also offset a favorable weekly report, selling coming in heavily and support proving at a minimum. The finish was at the bottom with net losses of ⅛@1c. Sales: Butter, 105 cars: eggs, 150 cars. Receipts: Butter, 9,735 tubs; eggs, 4,175 cases. Prices follow:
